FARM BOARD BUYS GRAIN

Millions Used; Sky's Limit

Federal Body Has Acquired 100,000,000 Bushels and Will Keep Purchasing

McNary Calls Conference in Attempt to Balk Radical Schemes for Relief

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Disclosure was made here today that the Federal government, through the Farm Board, has purchased more than 100,000,000 bushels of wheat and is prepared to continue buying "without limit as to quantity and price" until the panicky trend in the grain market is halted.

Following this, administration forces on Capitol Hill took steps to halt the threatened drive for still more radical legislation to relieve agricultural distress at the approaching session of Congress. Senator McNary of Oregon, chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, after a conference with Chairman Legge of the Farm Board, called a conference of all leading spokesmen of agricultural interests to be held on the 24th inst.

PLEA TO BE MADE

Senator McNary plans to lay the situation frankly before them and to try to induce them to continue their support of the administration's agricultural program rather than to embark upon new experimental measures as proposed by some of the more radical members of the Senate and House. The Senator is convinced that Congress is ready to pour as many additional millions into the Farm Board's revolving fund as may be necessary to insure the success of its efforts and will so inform the conference.

The total authorization for the revolving fund is $500,000,000, of which $250,000,000 already has been appropriated. Senator Brookhart, spokesman of the radical farm-bloc members, has estimated that $1,500,000,000 will be required.

Those invited to the conference in addition to Chairman Legge and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde are L. J. Tabor, master of the National Grange; C. E. Huff of the Farmers' Union, and S. H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

ANXIETY FELT

Officials did not conceal their anxiety over the agricultural outlook due to the collapse of wheat prices in the world market as a consequence of large shipments from Russia, huge supplies in Canada, a large surplus in Australia and a crop exceeding expectations in the Argentine. Prices in Liverpool have fallen 18 cents a bushel during the last few weeks and are now virtually on a par with Chicago prices, although normally the Chicago quotations are 10 to 15 cents a bushel lower than those across the Atlantic. As a result, the American wheat export business has been paralyzed.

BASE SITE SOLUTION PROPOSED

Hoover Asked to Submit Dirigible Home Selection to War College,

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Ralph Arnold, California geologist and friend of President Hoover, urged the President today to place the question of locating a dirigible base in California before the War College for decision.

Arnold pointed out that Northern California had more Congressmen than Southern California and said that as a result had been able to bring more pressure to bear for locating the base in the northern section.

The geologist said the question should be taken out of politics and the War College permitted to give a scientific decision after surveying the situation.

Diphtheria Toxin Brings Death to Sixteen Infants

MEDELLIN (Colombia) Nov. 17. (AP)—Police guards were established at the Charity Hospital today as several hundred persons threatened to raid the institution as a result of the deaths of sixteen infants from diphtheria yesterday.

Parents have charged physicians inoculated their children with diphtheria toxin instead of antitoxin. It was feared thirty-three others of forty-nine children inoculated might die.

Smith said he was forced down because he ran out of oxygen. The flight was made at Union Airport here.

Appropriation for New Building in Los Angeles This Winter Forecast by Treasury Officials

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—The new Los Angeles Federal building "in all probability" will be included in the list of improvements for which Congress will appropriate this winter, it was said today by Treasury officials who are preparing to go before the House Appropriations Committee later this week to argue for the most meritorious projects on the government's ten-year public-construction program.

The proposed new structure at Los Angeles has been authorized in general legislation and it remains for Congress to make a direct appropriation actually providing funds. The prospect of an early start in construction of the building arises from the orders of President Hoover that public construction everywhere be speeded up to help relieve unemployment.

The question of a site remains to be settled and this may await final action by the United States Supreme Court on the suit by the city of Los Angeles and the California Railroad Commission to compel the railroads serving Los Angeles to construct and operate a new union terminal on the Plaza site. This decision is expected by January 1, 1931, which would allow ample time for Congress to include the appropriation for the Federal building in the regular Treasury Department appropriation bill.

Officials in the supervising architect's office at the Treasury believe all details can be attended to in time for construction work on the Los Angeles building to be put under way some time in the summer of 1931.

WAR SECRETARY ACTS TO PROVIDE MORE JOBS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Immediate release of all available appropriations to speed rivers and harbors, flood-control and army construction during the winter was announced today by Secretary Hurley.

The War Secretary ordered the appropriations made available through February, instead of spreading them over the fiscal year in order to provide added employment. The funds available are estimated at between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000.

The funds will be made available especially in points where unemployment is most severe.

TEXANS SHY AT DUTY ON LYNCH JURY

Judge Scores Attitude of Dallas Citizens on Fixing Sherman Riot Penalty

DALLAS, Nov. 17. (AP)—Sentiment against punishment of persons accused of burning the Courthouse at Sherman, Tex., in a riot which resulted in the death of George Hughes, Negro charged with attacking a white woman, balked prosecution of the fourteen defendants here today.

Man after man called for prospective jury service declared he would not vote to send the accused to the penitentiary.

Judge Pippen then transferred the cases to Austin, Tex., saying it is evident the State cannot obtain a fair trial in Dallas, to which the cases had been sent from Sherman.

The attitude of the prospective jurors was scored by Judge Pippen.

"If you won't enforce one law you can't criticise another man for not enforcing another law," he said.

SCIENCE SIGHTS TIME'S END

Universe on Way to Extinction, Says Briton Who Disagrees With Millikan Theory

BY THOMAS R. HENRY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (NANA)—The universe is on its way to extinction with no possibility of a reverse process, Sir James Jeans, secretary of the British Royal Society, says in the annual report of the Smithsonian Institution, just issued.

All the material substance in the stars, he says, by the latest interpretations of the laws of thermodynamics must eventually dissolve into radiation while conditions become more and more impossible for a return of radiation into matter.

He denies the contention, previously advanced by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, that the mysterious cosmic rays bombarding the earth from space result from the re-creation of matter. He insists that the wave length of the most penetrating of these rays is almost exactly what would be predicted from the complete annihilation of atoms.

The mass of the sun is declining, in the form of light, heat and other radiation, at the rate of 250,000,000 tons a minute, Jeans calculates, and this process has been going on for some 7,000,000,000,000 years so that it now is only a small fraction of its original size. The earth also is losing by radiation into space, the famous astronomer calculates, about an ounce a minute from the disintegration of its radioactive elements, such as uranium. This is more than compensated for, however, by falls of meteors and cosmic dust.

The cause of the enormous radiation proceeding from the sun and previous stars, Jeans says, cannot be determined by any similar event happening on earth because there are no comparable conditions of heat and pressure.

Although the ultimate end of all things is clear to the physical astronomer, he says, there is complete ignorance as to how the universe began.

RAIN SOAKS IN SLOWLY

Los Angeles Has .92 of Inch Fall

Entire Southland Receives Wetting With Exception of Imperial Valley

Watersheds of Owens River Whitened by Snowstorm; Roads Blocked in North

The third rain of the new rainy season left Los Angeles yesterday with .92 of an inch of water, making a 1.08-inch total for the season against a 1.39 normal and .32 to the corresponding date last season.

A wind that reached a sixteen-mile-an-hour peak about 1 p.m. agitated things above the normal 4.8-mile-an-hour November wind. Today, the Weather Bureau said, is to be fair and cool. The rain began Friday morning, skipped over until Saturday night and continued spotty until yesterday forenoon. It was general over Southern California with the exception of Imperial Valley where no rain fell.

LITTLE RUNOFF

Mount Wilson got 1.37 inches, the heaviest fall of the last twenty-four hours, before 6 a.m. In the same period Los Angeles got .8 of an inch. Riverside got the lightest, .13, in the same period, according to bureau figures. The rain in this county, according to the Flood-Control Department, came so gradually that there was but little or no runoff in larger channels. Not much damage was done to crops, tomatoes suffering only slightly from dampness inducing mildew, the Horticultural Department reported.

Los Angeles police received reports yesterday, the complaints department said, of "two or three electric wires being down" and of "three or four poles set afire by short-circuiting dampness." The fire department heard of one cellar that was invaded by rainwater. The city engineering department said it heard of no damage to public works.

SNOW REPORTED

From up in Owens River country where aqueduct water is got, came the report to the Water Bureau that at Bishop and southward the rain varied from .04 of an inch to a mere trace but that above Bishop snow fell in amounts varying with altitude.

Southern California Edison Company reported that in the watersheds in the high Sierras northeast of Fresno, where it develops hydroelectric power, some rain and some snow fell yesterday. At 3 p.m. it was snowing at Florence, Huntington and Shaver lakes with respectively, 6.5, .15 and 1 inches of snow already on the ground from the storm. Big Creek Power House No. 1 reported snow falling and 1.5 inches on the ground at noon. Rain in Kern, Tulare and Fresno counties was general during the day.

MORE SNOW AND RAIN EN ROUTE FOR STATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive) — Clear skies and cool weather came to most of Northern California today as one storm area passed eastward into Colorado, but another is on the way, the Weather Bureau reported tonight. The forecast is for fair and cold weather tomorrow, but by tomorrow night, Forecaster Reed said, there will be rain again west of the mountains and snow flurries at the higher levels. Frosts are predicted for all the valleys in California.

At most points the break in the storm came after snow or rain in the earlier hours, all official recording stations registering either rain or snow at some time during the day.

SNOW IN SIERRAS

Ten inches of fresh snow fell at Soda Springs in the Sierras, making thirty inches on the level there. Additional snow fell in the Yosemite territory, adding to the difficulties

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Heard our ace Eddie Rickenbacker over the radio last night. He was just decorated last week for bringing down half of Germany. We are the luckiest nation in the world to have heroes that can live long enough to have their deeds recognized. They give Eddie what was said to be a medal, but we don't know that, for his whiskers are so long now that they cover it up. We have every kind of week in the world, there's "Apple Week," "Grin Week," Don't Blame Your Congressman Week," "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early Week." Let's add one sensible one to 'em all—"Remember Our Heroes Week." You would be surprised how many we got that have been forgotten.

LEVINE HELD AS SPURIOUS NOTE MAKER

Atlantic Flight Backer Arrested in Europe as Counterfeiting Suspect

[Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.]

VIENNA, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Charles A. Levine, companion and backer of Clarence Chamberlin on their trans-Atlantic flight from America to Germany in 1927, was arrested last night at the summer resort of Semmering Spa, suspected of complicity with a Vienna engraver in the manufacture of plates for printing French 5-franc notes and coins. He was brought to Vienna and lodged in jail.

Questioning throughout the day today failed to produce a satisfactory explanation from Levine, the police announced.

Levine had been shadowed by the Vienna headquarters for several days. When Levine bought a ticket Saturday for Venice the police decided to arrest him.

Mabel Boll, "Queen of Diamonds," the woman flying fan who has been his associate in Paris off and on since his Atlantic flight, was with him when he was arrested. She declared the charge against him absurd.

Dr. Paul Koretz, his attorney, said Levine declares that all the charges are laughable, and said that tomorrow's investigations will bring his exoneration.

GALE PERILS NAVY SHIP

Medusa's Anchor Torn Loose

Huge Floating Machine Shop Blown Off Shore Until Tugs Come to Aid

Redondo Fishing Barge Drags Hook in Sixty-Mile Wind From North

Pounding seas, whipped to wild fury by a full northwest gale, tore the 15,000-ton Medusa, repair ship of the battle fleet, from her anchorage in Los Angeles Harbor last night, causing the craft with its crew of 500 men to drift at the mercy of the sixty-mile wind until rescued by three navy tugs.

The battle fleet itself, which had gone beyond San Clemente Island for antiaircraft firing practice, radioed Trona Field, the shore station of the sea fighters, that it had been compelled to abandon practice and was employing all its skill of seamanship in fighting the onslaught of the screaming winds and wild waters.

FISHERMAN ADRIFT

Earlier in the evening the fishing barge Gratia went adrift in Santa Monica Bay off Redondo and after dragging her anchor two miles finally seemed to find new anchorage just beyond the breaker line.

Three men and a women were aboard but a breeches buoy crew that had been sent to the scene from the Coast Guard base at San Diego decided to make no effort to bring those aboard ashore unless the anchor again tore loose or the gale abated. The breeches buoy crew of nine men considered the task of rescue in such wild weather too dangerous to undertake unless absolutely necessary.

Meanwhile red rockets observed off Los Coronados Island gave rise to fears that another vessel was in peril there.

VESSEL OVERDUE

Finally, the Huelva, fifty-five-foot fishing schooner, due in the harbor on the 1st inst., was reported last night as unaccounted for and fears were expressed the craft with those on board may have encountered serious trouble. The Huelva was in charge of John Nisich, her skipper, and carried a crew of six men.

Mrs. George Millis of 820 West Fifth street, San Pedro, wife of the owner of the Huelva, said the vessel had put out from Los Angeles Harbor on a fishing trip on October 27, intending to go to Santa Barbara Channel.

The gale yesterday was one of the wildest this part of the coast has encountered in many months. The nor'wester, blowing from forty to fifty miles before dusk, increased in velocity with the coming of night. By 7 p.m. it had attained the status of a full gale and was blowing close to 60 miles an hour.

DRAGS ANCHOR

It was at the height of the blow that the big, two-hooked anchor of the Medusa tore loose—an unusual accident with such a vessel. Having no steam up, the craft could make no steerage way and was completely at the mercy of the weather. Carried outside the harbor, the Medusa drifted over the anchorage of the battleships West Virginia and California which, fortunately from the standpoint of the danger of a collision, were with the other units of the battle fleet off San Clemente Island.

Three powerful navy tugs were sent to the assistance of the Medusa as quickly as possible but the big repair ship had drifted nearly three miles before lines from the tugs were made fast and she was taken in tow. Meanwhile she had gotten up steam and soon was in a position to maneuver without assistance.

TO THE RESCUE

The Coast Guard, meanwhile, had dispatched the Alert and cutter No. 259 to investigate the rockets sent up from the vicinity of Los Coronados Island. The island is about fifty miles off Point Loma.

The Alert and the No. 259 were instructed also to watch for the Huelva, which may have taken refuge at some point along the coast or been rendered helpless by the storm.

IRRIGATIONIST DIES

AUSTIN, Nov. 17. (AP) — Joseph A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, 69 years of age, one of Texas' foremost builders and pioneer in development of irrigation in the State, died here last night.

FOG HIDES STRANDED SHIP

Thirty-five on Grounded Freighter Await Rescue; Eastern Coast Traffic at Standstill

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Stranded on the grounded freighter Harry Bowen in a thick fog, thirty-five members of the crew have prepared tonight to spend several more hours on the vessel, perched on a rocky reef off Montauk Point.

Although the fog made it impossible for Coast Guardsmen on the shore to see the Harry Bowen, the men on board signaled they intended to man the pumps all night and trust in the prospect for a quiet sea. There is little sea running tonight and Coast Guardsmen believe the injuries to the freighter are so slight that she probably will weather the night.

Meanwhile two Coast Guard cutters and a destroyer prepared to tow the freighter off the reef when high water came at 11 p.m.

The crew of twenty-two on the fishing trawler Petrel were taken from the vessel, aground off Cat Rock Cove, Block Island, just before noon by Coast Guardsmen in surf boats.

Both vessels had run aground in the fog that has enveloped the Atlantic seaboard from the Canadian border to Florida and as far inland as Pittsburgh, and which has tangled shipping along the coast and land and air traffic for the past three days. No relief for the next twenty-five hours is forecast by the Weather Bureau.

Mail and passenger airplane service from airports on Long Island and in New Jersey is at a virtual standstill.

Creeping cautiously through the fog-bound harbor, only one large liner, the Minnewaska, ventured to her berth. Several large ships, including the liners Conte Grande and Dresden, canceled their docking permits tonight after waiting all day at the entrance to the harbor.

DAM-SITE STUDY GIVEN APPROVAL

Border Water Commission Makes Authorization

San Diego Will Explore Marron Project

International Board Ends Inspection Today

BY JACKSON S. BERGER
"Times" Staff Representative

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive) Mexican authorities today gave oral permission to San Diego engineering officials to proceed with exhaustive surveys on the Marron and other dam sites on the upper reaches of the Tia Juana River with a view to international water supply development. The permission was granted during a tour of inspection of the Mexican-American water situation in this area by the International Water Commission.

The grant of the right to San Diego through City Engineer Savage is considered among the commissioners of the Mexican and American sections as the first step toward solution of the international water problem in this vicinity.

As soon as the permission is recorded so that it may be placed before the San Diego City Council for official reception and appropriation of funds for the work, the survey is expected to start with deep borings on the sites and other examinations to determine the feasibility of erection of a dam.

While the Mexican tender of the survey right was the most important occurrence of the day, the members of the International Water Commission made a tour of inspection over the Marron and a lower dam site and visited the location where the Rodrigues Dam is under construction.

The Marron site is approximately twenty miles east of Tia Juana and lies directly on the border—a portion of the dam in Mexico and the remainder in the United States. It is located high in the mountains and is considered a most feasible site. Another location lies a few miles south of the Marron site, entirely in Mexico. Both sites are considered by the engineers as possible for a compound of water for supply and power to San Diego, Tia Juana and Auga Caliente and for irrigation on tillable Mexican lands.

During the tour of inspection the International Water Commission was supplied with notes and data by Mexican and American engineers for use in an exhaustive report of water matters along the entire Mexican border westward from El Paso.

PLANS TO BE MAPPED

Tomorrow before the allied commissions disband to return to El Paso and Mexico City, a short meeting is to be conducted at which tentative plans to meet the various problems will be mapped to be included in the two national reports. Principally in the report will be information concerning the flood control of the lower Colorado River from the Boulder Dam site to the Gulf of California—an undertaking which is expected to cost in surveys $50,000 or $60,000 in the United States, and from $75,000 to $80,000 in Mexico.

L. M. Lawson, head of the American section, and Fortunato Dozal, chief of the Mexican group on the commission, have been extremely expressive on the harmony and good relations that have existed among members of the allied commission during the inspection tour. It is notable—as has been pointed out at various times along the border—that this is the first time Federal commissions of the two governments have come together actually on the ground where the water problems exist and mutually have earnestly and harmoniously tried to ascertain facts that will lead to solution of the several problems.

"We have sincerely endeavored to obtain all facts that will assist each of our governments in solving its border water problems," Lawson said, "and we hope that our labors will reach that objective."

THAT 74-TO-0 WRECKS HOME

When Husband Got Returns of U.S.C.-U.C. Game He Left in Disgust

OAKLAND, Nov. 17. (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Matthews appeared in court today and told the judge her husband, Claude Matthews, was so disgusted at the 74-to-0 defeat of the University of California by the University of Southern California, the 8th inst., he left their home soon after the radio broadcast was completed and never returned.

She charged Matthews with failure to provide. Superior Judge Tyrrel, before whom Matthews had been taken, ordered the husband and father of five children to return to his home, find a job, and support his children, instructing him to "forget football for a while."

HIGHWAYS GROUP CHIEF LAUDS MOVE BY HOOVER

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17. (AP)—President Hoover's action in releasing $50,000,000 of Federal funds for highway improvements was lauded today by Samuel Eckels of Harrisburg, Pa., president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, as the most beneficial step of the entire unemployment-relief program.

"Of all the funds which are thrown into this stupendous relief program," Eckels told the annual meeting of the national association, "the dollars which go for highway construction mean more to the prosperity of the country than all the rest combined. Every dollar spent for highway construction yields a three-fold return to the nation's commerce for these dollars are literally 'paving the way for business.'"

DO-X START FOR LISBON POSTPONED

Take-off From Bordeaux Scheduled for Tomorrow Under Altered Plans

BORDEAUX (France) Nov. 17. (AP) Departure of the German seaplane DO-X for Lisbon, originally set for 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, was postponed today until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

No explanation for the delay was given by Dr. Claude Dornier, in charge of the flight, or Capt. Friedrich Christiansen, commander of the huge plane, but tonight mechanics were tinkering with the motors by the aid of flashlights, working especially on the three starboard engines.

The officials of the expedition continue to insist the motors are in good condition and so far given no confirmation of reports the proposed trip from Lisbon to New York is off. Their stand regarding the motors was somewhat confirmed today, for the DO-X behaved well in a trial flight over Bordeaux this morning and for the first time in its flying career attained a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Observers remain of the opinion, meanwhile, that the trans-Atlantic jump will not be attempted now because of the lateness of the season and the shortened days.

WHEAT BOUGHT BY FARM BOARD

Government Agency Seeks to Bolster Up Prices

Purchases Already Rise to 100,000,000 Bushels

Unlimited Funds Will Go in Hopper to Gain End

There is no demand for it abroad when wheat can be bought in Liverpool at virtually the Chicago price without the cost of transportation. At Winnipeg, the chief Canadian market the price dropped Saturday to 58 cents a bushel.

Because of this widespread demoralization in the grain market, officials here were frankly more concerned about the agricultural situation than at any time since it became a national political problem. It was for this reason that the Farm Board, reversing its previous announcement that it would stay out of the wheat market in the future, stands ready now to pour out its millions without stint or limit until order and stability are restored.

CONTINUED DROP

Months ago when the Farm Board attempted to peg wheat prices around $1.16 a bushel, the statement was made that it had purchased around 60,000,000 bushels. Then came the announcement that the government had retired from the market. Prices continued their downward course. During the last few weeks they have hovered around 72 cents a bushel on the Chicago market, or about 50 cents a bushel less than when the Farm Board began operations.

A price of 72 cents a bushel on the Chicago exchange means considerably less than that to the farmer. On top of this came the sharp decline in Liverpool and Winnipeg prices last week and the disastrous prospect of 60-cent wheat began to loom. Thereupon the Farm Board directed its stabilization corporation to go into the market Saturday and renew buying. A wild market resulted and tremendous buying went on but when it was over for the day the price of wheat had gone up only a fraction of a cent. The same results were experienced today. December wheat closed only 1-4 cent higher in the Chicago market than the Saturday close. Farm Board officials kept in constant touch with the market. They were disappointed that they were unable to force prices higher but they consoled themselves with the thought that they had prevented them from going lower.

"CORNERING" HINTED

Belief prevails in some quarters that the government has embarked on a deliberate effort to corner the available supply of wheat and thus dictate the price. It is pointed out that 100,000,000 bushels—the amount now held by the government—constitutes approximately half of the officially reported visible supply. Farm Board officials, however, denied that they are aiming to corner the supply.

"How close are you to a corner?" G. S. Milner, president of the stabilization corporation, was asked.

"We are not even close and you can say that there will be no cornering the market as far as we are concerned," he replied.

CHICAGO WHEAT HIGHEST IN WORLD

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Wheat became more valuable in Chicago today than in any other market of the world, as a result of prices jacked up and artificially maintained by open purchasing on the part of the Federally financed grain stabilization corporation. As a result, the Chicago Board of Trade was described by its members as having been stripped of its world market influence, and placed on a strictly domestic status for so long a time as governmental agencies keep up the new policy announced by the Farm Board in Washington.

Prices of grains moved slightly upward in all markets of the United States, while in Liverpool, December wheat dropped under the 73 cents a bushel maintained in Chicago for the first time in many years. Argentine wheat also lowered in value during the day. A differential of 15 cents existing last week between Winnipeg and Chicago December quotations was narrowed to a point where Canadian wheat sold at 11 cents under the same grade in Chicago.

Milling interests are said to be concerned about the turn of affairs on the Farm Board's part. Several representatives agreed that this will end any chance of doing export business with American flour.

LEVAND BROTHERS DEMAND LEGGE QUIT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—The resignation of Chairman Legge of the Farm Board was demanded today by Max and Louis Levand, publishers of the Wichita (Kan.) Beacon.

In a telegram to Legge they said he had affronted Kansans by declining to confer this week with representatives of co-operative associations of that State and by failing to consider a proposal by Gov. Reed the board purchase 25,000,000 bushels of wheat to stabilize the market.

Legge declined to meet the Kansas co-operative this week, but suggested the conference be held later.

LEGGE STRIKES BACK AT BOARD CRITICS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, told the American Acceptance Council tonight his organization is only doing what Congress created it to do.

Asserting only through organization can the American farmers find prosperity, Mr. Legge struck sharply at critics who say the Farm Board is putting "the government in business," and aimed a blow at those who object because government money is lent to aid "the agricultural producer carrying through the marketing of the product of his own toil."

"A peculiar feature of this hue and cry," he said, "is those who holler the loudest are far from being heavy taxpayers, and in justice to the heavy taxpayers of the nation it must be said that they have offered little objection to efforts being made to improve the agricultural situation."

Mr. Legge pointed to the organization of the California citrus fruit growers as an example of agriculturists who have formed co-operatives successfully.

"These people know just how many oranges or lemons the city of New York is in the habit of consuming on any day and any month of the year, and the flow of the commodity to market is regulated to see that the demand is properly cared for," he said.

PLANES AND AUTOS BLOCKED IN ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Nov. 17. (AP)—Automobile and airplane travel through Central and Northern Arizona was hampered today by rain and snowstorms of increasing intensity.

The westbound air-mail plane from Phoenix to Los Angeles was grounded overnight in the Arizona Capital City on account of heavy storms reported along the Colorado River.

Air mail across the northern part of the State was at a standstill, the eastbound planes remaining in Los Angeles and the westbound Sunday ship still waiting in Winslow.

Roads throughout the central and northern sections were reported muddy but passable.

Snow in Flagstaff turned into rain tonight. Rain continued in Prescott. Heavy clouds over Jerome during the day necessitated burning of street lights. Rain began to fall in the mining camp tonight.

A three-day snowfall in Williams turned into rain soon after nightfall. It rained at intervals in Phoenix throughout the day. Several automobiles were reported stalled in snowdrifts near Springerville.

Ten inches of snow was reported in Gordon Canyon near Globe, eighteen inches in the Pinal Mountains, and twelve inches in the Sierra Anchas.

Senator Porter H. Dale agreed, but it was finally decided to give the missing witnesses another opportunity to make an appearance.

RIOTING RAGES IN BARCELONA

Police Use Guns on Mobs of Violent Strikers

Shouts of Revolution Arise as Battles Occur

At Least 200 Wounded and One Man Killed

BARCELONA (Spain) Nov. 17. (AP) Serious disorder flared tonight in connection with the general strike, with half a dozen striker-police clashes occurring, one man being killed, and probably 200 wounded. Cavalry troops of the regular army were ordered into action and heavy guards of soldiers patrolled the entire city.

The mob set fire to certain places which had not closed in compliance with the strike order. The disorder also took on a revolutionary tinge, for countless speakers mounted improvised rostrums and shouted for a republic. Others voiced fiery demands for Communistic regime and still others called for the separation of Catalonia from Spain—an old question.

The one known death resulted when a thousand demonstrators began breaking street lights in the Ronda San Antonio early tonight and then engaged in a pitched battle with police and troops. More than 100 shots were exchanged.

SALOON BURNED

Near the Plaza Catalina strikers broke open and burned a saloon which had not closed under the strike edict. Police attempted to prevent the disorder, firing many shots and wounding some of the manifestants.

A little later a great mob swarmed into the same plaza, which is the brightly lighted heart of the city, and piled up park and cafe furniture, setting a huge bonfire and screaming. The police charged, firing shots, but the mob fired in return and also stoned the constabulary.

At another plaza in the downtown section crowds tore up paving blocks and seized boulevard benches, cafe tables and other available articles to construct barricades. From behind these they answered the onslaughts of police and held firmly.

ANOTHER BATTLE

Another battle between police and strikers occurred in the Calle del Conde de Asalto. Two policemen, Luiz Fernandez Garcia and Juan Fernandez Morena, were gravely wounded.

Gov. Despujols ordered strike headquarters closed, while Mayor Conde de Guell fixed up a bedroom in the City Hall and announced that he will stay in his office until the trouble is ended.

Reports spread tonight that the Governor may resign and be succeeded by Marques Caballero, at present a high judge.

Some street crowds shouted, "Long live Communism!" and "Long live the soviets!" while numerous cries of "Down with Fascism!" were heard.

Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan, on a tour of Europe, were forced to leave for Paris this afternoon because they could not obtain transportation here on account of the strike.

A fire truck carried their baggage to the station, and the Prince and Princess themselves had great difficulty in getting a conveyance.

SITUATION CONSIDERED BY SPANISH CABINET

MADRID, Nov. 17. (AP)—Premier Damaso Berenguer and the Cabinet met in special session today to consider the Spanish strike question and announced the labor troubles would be discussed at the regular meeting tomorrow.

The Premier said he believed today's disorders at Barcelona had been exaggerated by some newspapers and he minimized the importance of strikes at Granada, Bilbao, Valencia and other places.

Midget of Sky Now Being Given Its Final Tests by British Manufacturer

LONDON, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—The "baby" air car has arrived. A midget edition of a popular light plane for use by private owners and seating two, is now undergoing final tests at the Croydon Airdrome.

Known as the "Red Wing" it is being constructed by the Armstrong-Siddeley concern in order to reduce the cost of private flying.

It is asserted that it will make a speed of 100 miles an hour. It is driven by an air-cooled motor and is able to come down slowly, enabling a safe landing on a small field. Running cost of gasoline and oil for the new air baby is estimated as low as 1 cent per mile.

PALESTINE RULE GIVEN CRITICISM

Regarded as Revocation of Mandate

Government Reply Outlines New Proposals

LONDON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Administration of the British mandate in Palestine was vigorously attacked in the House of Commons today by David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, and as vigorously defended by the Laborite government.

At the conclusion of the debate between the former Premier and Drummond Shields, Undersecretary of State for the Colonies, Prime Minister MacDonald reaffirmed the government's intention to carry out the mandate terms in full.

Lloyd George, in an attack on the government's recent white paper on its policy in Palestine, declared he could understand it only on the supposition that it was written by anti-Semitic officials.

CHARGES REVOCATION

He contended the Jews were made responsible for Palestine's unemployment troubles and even were held to blame when they were murdered. He asserted the white paper has been generally regarded as a practical revocation of the mandate.

Quoting the text of the Balfour declaration, he said the idea was not only to give an opportunity to the Jews for colonization and settlement, but the dominant idea was the establishment of a Jewish national home in Palestine.

Mr. Shields, replying for the government, insisted the mandate would be carried out and disclosed a new government development scheme by which it is proposed to settle approximately 10,000 families on the land at an expenditure of $12,500,000. The scheme would be supported by the government, assisted by a loan. He contended there is an Arab as well as a Jewish viewpoint and that the former had not been reflected in Parliament as much as the Jewish.

GOVERNMENT PLAN

Going into details of the government's new land project, he said the government intends in the first place to provide for the landless Arabs who, he said, have been dispossessed as a result of the land's passing to the Jews. He denied the white paper meant to say that as long as Arabs were unemployed Jews should not be admitted.

Premier MacDonald declared he stood by every word Shields had uttered.

Railway Union Named in Suit Over Finances

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17. (AP)—A $1,500,000 suit against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood Holding Company, and officers of the two organizations, asking judgment and an accounting as a result of some of the financial operations of the organizations, was filed in Federal court by stockholders of the company today.

It is asserted by Annette Myers and Peter C. Myers of Willmar, Minn., plaintiffs, that the company, during the operation of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' National Bank here, took over a large number of double loans. The paper was paid for by money realized on stock sales, it is asserted.

It is charged the action was "in violation of the trust reposed in the management of the holding company."

New European War Forecast by Morgenthau

BATTLE CREEK (Mich.) Nov. 17. (AP)—Henry Morgenthau, former Ambassador to Turkey, said today he believes another European war is imminent.

If it happens, he said, the United States will be forced to take a hand, just as surely as it did in the World War.

War, he asserted, can be averted only by the United States. He suggested the United States propose a postponement of payments of war debts by the various European countries to the United States, with the stipulation any country which is the aggressor in a war shall sacrifice this right of deferment.

Mr. Morgenthau is a patient in a sanatorium here.

Motor Travel Shows Increase to California

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Despite talk of hard times, motorists of the Middle West continue to roll merrily on toward warmer climes.

Compared with a similar period last year motor travel to California and Florida thus far this fall has been greater than in 1929, the Chicago Motor Club pointed out today. The increase to Florida has been about 34 per cent and to California approximately 23 per cent, the statement said.

Better roads and a "growing tendency on the part of car owners to schedule their vacations in the fall or winter, instead of the summer" are seen by the club as reasons for the increases.

Second Air Line to West Slated

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP) — The final link in a second transcontinental air-passenger line will be opened Monday, December 1, when National Air Transport, Inc., begins carrying passengers over its New York-Cleveland route.

The line will connect at Chicago with Boeing Air Transport, which operates a passenger and mail service from there to San Francisco. The elapsed time from New York to San Francisco, including an overnight stop in Chicago, will be around forty-five hours.

The line will parallel, several hundred miles to the north, the route of T.A.T.-Western Air, which operates a passenger and mail service between New York and Los Angeles. The flying time over this route, inaugurated last month, is thirty-six hours.

RUM SMUGGLING SHIP CAPTURED BY FINNS

HELSINGFORS (Finland) Nov. 17. (AP)—After a fierce fight in which firearms were used, Finnish police today captured a large liquor smuggling ship and about 5000 gallons of spirits. Seven of the asserted smugglers were arrested. The Standart, formerly a German submarine destroyer, was the vessel captured. She was flying the Persian flag and had Persian papers but her owner is asserted to be a German. The men arrested are Estonians, Germans and Swedes.

SMALL STATES DISCUSS NAVIES

London Pact Made Basis of League Debate

Spain, Poland Favor Total Tonnage Limitation

Italy Restates Stand for Power Equality

GENEVA, Nov. 17. (AP)—Principles embodied in the Washington and London naval treaties were taken by the disarmament commission today as a basis in its efforts to draft a general agreement on a method of limiting and reducing the fleets of all nations.

Representatives of small naval states were given an opportunity to explain their views regarding a general application of the methods already accepted by the great powers signatory to the London and Washington agreements.

ITALY WANTS EQUALITY

In general, the smaller sea powers—for example, Spain, Rumania and Poland—announced in favor of total-tonnage limitation, or declared if limitation by categories was decided upon a greater freedom of transfer must be granted them.

Gen. De Marinis, Italian delegate, restated Italy's position regarding a naval agreement.

He said Italy's demand for equality with any continental power was still her primary concern, and until this question of ratios was settled she was not in a position to express a preference between the total and category methods of limitation. He said, however, Italy is of the opinion the total method is the fairer.

A move by Maxim Litvinoff, Russian delegate, to commit the commission to a reduction of fleets by percentages, which would be fixed individually for all States at the general conference, was rejected.

SOVIET PLAN UNSUPPORTED

Hugh S. Gibson, American delegate, pointed out the soviet proposal for "proportional" reduction had been definitely turned down in 1929, but Litvinoff contended the percentage system was an entirely new scheme. However, no support was given the soviet plan.

Lord Cecil proposed an amendment providing budgetary limitation for naval armaments.

The second effort of the League to alleviate the world's economic troubles by international co-operation began today with convening of a conference looking to concerted international economic action.

PLEDGE ON TARIFF

When this conference met last March it was composed almost exclusively for representatives of European states and was called the "tariff truce" conference. Failing of its initial purpose at that time the conference succeeded in drafting a commercial convention embodying their efforts at economic co-operation in a very limited way.

The convention bound signatories not to raise the present tariffs nor to impose new ones without notifying other parties affected by the proposed change and giving them an opportunity to protest, both Germany and Poland since signing the convention have raised certain tariffs.

The present session will attempt to improve, extend and perpetuate principles of this convention. Another major point of the agenda of the session is consideration of the desire of the European agricultural states, as expressed at a Warsaw conference last summer, for preferential rates for entry of their products into other European states.

Application of the most favored nation clause and effects of soviet dumping of grains are expected to receive some attention.

DRYS PREPARING PARTY PLEDGES

Houston W.C.T.U. Meeting Drafts Resolutions

Seek Firm Declarations on Enforcement

Woodcock Urges Educating Private Violators

HOUSTON, Nov. 17. (AP) — Two groups of delegates to the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention here set about today preparing resolutions which probably will call upon the Democrats and Republicans to see that their respective political parties take firm positions on prohibition, it was learned authoritatively.

Mrs. Mamie White Colvin of New York had held up the possibility of a third party in 1931.

The delegates who are Republicans held informal conferences to draft their demands, which will be placed before the convention, as did the Democrats.

One of today's outstanding events was a letter from Federal Prohibition Director Woodcock to the body, in which Mr. Woodcock said he had "no great hope" for the direct success of Federal prohibition forces against private or noncommercial violations of the prohibition laws.

"The private violator," the director's letter added, "is the particular field for education and all other influences which tend to mold public opinion toward an obedience of the law. It is your opportunity to energize these forces for obedience. It is obvious also that by using your influence to stop private violations you remove the motive and basic cause for commercial violations."

"My thinking on this great problem always brings me back, therefore, to this one proposal—the courts for commercial violators; education for noncommercial violators."

The convention turned this afternoon to consideration of its organization as it affects the Negro. Violet Hill Whyte, field worker among Negroes in Maryland, told of what she described as the "gowing sentiment for prohibition among my people."

Meanwhile there had been no evidence any fight will be made on the present national officers when they come up tomorrow for re-election.

Mrs. Ella Boole, the president, today sent a telegram to President Hoover thanking him for his telegraphed greeting to the convention and pledging support of the W.C.T.U. in his program for child welfare, law enforcement and unemployment relief.

Mrs. Boole also sent a telegram to George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Law Enforcement Commission, felicitating the commission for refusing to consider 4 per cent beer the solution of the liquor problem.

At the close of the day's official program, the delegates went into executive session, the Democrats sitting on one side of the hall and the Republicans on the other. They were known to have discussed the resolutions to be directed to the parties.

Mrs. Minnie A. Welch of Tennessee, one of the heads of the Democratic group, said a third party "positively" was not discussed.

Mrs. Boole told the convention today her organization has "run to earth" and "branded as completely false" rumors "the brewers of the country are getting their plans ready to resume brewing of intoxicating beer" in anticipation of modification of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"One specific statement printed widely was that the Pabst Brewery of Milwaukee was spending $1,000,000 in anticipation of early legislation of intoxicating beer," she said. "Fred Pabst of the famous beer family, when asked as to the accuracy of the statement, replied that he had no intention of spending any such sum for any such purpose, but that free advertising was so good that he did not deny the story."

PABST SAYS HE HAS SPENT MONEY AS REPORTED

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 17. (AP)—Fred Pabst, Sr., head of the Pabst Brewery Corporation, reaffirmed today previous statements his concern had spent $800,000 for new brewery equipment because he believed the manufacture of beer again will be legally possible.

Shown the statement of Mrs. Ella E. Boole, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Pabst said she was "in error."

"At no time, at no place and to nobody did I make a statement such as Mrs. Boole says I did," he said. "Nor did I say anything that would justify Mrs. Boole's statement."

"I don't know Mrs. Boole. Neither she nor any other member of the W.C.T.U. ever came to see me."

Pabst said that of the $800,000 spent for equipment only the $125,000 for filters would have been spent if it were not his belief in the return of beer. "And even for the filter expenditure I considered the probability of beer returning before I approved it," Pabst said.

Havana Quiet After Outbreak of Communists

HAVANA, Nov. 17. (AP)—Havana had quieted sufficiently today under the martial law decreed last Thursday that the troops doing police duty were ordered withdrawn by the government.

Meanwhile, the government continued its drive against Communism, sentencing many persons to short terms in prison and threatening that some Reds likely will be deported.

One hundred and fifty persons who had been arrested in riots in the last four days, were taken to court this morning and sentenced to jail terms of a month each.

Man Held After Shot Kills Girl

EUREKA, Nov. 17. (AP)—Irene Frase, 21 years of age, Eureka beauty-parlor operator, was found shot to death under mysterious circumstances in a hotel at Wildwood today.

A note supposed to have been written by the girl, said she was "tired of living." George Allison who said he found the girl's body in the hotel, was held in the County Jail.

BORIS AND BRIDE WILL VISIT KEMEL PASHA

ANGORA (Turkey) Nov. 17. (AP)—King Boris and Queen Joanna of Bulgaria are to visit President Kemal Pasha here late next month or early in January, it was announced. They plan to spend several days at Istanbul and then to come to Angora for a week as guests of the Ghazi. Considerable importance is attached to the royal visit, for Kink Boris and the Turkish President are known to have been working for the establishment of Turko-Bulgarian friendship.

WOMEN OF HIGH DEGREE RAKE IN MORE MAZUMA

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Women's earnings in America are graduated according to the number of diplomas and college degrees they hold, according to a report made public today by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

"Earnings of women Ph. D.'s exceed by more than $1400 the A.B.A. or A.B.S. degree," said the report. "Bachelors of art or of science earn $1759 annually, while Ph. D.'s and doctors of science have median earnings of $3167 annually.

"From this figure down to the earnings of normal school graduates there is a pronounced drop. They earn $1506 annually, and high-school graduates earn $1463. Grade school graduates have a trifle the better of the latter group, their annual earnings amounting to $1480."

OLD FACES TO RULE IN NEW HOUSE

More Than 86 Per Cent of Present Representatives to Be in Next Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Despite the great turnover in House seats in the recent elections and primaries, William Tyler Page, House clerk, announced today that 86.67 per cent of the present membership will serve in the next Congress.

In an analysis of changes in personnel of the present House and that of the Seventy-second Congress, Mr. Page said forty-four were defeated at the general election, fourteen in the primaries, while voluntary retirements total twenty. He added, fourteen were elected to fill existing vacancies, some of whom will retire March 4, next.

The new members of the Seventy-second Congress on that basis will number ninety-two.

"Percentage of total defeated at general election and primaries (fifty-eight) in its relation to the whole number of Representatives (435,)" he said, "is 13.33 per cent."

FRANCE REPLACES CABINET MEMBER

PARIS, Nov. 17. (AP)—Raoul Peret, Minister of Justice in the Tardieu Cabinet, who has been under severe criticism in the Chamber of Deputies, resigned today. Senator Henri Cheron, Minister of Finance in the Poincare Cabinet, accepted the post.

DRYS FIND BALM IN VOTE RESULT

Eighteenth Amendment Safe, Leaders Figure

Congress Gains in Aridity, Say Prohibitionists

Victory Not Won by Wets; It's Just Reaction

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Two of the outstanding leaders of the prohibition cause—F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and Deets Pickett, secretary of the Methodist board of temperance—analyzed the recent election today in a manner to show that the drys have not lost any advantage and are in as strong position as ever; that, in fact, they are better intrenched in Congress than they were when the prohibition amendment was submitted to the States.

McBride pointed out that, given credit for all known foes of the Eighteenth Amendment and all doubtfuls, the wets will still fall short of having even one-third of the membership of the House, whereas two-thirds are necessary for repeal of prohibition.

Pickett similarly called attention to the fact that the dry strength in the new House will be in excess of 300 votes, out of 435 members, and will measure well over 70 votes in the Senate out of a total of 96 votes in that chamber. He said the dry loss in the House will not exceed twenty-five seats. He and McBride agreed that whatever loss prohibition has suffered is not due to the liquor issue alone, but is more attributable to general political conditions and the natural Democratic sweep.

BANKS CLOSED AS PRECAUTION

Arkansas Has Thirty-nine Suspensions in Day

Doors of Seven in Kentucky Shut in Safety Move

Officials of Affected Areas Take Optimistic View

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Nov. 17. (AP)—Approximately thirty-nine banks in Arkansas today suspended payments to depositors for five days, and two other small banks were closed for liquidation. Several banks in Kentucky closed as a precautionary measure, while during the last two weeks four Tennessee banks have closed. Five Illinois banks have closed since Saturday. Four small banks in Missouri closed Monday.

An optimistic view of the Tennessee situation is taken by D. D. Robertson, Tennessee Superintendent of Banks, who says "our banking troubles are over." Directors of the American Exchange Trust Company of Little Rock, largest of the suspended Arkansas banks, say in their opinion the bank is solvent and with the co-operation of depositors a plan can be found to resume operations.

Most of the suspended Arkansas banks were affiliated with A. B. Banks & Co., which was associated with the American Exchange Trust Company. With the exception of three all are comparatively small.

HYSTERIA BLAMED

Directors of the American Exchange Trust Company attribute the closing to public hysteria resulting from the placing of Caldwell & Co., Nashville (Tenn.) investment bankers, in receivership on the 7th inst.

Directors said the affairs of Caldwell & Co. are removed from Arkansas and nothing but an excited public mind could have forced the closing of this strong institution.

The banks acted under the Arkansas State law which permits them at the end of five days to reopen or turn over their affairs to the State Banking Department.

OTHER CLOSINGS

Closing of the National Bank of Kentucky at Louisville, which had announced resources of $54,000,000, was followed by the closing of four smaller Louisville banks, the McElwain McQuire Bank and Trust Company of Franklin, Ky., and the Bank of St. Helens, a Louisville suburb.

Presidents of other Louisville banks issued statements asserting their institutions are solvent in every respect and will not be affected. The four banking houses which have closed in Tennessee during the last two weeks are the Bank of Tennessee, a subsidiary of Caldwell & Co.; the Holston Union National Bank at Knoxville, the Liberty Bank and Trust Company at Nashville and the Campbell County Bank and Trust Company at Jacksboro.

The Illinois banks which closed Monday are the Bartlett and Wallace State Bank of Clayton and the Timewell State Bank of Timewell. They are co-operating institutions of the State Savings, Loan and Trust Company which closed Saturday. Two other banks which State Auditor Nelson said closed in connection with the failure of the State Savings, Loan and Trust Company of Quincy are the Southside Bank of Quincy and the Payson State Bank of Payson.

TWO INSTITUTIONS IN IOWA SHUT DOWN

DES MOINES, Nov. 17. (AP)—The Bank of Scranton, Iowa, a private institution, and the George Savings Bank of George were closed today by their directors because of decreased deposits and frozen assets. The Scranton bank was capitalized at $5000 and the George Bank at $30,000.

POSTOFFICE TO BE CLOSED

HINDU BORROWS LINCOLN WORDS

Titled Delegate Quotes From Famous Speech

Address of Bikaneer Nabob Notably Eloquent

London Conference on India Gets Under Way

LONDON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Abraham Lincoln was quoted at the opening business session of the Indian round-table conference today in support of the appeal of the Indian princes for a federated India.

The Maharajah of Bikaneer, veteran soldier and ruler of his native state for thirty-two years, concluded an appeal for a unified, peaceful motherland of India with the remark:

"I would commend to you on the threshold of our great enterprise, which is the conquest of anarchy and reaction in Hindustan and the assurance of her contentment and prosperity as a coequal partner in our great commonwealth, the words of Abraham Lincoln in circumstances not altogether remote from these: 'With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in.'"

ADDRESS NOTABLE

The Maharajah's address was the outstanding development of the first session of the conference in St. James' Palace as it disclosed what is generally interpreted as a marked change in policy by native Indian rulers. Heretofore on the question of India's constitutional future they have adhered to a stand for strong sovereign "unity" government instead of a Federal government to which the Indian states and provinces would delegate powers.

Today's session was the first of three days to be devoted to a debate on general lines as to the future Indian government. Prime Minister MacDonald's role today was limited to calling the conference to order, reading a short message from the King and welcoming the delegates.

PLEA FOR UNITY

"There are two things we must keep in mind," he said, in opening the conference. "Firstly, we are here to co-operate together. Secondly, every one of us must be animated by a determination to succeed."

Other speakers today were Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. A. Jayakar, Liberal leaders who conducted recent negotiations with Mahatma Gandhi. All three Indian speakers were unanimous in stressing that India demands a dominion status or coequal partnership in the British commonwealth.

MUSKRAT'S SHOT HITS TRAPPER

Animal Discharges Gun, and Lead Inflicts Wound on New Yorker

JAMESTOWN (N. Y.) Nov. 17. (AP)—If a man shoots a muskrat, that isn't even a hunting item, but if a muskrat shoots a man—.

Tearle H. George, Jamestown fireman, caught a muskrat in a trap yesterday, then realizing the muskrat was out of season, determined to free the captive. But the muskrat refused to budge. Shoving the but of his shotgun into the trap George prodded the animal. Then the muskrat went into action. As it scrambled over the gun, one of its feet touched the trigger. The gun discharged.

George is in a hospital, a wound in his abdomen.

Leaders Confer With Hoover on New Establishment

Absence of Fess Results in Rumors of Retirement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Republican party leaders at conferences with President Hoover today determined to set up a permanent organization at the capital to prepare for the campaigns two years hence.

The conferences included most of the officers of the Republican National Committee except Senator Fess of Ohio, the chairman, and his absence led to new speculation of his intention to retire.

LUCAS TO COMMAND

Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky, the chairman of the executive committee will command the permanent headquarters and will have with him George De B. Keim, secretary of the national committee, and James L. West, director of publicity.

The business of today's two conferences at the White House was reported by the participants as relating principally to the financial affairs of the national committee.

Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the national committee which supplied funds for the Congressional and Senatorial campaigns, reported a balance of approximately $7000 without any outstanding debts or notes.

OTHERS ATTEND

Others who attended the White House conferences included James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh, counsel for the committee; Jeremiah Milbank, eastern treasurer; Lucas and Keim.

The establishment of a permanent headquarters for the Republicans has been urged upon President Hoover by party leaders who have pointed to the Democratic organization here under Jouett Shouse and Charles Michaelson.

MARINE BUREAU PUSHING DRIVE

Move for Adequate Federal Facilities Pressed

Aid of Congressmen Evans and Crail Sought

Committee of Eight Named to Present Case

BY WALDO DRAKE

Aid of Congressmen Evans and Crail in the campaign for adequate immigration, quarantine and marine hospital facilities at Los Angeles Harbor will be sought this morning by a special Marine Service Bureau committee, headed by Capt. Harry H. Birkholm. Both Congressmen will be interviewed by the eight members of the committee, each a leader in his particular phase of the local shipping industry.

New Federal facilities deemed necessary by the committee, following its first meeting on the 13th inst., include: (1.) A marine hospital, maintained by the United States Public Health Service, of at least 100-bed capacity; (2.) Increase of the present $70,000 appropriation for construction of a quarantine station; (3.) Increase in the officer personnel of the port staff of the United States Public Health Service; (4.) An increase of approximately 100 per cent in the harbor staff of the United States Immigration Service.

A resolution to this effect, for presentation to Congress, is being drawn for adoption by the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, San Pedro, Long Beach and Wilmington. Capt. Walter J. Peterson, general manager of the Marine Service Bureaus of the Pacific Coast, will also carry on the campaign in Washington when Congress convenes next month.

Committee members yesterday stressed the point that although Los Angeles Harbor's commerce record for the fiscal year 1930 placed it third among United States ports, its public health and immigration facilities are below those of many third-class ports. During the last fiscal year 8633 vessels arrived at the port, handling 25,920,159 tons of commerce worth $1,055,808,494, as compared to the fiscal year 1920, when 2886 ships handled 3,528,280 tons of commerce, with a value of $153,919,010.

Today's conference follows preliminary action of a similar committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, also headed by Capt. Birkholm. Members of the Marine Service Bureau committee include Capt. Birkholm, J. C. MacQuiddy, William Groundwater, P. H. Germain, Howard Wickersham, F. J. McGowan, Edwin Nichols and M. A. Richley.

Holm took out the West Cactus to Buenos Aires and way ports in inauguration of the Argentine's Buenos Aires-California mail line. All eight of the P.-A.-B. liners, already carrying United States mail, will hereafter carry Argentine mail, homeward bound. The West Cactus sailed last night with 7300 tons of Pacific Coast freight and eleven passengers aboard. She will go to the east coast via the Straits of Magellan.

Her sister ship in service, the West Mahwah, is due Thursday morning from Rio de Janeiro with 2200 tons of cargo for local consignees.

San Francisco Bridge Company salvage crews were yesterday attempting to raise Standard Dredging Company's dump barge No. 103 from twenty feet of water off the southeast corner of Reservation Point. San Francisco Bridge Company was using the barge for transport of clay dredgings in repairing the damaged point when it sank, loaded.

Capt. Heinrich Kilp will bring the Hamburg-American motor liner Portland in from Hamburg and Antwerp at daylight this morning, with 2400 tons of North Europe freight and fifteen passengers for discharge. She will dock at Berth 156, Wilmington.

Harbor Commissioners at tomorrow's meeting are expected to authorize negotiations with the Southern Pacific officials in an effort to harmonize appraisals on ten blocks of the company's waterfront at San Pedro, sought by the city for ferry and other development. Appraisals for the Harbor Department and those for the railway differ by more than $1,000,000, one being based chiefly on easements, the other on fee simple titles. Statements accredited to Southern Pacific officials say they are willing to accept a lower figure than the value carried on their books.

Phillip K. Wrigley, president of the William Wrigley, Jr., Company, and Mrs. Wrigley went to Catalina Island yesterday for a few days' visit before returning to Chicago. They were accompanied by Miss Olive Atwater and Dr. Julia Strawn. They arrived Sunday from Chicago with Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley, Jr., who are expected to go to their island home, Mount Ada, today, to remain in Southern California until spring.

Col. Ira C. Copley, publisher of many newspapers in Southern California and the Middle West, returned yesterday after a week-end cruise to Ensenada on his yacht Happy Days, commanded by Capt. W. P. Hillman. Accompanying him were thirteen guests.

Anna Q. Nilsson, sailing yesterday on the motor liner Annie Johnson, will pass her first Christmas since she was 13 years of age at home, Klippan, Sweden. She goes to recuperate and return in the spring. Forty others took passage on the liner for Europe.

Furness motor liner Pacific Reliance arrived from United Kingdom yesterday to disembark a dozen passengers, and to discharge 16,000 bunches of bananas, picked up at Panama, and European freight.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (AP)—The five new vessels being built for the French Line's Pacific Coast-European service will carry a limited number of passengers, instead of being exclusively freighters, A. B. Gitterman, general agent of the company in Northern California, said here today.

Gitterman recently returned here from the home offices of the company in France. He said the plans of the vessels are being changed to include accommodations for ten passengers.

He announced the first of the new vessels will be the San Antonio, which is scheduled to sail from Havre for the Pacific Coast next Friday.

One full day ahead of schedule, the motorship City of Panama, in command of Capt. C. J. Holland, will sail from here Wednesday, Panama Mail Line officials announced today.

The early sailing is necessitated by the addition of three additional ports to the vessel's itinerary. In addition to her usual Central American and Mexican ports, she will call at Mazatlan, Acapulco and Port Angel.

SEATTLE, Nov. 17.—In tow of two Seattle tugs, the rudderless steamer Northwestern of the Alaska Steamship Company, passed through Ketchikan today for Seattle. The vessel lost her rudder off Cape Spencer earlier in the month.

The Northwestern reported that in rough weather off Cape Fanshaw one of the tugs riding beside her staved a hole in her side.

H. A. Shook, district manager of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, said its vessels are finding an exceptionally heavy movement of cargo from the Northwest to the east coast. He said the four November sailings from Seattle are booked up to two-thirds or more when they ordinarily lift less than half of their capacity here. The products carried included lumber, canned goods and flour.

TACOMA, Nov. 17.—The largest cargo of pulp to leave the port in the past six months is being loaded by the Quaker liner San Vincente. The vessel will have taken 1450 tons when she sails for the Atlantic Coast late tomorrow.

Two coasters of the Admiral Line were in and out today. The Admiral Sebree loaded 150 tons of feed and two carloads of creosoted poles for California and sailed for Los Angeles. The Admiral Nulton dropped general freight and shifted to Vancouver (B. C.) for paper.

The Pacific Oak of the Dimon Line's intercoastal service also was in and out today. The vessel loaded 350,000 feet of lumber and sailed for Philadelphia.

PORTLAND, Nov. 17.—Four bids for lightship No. 67, formerly stationed at Umatilla reef, were opened here today by R. R. Tinkham, superintendent of the Seventeenth Lighthouse District.

DEBT PAYMENT TO BE SLOWED

Possible Deficit to Cause Fund Diversion

Foreign Interests May Be Applied by Treasury

Policy Suggested Because of Reduced Revenues

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—More gradual retirement of the public debt is being forced upon the government.

President Hoover, if he finally decides to recommend a continuation of this year's reduced income-tax rates, will be obliged to sanction temporary use of foreign-debt interest payments for current expenditures and may go so far as to favor doing so permanently.

MAY USE INTEREST

Treasury officials have indicated that the foreign-debt interest payments may have to be used for ordinary expenditures in order to avert a large deficit, whether the low tax rates are continued or not, but their disosition has been to oppose adoption of a permanent policy of this nature.

It is estimated that the Treasury during the current fiscal year will receive $236,143,599 from foreign governments on their debts to the United States. Of this sum $51,579,059 will be payments of principal and $184,564,540 will be payments of interest.

LAW DOESN'T HINDER

Under existing law there is nothing to prevent the use of the interest payments for current expenditures, but the Treasury has gone on the assumption that the foreign nations might exercise their option of paying in American securities, rather than in cash. In practice the securities thus received have been canceled, constituting a reduction in the domestic debt, while the cash has gone into the annual surplus which has found its way into debt reduction in connection with short-term financing operations.

Recently, however, foreign nations have found it desirable to pay entirely in cash and on the theory that they will continue to do so during the coming year it will be possible to include the $184,564,540 in advance estimates of amounts available for current expenditures during the current year. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon did not, however, include any of this amount when he advised the President six months ago that if the reduced income-tax rates of the present year were continued it would mean a deficit of $180,000,000 under conditions then existing. Since Mr. Mellon made this estimate there has been a further shrinking in revenues and an expansion in expenditures so that the foreign-debt interest payments might have to be supplemented by increased temporary borrowings to tide over the next year or so if the low tax rates are continued.

MORE AVAILABLE

Actually the amount of the foreign-debt payments which can be used for current expenditures is several millions greater than the interest total. About 8 per cent of the indebtedness of foreign countries represents relief and war supplies. Loans and principal payments on this indebtedness can be used for current operations if they are made in cash. It is estimated that this item will amount to $4,125,460 this year, which, with the interest payments, would give a total of $188,690,000.

FORTY-MILE PACE SET ON THIS BRIDGE

Heavy Foot and Penchant for Speed Requisite on Virginia Viaduct

NORFOLK (Va.) Nov. 17. (Exclusive) — The James River bridge, understood to be the longest structure of its kind in the world, has become a "speed maniac's paradise." It's no place for the ten-mile-an-hour traveler.

The motorist driving a car going less than forty miles per hour may be barred from using the span. In fact, the qualifications for a car traversing the bridge are forty miles an hour or faster, and there's no speed limit. So for four and one-half miles, the length of the span, the driver is permitted to open her up.

This is Norfolk's method of preventing traffic congestion on the bridge and motorists are warned both by signs and motor police.

State to Drop Hunt for Slayer Started in 1876

WESTON (W. Va.) Nov. 17. (AP)—After more than half a century the law has given up its quest for Richard Dowell.

Convicted in 1876 of slaying John R. West, Dowell escaped from the Lewis County Jail while preparations were being made to hang him. He never was apprehended, although officers investigated frequent reports he was living in one place or another.

A court has just ordered the case against him stricken from the docket.

If Dowell is still alive he is 93 years of age and a free man.

Webb Starts for Dam Suit Parley

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Atty.-Gen. Webb and members of the California Colorado River Association are en route to Washington tonight to attend a conference of attorneys-general from six Colorado River basin States, next Friday.

The conference was called by the Secretary of Interior to prepare a defense with which to meet the suit pending before the United States Supreme Court, brought by the State of Arizona against the Interior Department and the interested States, in an effort to prevent carrying out of the Boulder Dam project.

NARCOTIC RING PAIR MUST SERVE TERMS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Antonio Parmagini and his lieutenant, William Levine, lost their fight today to escape penitentiary sentences of from one to seventeen years each for operating a widespread narcotic ring.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeal denied their petition for a rehearing and denied their motion for a new trial. They have been in the County Jail here since conviction last January.

PILSUDSKI GAIN ASSURES RULE

Iron Man of Warsaw Wins Control of House

He Fails, However, to Obtain Two-thirds Majority

Followers Hail Victory as Indorsing Regime

WARSAW (Poland) Nov. 17. (AP) Marshal Pilsudski, the iron man of Poland, who had only 118 votes in the Parliament last August, came out of the elections with 247 out of the 444 seats and today is in control of the House.

But large as his gain was he did not get the two-thirds majority he wanted to insure amendments of the constitution. His supporters are confident, however, he will get enough votes from the other camps to make up the majority he needs.

The racial minorities—the Ukrainians, White Russians, Germans and Jews—took a beating. When the Parliament was dissolved last August they had eighty-three seats, now they have only thirty-five.

The Polish opposition also suffered. It used to have 216 Deputies. The elections left it with only 157, not including five Communists.

The Pilsudski supporters characterized the victory as an indorsement of the marshal's four years of rule, pointing out there actually were only two parties in the field—pro-Pilsudski and anti-Pilsudski.

The marshal's victory, his supporters said, is an assurance that Poland's foreign policies will remain unchanged.

AMERICAN GUNBOATS FIRED ON

Chinese Bandits Shoot at Vessels and Receive in Return Hail of Shells

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—The United States gunboat Tutila was fired on by Chinese bandits today at two places while steaming along the Yangtse River.

Lieutenant-Commander L. P. Bischoff, commanding officer, reported the fire was silenced with three-inch shells and machine guns.

Lieutenant-Commander R. D. Tisdale, commanding the gunboat Palos, reported his vessel had been fired upon yesterday five miles below Chengling Bluff. No casualties were reported in either case.

THREE PRIESTS SEIZED BY CHINESE BANDITS

PEIPING (China) Nov. 17.—Word was received here today that three members of the Lazarist mission near Hanchung, Southwestern Shansi, were carried off by bandits who recently pillaged the mission. Bishop Balconi, head of the mission, who telegraphed the news, gave the names of the priests as Fathers Massoli and Fili, Italians, and T. Chang, a Chinese.

A dispatch to Shanghai Saturday said Bishop Balconi with three fathers and six nuns escaped to the hills.

ACID CONDITION
the common cause of pain and discomfort after eating--

GET RID of your dread of pain after eating. Eat without fear of "indigestion," sour stomach, disagreeable gas or headaches.

When your food ferments, "disagrees," lies like a lump in your stomach, it's a sign of too much acid. You need not resort to crude methods—take instead an anti-acid that will correct the condition. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A spoonful of this pleasant-tasting, soothing fluid neutralizes many times its volume of acid. It restores the proper alkaline balance to an acid-soaked stomach and bowels—assists these organs to function as they should.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is what you need when a bad breath, coated tongue, headaches, nausea or biliousness indicates an over-acid condition. Take a spoonful today and for several days and see how it sweetens the system. You won't be nearly so liable to colds or sickness. All drugstores—in 25c and 50c bottles.

Genuine Milk of Magnesia is always a liquid —never a tablet. Look for the name Phillips on the bottle.

MERRITT HIRED BY GRAPE MEN

Former Sun-Maid Head With Fruit Industries, Inc.

Will Advise and Handle All Federal Relations

Executive Given High Praise by Director Conn

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Ralph P. Merritt, former president and managing director of Sun-Maid Raisin Growers of Fresno and more recently a special representative of Fruit Industries, Inc., will continue with the latter corporation to handle its relations with the Federal government and to act upon all matters of policy.

This was announced here today by Donald D. Conn, managing director of Fruit Industries, while he was en route to the company's headquarters at San Francisco after a business trip to the East. Conn was accompanied by Merritt, who is returning to Fresno to spend two weeks, after which he will resume his duties with the grape-products concern in Washington.

HIGHLY PRAISED

In announcing Merritt's permanent affiliation with the $30,000,000 Grape Products Corporation Conn said he represents "the best intelligence available" to perform the huge task which confronts the fruit industry in its efforts to develop and market grape products as a part of the Federal Farm Board's plan for rehabilitation of the vineyard industry.

Conn revealed that Merritt has been associated with him since September 1, part of his time having been devoted to Fruit Industries work.

"He has handled all of our relations with the government and all policy questions. He contributed largely to the increased raisin advance; to the completion of Fruit Industries financing; to handling a most difficult situation on the tracks at fresh grape markets and generally representing the best interests of the entire grape industry in a manner no other man is capable of doing.

PROBLEMS TO MEET

"The problems of the grape industry have just commenced. New complications develop daily. Our foundation is laid with the grape-control plan.

"That is only a beginning. We must now assure the future and a return to prosperous times by surrounding the plan with every safeguard. We require the best intelligence available. I know of no one who more nearly fits that qualification than Merritt. The results of his work in the East are a clear demonstration of his great value to the industry."

FEDERAL AID SOUGHT IN GANGSTER THREATS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Federal protection against reputed threats of racketeers in marketing grape concentrates in eastern cities is being sought, Donald D. Conn, of Fresno, managing director of the Fruit Industries, Inc., said here tonight.

He has returned from the East where he said the headquarters of Al (Scarface) Capone issued an edict no grape concentrates should be marketed in Chicago.

"This threat of gangland is no joke," the director declared. "We have been told we cannot sell grape concentrates in Chicago unless we make a 'deal' with the right parties. Our representatives have received more than 100 threats of death. We cannot trace the Chicago demands and threats to Capone, but nevertheless we know they come from him.

"Our first battle with Chicago gangland will not come until after December 1. On that date from 1500 to 2000 Chicago drugstores will start selling California grape products.

"We have been warned we will be 'taken for rides' and any drug stores offering our products will be bombed. We expect some of the bombings to take place within twenty-four hours after December 1. After that it remains a question of how much co-operation we will get from government authorities in keeping gangland racketeers from interfering with and exacting tribute from legitimate business."

WALSH PUTS EXTRA CALL ON HOOVER

Short Session Unable to Meet Emergencies Senator From Montana Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—An extra session of the new Congress next spring was advocated today by Senator Walsh, Montana, the assistant Democratic leader.

He gave notice, however, he would sanction no move in the approaching short term to force such a meeting.

"I believe it to be the duty of President Hoover to call the extra session," said Walsh, "and I believe in leaving that responsibility entirely with him."

The Montanan expects the short session of Congress meeting in December to be unable to complete action "upon the many important public matters facing us." Among other things, he wants President Hoover and the Senate to press for immediate entry of the United States into the World Court.

The World Court issue divides the Senate coalition of Democrats and Republican independents. Because of this there may be no united movement to force an extra session.

FIGHT OPENS TO RAISE RED BARS HIGHER

Congress Will Be Asked to Strengthen Laws to Keep Enemy Aliens Off Shores

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Recommendations that immigration laws be strengthened to prevent entry of aliens from countries not recognized by the United States are to be submitted to Congress at the short session by the House Communist investigating committee.

Chairman Hamilton Fish, Jr., of the committee said efforts also will be made to procure legislation broadening the power of the Justice Department to permit investigation of dissemination of propaganda directed at the government.

The report of the investigation, he said, probably will be submitted in December. He estimated there are 400,000 adult Communist sympathizers in this country, adding about 100,000 Communist votes were cast in the recent elections.

Fish said the committee will hold a hearing here next Monday.

ALIEN REDS HELD SUBJECT TO BAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—The Federal Circuit Court today held that alien members of the Communist party are subject to deportation.

The decision was given in the case of Sadaichi Kenmotsu, Japanese Communist student, arrested at a radical meeting here December 14, 1929.

INDIANS WORKED RACKETS EARLY

Chicago Hoodlums' Records Antedated on Coast

Tribal Sorcerers Demanded and Got Tribute

Professor of U.C. Reveals Customs of Redskins

BERKELEY, Nov. 17. (Exclusive) Chicago finds another champion. It may be credited, or discredited, with being the nation's headquarters for racketeering today, but California Indians beat the Windy City to the initiation of it before the first settler built his camp fire at the heel of Lake Michigan and long before Mrs. O'Leary's cow was a calf.

The authority for this is Prof. A. H. Gayton, research associate in the department of anthropology at the University of California, who bases her report on a study of the Yokuts and western Mono Indians who once ruled the slopes of Sierras overlooking the San Joaquin Valley.

CHIEFS RACKETEERS

By interviewing twenty-one of the oldest survivors of the Yokuts and Mono groups, Miss Gayton obtained information on the roles of the chiefs and the medicine men in tribal life as it existed a century or more ago. One thing she discovered was that chiefs and Shamans occasionally connived to xtort legal tender from other chiefs.

The Shamans were reputed to have supernatural power which enabled them not only to cure illness and prevent death, but also to bring about illness and death in persons hundreds of miles away. Wicked chiefs sometimes would send a gift to another chief and threaten to have their Shamans kill some important personage unless the gift was returned double. Such threats were taken seriously because even if the sorcery of the Shamans occasionally failed the victims of the racket knew that it might be followed by an attempt at actual poisoning.

CURES DESIRED

Racketeering, however, was not the sole or even the most important function of chiefs and Shamans, Prof. Gayton points out. The chiefs usually were interested in the welfare of their people, and the Shamans were genuinely anxious to help them in trouble or ill health.

It was sometimes to the Shaman's best interests to cure a patient, because if too many patients died under his care, especially if the fee was not returned, relatives might puncture him with an arrow or have another Shaman try a little of his own medicine on him.

PEACEFUL PEOPLE

The Yokuts and western Mono Indians were peaceful people withal. They had an ingrained respect for honesty, generosity and modesty. They were held close to the paths of righteousness without the aid of policemen or organized armies by the belief their chiefs were of divine ancestry and their Shamans would certainly visit punishment upon them through sorcery if they did wrong. The chiefs were supposed to have descended from a superhuman, the assistant chiefs from dove gods, and the Shamans or medicine men from owls.

Little occasion existed for intertribal warfare, for the tribal territories were not defined by set boundaries and acorns and seeds were plentiful for all. Difficulties usually were personal rather than tribal, and usually were settled by a private murder.

MELLON COUPLE TO REWED

Marriage of Treasurer's Kin Tomorrow Will Be Repetion of Ceremony Performed Year Ago

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Heralded as the outstanding social event of the week, the wedding of William Larimer Mellon, Jr., and Miss Ethel Grace Rowley, scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, will be a repetition of a quiet ceremony in which the same couple was joined in wedlock slightly more than a year ago, it became known here today.

Their first marriage ceremony, according to records on file in the Brook county courthouse, Wellsburg, W. Va., was performed in the modest Presbyterian manse of that town. Rev. Milton M. Allison, the paster, formerly of Pittsburgh, officiated.

Miss Charlotte Calderwood, marriage license clerk in Brook county, stated her records showed the marriage license was issued to William Larimer Mellon, Jr., and Miss Ethel Grace Rowley, both of Pittsburgh, on November 16, 1929, and that the ceremony was performed the same day by Dr. Allison.

Neither Miss Calderwood's chief assistant nor Dr. Allison could recall that any request for secrecy had been made by the couple. According to plans announced within the past few days, the wedding will be solemnized at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harrison Rowley.

Young Mellon is a son of William L. Mellon, former Republican State chairman and representative of the great Mellon interests in this city and other parts of the country. He is also a grand nephew of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon.

CHICAGO VICTOR OVER GANGLAND

Beer Racket Gunman Sent to Jail as Vagrant

Consternation Created in Ranks of Crime Army

Conviction First Obtained in New Battle Plans

CHICAGO, Nov.17. (Exclusive)—James (Fur) Sammons, gunman and member of the O'Donnell beer gang, whose criminal record reaches back to 1899, was found guilty of vagrancy tonight by a jury in Judge Edgar Jonas's court.

While he is subject only to a sentence of six months in County Jail, this verdict caused consternation throughout gangland and was hailed by State's Attorney and the police as a real victory in this method of warfare which was inaugurated only a few weeks ago.

Vagrancy warrants are now waiting to be served against all the important gangsters in the city and many have already been served, with trial pending and action awaiting the decision in this test case.

The verdict was reached after six hours deliberation and five days of trial. Judge Jonas was sent for and came to his court at 11 o'clock tonight when the jury had reached an agreement.

Attorneys Everett Jennings and W. W. Smith, who defended Sammons, asked for a new trial and arguments on this will be heard Saturday morning.

WORKERS SAY THAT MID-AFTERNOON IS THEIR ZERO HOUR

Many Have Discovered That Food With Sugar Content Renews Vigor

Rare indeed is the business that does not call for more speed from mid-afternoon on. Stenographers, clerks and salespeople will testify to this. Yet vitality is invariably low at this important period.

Scientific tests have proved that eating something between three and four o'clock will refresh the system almost as much as complete rest. The best food to eat is one rich in refined sugar such as candy, cookies, ice cream or a sweet beverage. The refined sugar not only supplies quick nourishment but is easily digested.

In overcoming fatigue by this method, the system is able to resist those common colds which are often "caught" on the way home. What's more, a refreshed body is much more efficient during the busy afternoon hours than one that is "tired out."

With no loss of time and practically no expense, sweet foods can be bought for a mid-afternoon snack. Sugar dissolved in a glass of water will "pick one up." This drink is known as the "athlete's cocktail." Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with refined sugar. The Sugar Institute.

WHO KILLED JAKE LINGLE?

TRUE FACTS ABOUT THE SENSATIONAL TUNNEL MURDER OF CHICAGO'S RACKETEERING REPORTER

"PLAY Hy Schneider in the 3rd, Jake," bellowed one of four gangsters grouped around a roadster, as Jake Lingle, reporter extraordinary, racketeer and race fan, entered the traffic tunnel under a busy Chicago street. A friendly tip, thought Jake. But the world soon knew it for a Judas greeting.

RUSSIA CERTAIN TO BECOME FORCE IN WORLD TRADE

Grain and Lumber Exports Will Increase, But Danger of Cheap Factory Flood Slight

While soviet citizens wait in ever-lengthening queues for their meager rations, Russia's bumper harvest is being sold abroad at cut-throat prices. Other staples, practically unprocurable in Russia, are serious competitors in world markets.

What is the explanation of this amazing situation, unparalleled in the history of the world? How far is soviet dumping legitimate competition? How far a deliberate attempt to run world markets in the interests of the doctrines of Bolshevism?

How long can it be expected to last? Are the Russian people heart and soul behind the sacrifices their rulers demand?

These are some of the questions considered in a series of three articles, of which this is the third and final, by Ronald Heymanson, journalist and economist, who has just returned from an unescorted visit of observation in Russia.

BY RANDALL HEYMANSON

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

LONDON, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Only the downfall of the administration can prevent Russia from recovering rapidly as a force in world commerce. But this should give no cause for panic. The volume of Russia's foreign trade, allowing for the general rise in world prices, is still less than 50 per cent of the prewar figure.

Not even the most hysterical zealot would indorse the notion that Russia could flood the world with cheap manufacture within the next decade. The five-year plan takes no account of the rapid increase of population in the U.S.S.R.—some two and a half millions a year.

Even if the most sanguine hopes are realized, Russia's export trade must be based largely upon a fictitious surplus rather than a real surplus for many years to come.

Russia has two export policies; one for the East and another for the West. To those eastern states lying on her borders—countries which have never been exploited by western industrialists—she sends a relatively small amount of manufactured goods.

EXPORTS TO INCREASE

To the west her principal exports, jealously controlled by the State Department narcomtorg, are grain, lumber, furs, fish, oil and minerals. An increase in the volume of these commodities seems inevitable, however distasteful the fact may be.

A recent decision to extend the five-year plan to shipping indicates that the rulers of Russia are determined to extend the markets they have won. The project requires the construction of 551 vessels, aggregating 2,500,000 tons, that soviet trade may be made independent to a large extent of foreign shipping. Some years must elapse before this program can be completed, but it will ultimately increase the power of the soviet to cut prices.

Much nearer is the menace contained in the Russian agricultural program for the coming year. Some hundred million acres are to be sown during the winter, and a further 250,000,000 acres in the spring. Upon this year's figures, without allowing for the rapid change from sixteenth-century methods to large scale mechanized farming, the yield an acre should be at least one-third of a ton.

WAR IN VILLAGE ENDED

The present grain requirements of Russia are set down at about 80,000,000 tons. Allowing for increase of population, wastage and failure to carry through the full sowing program of 350,000,000 acres, the soviet should have a surplus of from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 tons to sell abroad.

This figure is so much in excess of the prewar export of grain that it is worth while considering whether it is possible of attainment. Officially "the war in the village" is at an end: the "liquidation" of the wealthier peasants—to use the current jargon—is almost complete, and collectivization proceeds apace.

Certainly the government has little to fear from the Kulaks, most of whom have been deprived of their property and are harassed politically and economically. Thousands of the more spirited have been exiled to the frozen north where they are being compelled to work for the state timber trust. Their banishment has deprived the country of its most skilled and enterprising farmers, but the Kremlin considers this loss more than offset by the elimination of a class which was its implacable foe.

Between the Kulak and the very poor come the Seredniaks, or middle-class peasants, possessing something more than "three acres and a cow." Early in the revolution Lenin realized the necessary of conciliating this class, the real backbone of Russia.

SELF-INTEREST APPEALED TO

"Reach an agreement with the Seredniak, leaning firmly upon the Byedniak (poor peasant,) and never for a single instant stop the struggle with the Kulak."

Except for the short period of "Communist hot-headedness," so vigorously denounced by Stalin, Bolshevism has remained faithful to the precept of its prophet. Realizing the futility of sentimental propaganda the government is attempting to win the Serednlak to the idea of collectivization by a direct appal to his self-interest.

Members of the Kolhosi, or collective farms, receive favorable treatment in respect to taxation, credits, the supply of seed, manures and machinery, and are allowed to take out of the Kolhos a share of the revenue determined by the amount of capital they have put into it and the efficiency of their labor.

While this is a breach in the strict Communist creed of equal pay for all, it meets the objection of the Serednlak, who asks why he should contribute his capital where others contribute nothing. Moreover, it should be remembered that the principle of equal pay is nowhere observed in Russia, certainly not in the factories, where piece rates are the rule rather than the exception.

How far the government has won the good will of the Serednlak it is impossible to say, so vast is the country, so meagre the independent data available. My impression, after talking with capable foreign observers resident in Russia, is that the progress of collectivization is not fictitious. Certainly the younger people are heart and soul in the movement.

FILMS EMPLOYED

With the first tractors and "combines" come clever organizers from the city, well versed in the psychology of youth. Films depicting in dramatic fashion man's struggle with nature drive home the points of the orators.

I saw one such film in Russia which had no other plot than the construction of a dam in Turkestan. I am bound to confess that it held me from start to finish, that it was far superior to those sordid stories of sex and crime which many western producers imagine are the sole interest of the public.

The "collectives" make a direct appeal to the constructive enthusiasm of the young, who are taught to be useful in all manner of ways. They come to believe implicitly in the glorious march of their nation. They are in the van.

In estimating the stability of the present regime foreign observers too often leave out of account the new generation. To the youth the task of developing Russia's resources is an exciting adventure, filling all their thoughts, claiming all their enthusiasm. Propaganda never wearies them, for denied access to foreign journals and literature, they have no means of checking its truth. I met several young men, all of whom spoke fluent English with a strong American accent. Their ignorance of conditions outside their country was abysmal.

TECHNICAL WOES WORSE

With youth on its side the government is not likely to fail to carry out its full agricultural program through peasant obstruction, provided it endeavors to conciliate the Serednaik. Technical difficulties are more serious.

While the output of agricultural implements and machinery has increased with startling rapidity—within a few years it will equal that of the United States—it is adequate to meet the growing needs of the country. Even more serious is the defective quality of many of the machines and the lack of trained men to operate them. Ill-fitting parts often have to be sent back to the factories; a costly plant is often ruined by unskilled or over-enthusiastic operatives.

The story of the workers who switched a current of 5000 volts through apparatus designed to be worked at 1000, to make it produce five times as rapidly, is, I believe, not apocryphal; and in this country where labor is aristocracy many a good tractor is ruined because the drivers will not deign to go around with an oil can. These inefficiencies are admitted by the party organizers, who are tireless in their efforts to eradicate them.

TRANSPORT LACKING

Again, assuming that an exportable surplus of 15,000,000 tons of grain is realized at the next harvest, it is doubtful whether the transport system will be able to handle it. Labor is simply not available to load and unload trucks, ships and barges.

In recent months the soviet must have lost many thousands of dollars in demurrage, which it has been forced to pay as a consequence of its excessive eagerness to flood the markets with wheat. Similarly, owing to transport difficulties, the timber trust is unable to remove about 2,000,000 cubic meters of lumber from the Urals. These experiences, costly as they have been, are likely to teach the government a lesson. We may expect that it will not rush so precipitately into the market next year.

If my analysis is correct, soviet exports of grain will show a considerable increase next year, equaling if not exceeding prewar levels. Russian oil has already won a secure position in the world markets, and only lack of labor and capital prevents the more rapid exploitation of the country's enormously rich deposits.

No substantial increase in the export of butter, eggs and poultry is likely to be recorded, as the population is already starved of these commodities. Some export of coal may be expected if the authorities are successful in their attempt to speed up production in the Donetz basin, from which it is hoped to take 60,000,000 tons during 1931. The chances of carrying through this stupendous program are, however, slight. Conditions in the basin are admitted to be appalling.

CONSCRIPT BAD WORKERS

Decrees may stem the tide of desertions, but conscripted labor is not efficient labor. Even the 2000 young Communist enthusiasts who have been rushed to "Donbas" to set an example for the miners to emulate can scarcely increase output by the 66 per cent demanded.

Strenuous efforts are also being made to increase exports of timber. The industry is at present somewhat disorganized owing to the difficulty of keeping the laborer at his job. Labor is much less amenable to discipline in the remoter regions than in the industrial areas, where the vigilance of Moscow is never relaxed.

The desertion of raftsmen on the Northern Dwina has been responsible for the loss of much valuable timber, which broke loose and was carried to sea. From persuasion to compulsion is only a step to the Kremlin. Already there are indications that leaving one's job, whether for better conditions or from simple desire of change, will be made a punishable offense.

INCREASE INEVITABLE

An all-round increase of Russian exports during the coming year seems inevitable, but dumping on an immoderate scale must inevitably bring its own defeat. In its haste to rush goods on the market before transport facilities were available the soviet burned its fingers badly the last few months.

I have already expressed the opinion that few fresh burdens can be placed upon the Russian people with safety, and there are not wanting signs that a halt must be called to the process of currency inflation—cunningly disguised in recent months by printing ruble notes with identical numbers—which has assisted to soviet to undersell its competitors.

Finally, if the administration should persist in disregarding conditions at home, it runs the risk of provoking retaliatory measures abroad.

Despite the Kremlin's high-sounding threat that it will boycott those countries which attempt to license its exports, Russia's need of the world is greater than the world's need of Russia.

France has pointed the way; it rests with Germany and America, by far the largest exporters to Russia, to take the decisive step.

Will American and German manufacturers agree to call Russia's bluff?

The situation is not acute enough to require immediate decision; by spring the world depression may be slightly eased and Russia may seek higher prices.

But if she should persist in her policy of cut-throat competition the western world will be faced with a problem without precedent in history.

"The trend of modern industry is towards taking the public into its con dence. That is why I know you are wi to state frankly to the public the fact the use of the Ultra Violet Ray in Toast ing the LUCKY STRIKE. I have found the public appreciates confidence."

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

Actress Tells Secret!

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—[Advertisement.

TEAPOT DOME'S RATING SLUMPS

Naval Reserve Considered Somewhat of "Lemon"

Leakage of Oil Traced by Federal Geologists

Report Due Soon Expected to Revise Estimates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (NANA) Teapot Dome, storm center of the oil scandal of a few years ago, has turned out to be something of a "lemon" after all, according to oil men.

The Wyoming oil reserve, which precipitated the most sensational litigation in the history of American jurisprudence, now seems to have been overestimated greatly in value.

Once pictured as virtually filled to the brim and running over with vast quantities of "liquid gold," the Teapot's lid has been lifted, only to disclose that its contents are not oil alone, but a disappointing conglomeration of oil, gas and plain water.

Grave suspicions that this condition existed have been bandied back and forth in government circles ever since the Senate oil inquiry was concluded, but everyone has been reluctant to believe these suspicions.

It has been learned, however, that a report soon to be made public by the Department of the Interior will serve to confirm the growing fears of those who had hoped Teapot Dome would fulfill its heralded destiny as one of America's greatest naval oil reserves.

A recent survey, which forms the basis of the forthcoming report, has tended to corroborate the disheartening findings of two geologists employed by the Senate oil investigating committee in 1922. These findings are, in effect, that the oil content of Teapot Dome is startlingly below estimates originally made by government scientists, and that two parts of the dome originally thought to be rich in oil contain nothing but natural gas or water.

ESTIMATES REVISED

The new report, it is understood, will voice general agreement with the private geologists' estimate of possibly a maximum of 119,000,000 barrels of oil stored in the sands of the dome, but under existing methods of oil extraction probably not more than a fraction of this oil can be recovered. Experts say that about one-fifth of the oil known to be in the sands can be extracted commercially, which would make actual production around 24,000,000 barrels.

Twenty-four million barrels of oil is worth about that many dollars, so the Teapot really is a prize worth fighting for.

But when it is recalled that at the time the reserve first was created the Bureau of Mines estimated the oil production at nearly six times that amount, or approximately 135,000,000 barrels, the disappointment at the denouncement becomes apparent.

TEAPOT LEAKS

Moreover, there is appreciable leakage in the Teapot.

Tests made by government geologists have disclosed a drainage of oil from what is known as the "second Wall Creek sand" into the adjoining Salt Creek field. The exact amount of drainage is not known. It can only be estimated. But it is known there was a significant increase of production in a number of wells near Teapot Dome when the government naval oil reserve was closed down following the oil litigation.

Of course, the government gets handsome royalties on the oil removed from the Salt Creek field, including the oil which spills over from Teapot Dome. Each barrel of leakage, however, reduces the content in the natural oil reservoir known as naval reserve No. 3.

LATE DEVELOPMENT

The leakage, while said to be not serious, is another development that has come to light since the reserve was established in 1915. At that time geologists believed Teapot Dome was a distinct field of oil, locked up in an impervious natural container.

Subsequent inquiries have shown that the dome is not an entity within the boundaries originally set up, but that part of the oil-bearing sands extend into the Salt Creek field.

In the Salt Creek area, which abuts Teapot Dome on the northwest, there are two productive strata, known as the first and second Wall Creek sands. When Teapot Dome became naval reserve No. 3 fifteen years ago, oil men and government officials were of the belief that the two sands would be just as productive in the reserve as they were a few miles away in Salt Creek, and that valuable deposits also were contained in other sands and shale.

The first Wall Creek sand of Teapot Dome has belied all prophecies. Instead of the oil looked for, it proved to be filled with nothing more valuable than water.

Another area, where oil was hoped for, has turned out to be natural gas. Gas has its value commercially, but it is an unwelcome intruder in a field reserved by the government as an underground storage tank for battleship fuel.

The most productive section of Teapot Dome appears to be on the north end of the two square miles composing the reserve. Little prospecting has been done in the remainder of the area.

WELLS FOR TESTS

Although there was a large number of wells drilled in the property when the government regained possession of it by mandate of the United States Supreme Court, only thirteen of the wells have been maintained in operative condition, and these are used solely for test purposes.

Regular tests of oil pressure are made by government experts under the direction of the Geological Survey, and these tests have revealed a fairly constant underground supply.

Full results of the tests and other investigations will be contained in the Survey's report, which is being prepared by Herman Stabler, chief of the conservation division of the bureau. The report is to be published about the first of the year.

"PANTS" BURGLAR FOILS NEW YORK POLICE DOGS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Staten Island's campaign to make a man's pants safe for his money has ended in failure.

Ten of the police department's keenest hounds were back in their kennels today with their tails between their legs and the wraithlike "pants burglar" whom no one has ever seen but plenty have testified to, still is at large.

Alarmed by reports this mysterious "marauder" had stolen thousands of dollars from some 100 pairs of trousers, Grover Whalen, then Police Commissioner, put the dogs on the trail eighteen months ago. They sniffed and they snooped but they never got within hitting distance of the "burglar."

The police department finally came to the conclusion he would never be apprehended so long as he operated on nights when the good burghers sustained heavy poker losses or their wives needed a bit of extra change.

COLLEGIANS SPURN PLEA ON STRIKE

Montana Students Stay Out of Class Despite All Efforts of Faculty

BOZEMAN (Mont.) Nov. 17. (AP) A holiday atmosphere continued today at Montana State College, where students are in rebellion against social rules and the methods of their enactment.

A request telegraphed by President Alfred Atkinson, now in Washington, D. C., to the president of the student body, asking the students to return to classes pending his return, was disregarded and the faculty at a meeting today failed to arrive at any solution of the impasse.

Having acceded to demands of the students regarding hours in residence, the faculty says it has no power to go further. The students demand an equal voice with the faculty in arranging social regulations and full power over rally arrangements.

On strike since Friday the students demand the right of the student body to order a rally at any time, regardless of class hours, and the right of the student senate to veto social rules put into effect by the faculty.

OIL FOUND IN VICINITY OF WEED PATCH

New Field Opens Near Bakersfield as Shell Well Comes in With Large Flow

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—The Shell Oil Company discovered a new oil field in Kern county when its Porter-Day No. 1 wildcat located in the northeast corner of the southwest quarter of Sec. 29, 30-29 in the Weed Patch district, nine miles southeast of Bakersfield, came in yesterday for an initial yield of 1100 barrels of 23-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 5962 feet along with 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The oil fields in Kern county already include Wheeler Ridge, Round Mountain, Kern River, Poso Creek, Midway-Sunset, Elk Hills, Devil's Den, Lost Hills, Belridge and McKittrick. One of the latest districts that showed possibilities was the Dr. J. J. Ritchie wildcat on Sec. 33, 4-19, being drilled on the Tejon Ranch property, approximately six miles east of Wheeler Ridge.

The Weed Patch district is a level stretch of country on the floor of the San Joaquin Valley and about twenty miles north of Wheeler Ridge.

PARAMOUNT CASTS UNKNOWNS

Nick Stuart, Jobyna Ralston, to Costar in Picture; John Darrow Plays Juvenile Lead in R.-K.-O. Film; Anna May Wong to Return to Hollywood

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

While the taking of stars from the stage for pictures goes on, there also seems to be a tendency on the part of the producers to go to the other extreme and develop entirely unknown talent.

Now it is two youngsters, inexperienced before the motion-picture cameras, but well acquainted with what goes on behind them, who have been given what Hollywood calls a break.

Mary Coleman, script clerk at the Paramount studios, and Bill Udell, an assistant in the film cutting department, have been chosen by Director John Cromwell for parts in "Scandal Sheet," George Bancraft's new starring picture.

Both will appear on the screen in the major sequence showing the activity in the news room of a daily paper. If they reveal the talent they are suspected of having, they will not return to their old jobs, but will be given acting contracts.

Miss Coleman won her part because she was exactly the right type and because of her ambition to act and her knowledge of acting gained from observation. Udell, on the other hand, has been under Cromwell's observation for some months, according to the director, who has long awaited an opportunity to give the boy a chance. He believes the boy is prospective starring material.

FAVORITE PAIR TO COSTAR IN FILM

JOBYNA RALSTON

No less popular a young pair of players than Nick Stuart and Jobyna Ralston are going to be costarred by the Hollywood Syndicate in a feature melodrama, "Sheer Luck" we learned yesterday. Bruce Mitchell will direct the picture from a story by Brownie Mitchell.

Among the featured players are Reed Howes, Philo McCullough, Margaret Landis, Ben Hall, John Ince and others.

The picture is to go into production at the Tec-Art studios shortly, and will be released through the Big Four Film Corporation, a new releasing concern.

JUVENILE SIGNING FOR R.-K.-O. PICTURE

That promising young actor, John Darrow, who has appeared with much success in a number of Fox pictures, may sign a long-term contract with R.-K.-O., we learned yesterday.

In the meantime Darrow has been signed by that organization for the juvenile lead in Betty Compson's next starring vehicle, "Children of the Streets."

Dorothy Christy Featured

DOROTHY CHRISTY

That talented young actress, Dorothy Christy, isn't to allow her talents to rust this month anyhow.

Miss Christy was signed by Tiffany to play one of the two leading feminine roles, that of the vamp, in "Caught Cheating."

Robert Ellis has a featured male role, and Frank Strayer will direct.

Miss Christy has been winning an excellent place for herself in the Rogers's "So This Is London" and in "Playboy of Paris," in both of which she distinguished herself.

Esther Ralston to Europe

ESTHER RALSTON

Esther Ralston and her husband-manager, George Webb, are planning a trip to Europe as soon as Miss Ralston finds time from her arduous professional work. She has just finished the lead in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Southerner," starring Lawrence Tibbett.

The European trip will probably be undertaken next spring. In the meantime, Miss Ralston's services are being sought by several companies.

Lewis Milestone Returns

Lewis Milestone, who was recently honored by the Academy of Motion-Picture Arts and Sciences for the best directorial achievement of the year, Universal's "All Quiet on the Western Front," is on his way back to Hollywood after an absence of six months. He left New York a few days ago on a boat, journeying through the Panama Canal. He will arrive in Hollywood within the next ten days to start preparations for his production of "The Front Page" for Howard Hughes.

During the past six months Milestone has been enjoying a richly deserved vacation by traveling extensively in Europe. This is Milestone's first trip to his home in England since he came here seventeen years ago.

Ben Verschleiser Resumes

Ben Verschleiser, who formerly produced independent pictures, but who retired from the game a few years ago, has again felt the call of the films.

He has just been signed by Warner Brothers as an associate producer, and even now is on the lookout for stories.

Anna May Wong Returning

ANNA MAY WONG

Life certainly plays some hard, cynical tricks on us poor mortals.

Anna May Wong, the clever and courageous little Chinese actress, who found herself unappreciated in Hollywood and had to go to Europe to find fame and fortune, was on her way home, all joyous with her success, to visit her beloved parents in Los Angeles, when she was waylaid in New York to appear in a stage production there. So she put off her return.

Then the terrible news of her mother's death reached Anna May. And so she may or she may not return when her play closes. Probably she will, for she adored her father, I remember, quite as much as she did her mother. But it will be a sad homecoming.

However, the producers, after letting Anna May slip through their fingers, partly no doubt because she didn't try to pretend she was an oriental princess or something, but frankly admitted that her dad was a washerman, are now wanting her screen services. I hope they pay for them.

Ben Alexander In It

Little Ben Alexander, who thrilled us so at his first picture appearance when he played in Griffith's "Hearts of the World," is little Ben no longer.

He is now what is professionally known as a juvenile actor, and as such has been signed by Universal for a role in "Many a Slip," featuring Lew Ayres and Joan Bennett under direction of Vin Moore.

Ben, you remember, came distinctly out of his childish roles when he played Kimmerich in "All Quiet on the Western Front."

When Universal officials recently signed Ben, they asked him to write his biography for them. He told them, "You have one." Sure enough, there was one written in his kid hand at the age of 7. He merely added to it, and Universal accepted it.

ORDER ENDS TRAVELS OF PLAYWRIGHT

Bernard Schubert Called Back From Proposed Trip to Launch New Play

Bernard Schubert, playwright, booked passage on a trans-Atlantic liner last week in New York. He was bound for Germany to assist in production of one of his plays, "Soft Coal."

Yesterday, still wondering what had happened, he reached Los Angeles, 3000 miles in the opposite direction!

It was because William Le Baron, as managing director of Metropolitan Productions, Ltd., had selected another of Schubert's plays, "Fish Gotta Swim," for production on the Los Angeles stage, and had wired Schubert to report immediately in Hollywood.

"Fish Gotta Swim" will be the third production of Metropolitan Productions. The first, "Women Who Take," has closed a run at the Mason. The second, "The Next Lady," will open soon.

Schubert is one of the most successful of New York's younger crop of playwrights. He has written eleven plays and sold them all. An internationally known German producer will stage his "Soft Coal" on the European stage. He recently completed the revision of "Kara," which William A. Brady will produce in New York this season.

Schubert's length of stay in Hollywood is uncertain, but he expects to remain until "Fish Gotta Swim" is produced. He will assist Fred G. Latham, general stage director, in arranging cast and production details.

Shakespearean Tragedy Given by Pasadenans

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

"Othello," characteristic drama written during the period of profound disillusion experienced by the immortal Bard, is being given with highly colorful flourish at Pasadena Community Playhouse.

The pathetic tragedy of the jealous Moor, whom moderns would accuse of possessing a "dark-skinned inferiority complex," aroused into an elemental reaction through the whispered innuendo of the crafty Iago, destroys the perfect harmony which he has attained. The flower-like and feminine Desdemona is entranced at the lusty deeds of this primitive man, whose sacrifice of father and home for his sake serves seemingly, but to fan the flame of his superstition against her.

The tale is all spun with the gesture of the mighty craftsman born of the Renaissance. Who, beside Shakespeare, possesses the perfect instinct for the exposition of idea, character and situation? If it is the gift of temperament rather than art, it is at least unerring in its power to bring tears or laughter. And in "Othello" we find that impetuous instinct for life again, asserting itself with its usual vigor. We find the master ever capricious, but his psychology is humanity itself and if at times he weakens in the fusion of his episodic periods who indeed are we to find fault? The creative urge is invariably so powerful that its very intensity purges smaller consideration, leaving the sheer magnificence of the whole.

The seed of unbelief once sown in the Oriental bosom of "Othello," this most adventurous and powerful of men becomes the slave of an idea unto his own undoing. Iago, the base villain, the arch-conspirator with Satan, might almost represent that other self, which we name the lower nature in man, for it is often the whisperings of this sordid mind which wreck the most innocent of human beings.

As "Othello" beset upon every side by whispering enemies, Gilmor Brown managed well the aspect of tragedy, and gave an air of pathos to the lonely Moor through the nuance of his mellow voice. The Iago of Morris Ankrum was an outstanding performance. Splendid intensity and conviction were his. Addison Richard as the brave Cassio was natural and debonair in characterization. Alice Turner was a modern Desdemona, charming in her way, but rather lacking the virginal simplicity of the heroine. Gwendolen Seller contributed lightness and a deft manner to her bit as Amelia. Others who contributed good characterizations were Franklin Provo, Arthur Fitzrichard, Thomas Henry, Murray Yeats and Robert Snyder. Settings by Janis Muncis were contrived with beauty and originality.

Warner Theater Due to Open in Huntington Park

With the opening of the new Warner Brothers Huntington Park Theater tomorrow, the first of the $15,000,000 program of theaters for the Pacific Coast becomes a reality.

This is the first of the Warner houses to be completed under the new program announced the first part of the year. Others to follow shortly include a 2000-seat show house in San Pedro.

The Warner Beverly Hills Theater is now under construction and the one to be built at Western and Wilshire in Los Angeles will be started within the next ninety days.

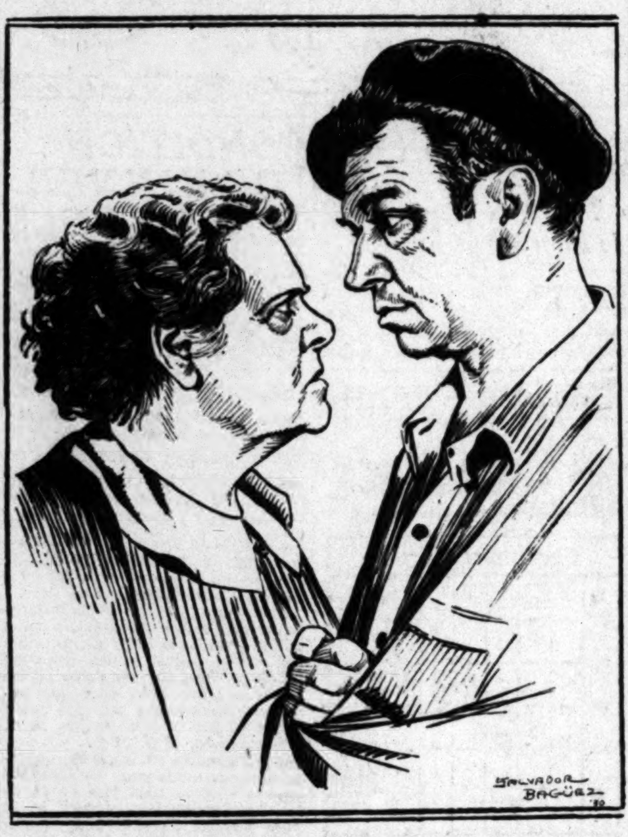
Louis J. Halper, executive in charge of the Warner Pacific Coast Theater expansion program, also reports that theaters in Santa Barbara, Fresno and Whittier, in California, and one in Aberdeen, Wash., have been purchased and put in operation by his company within the past twelve months.

GEORGE GERSHWIN TO BE GUEST OF HONOR

With George Gershwin, internationally noted composer of "Rhapsody in Blue," as honored guest and with Sid Grauman supervising the affair, the new Roosevelt orchestra will be given a brilliant premiere in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel Thursday night.

The orchestra, with each member individually selected by Sid Grauman and numbering twenty instruments, will replace Ted Weems and his band in the Blossom Room. Weems is to close his engagement tomorrow night with a special event planned in his honor.

Two Veterans Play "Min and Bill"



Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery

Are teamed to splendid advantage as costars of the M.-G.-M. feature which starts Thursday night at the Carthay Circle Theater. A gala premiere will usher in the picture.

DUFFY PLAY CAST CHOSEN

The complete cast to support Dale Winter and Henry Duffy in "Michael and Mary," the A. A. Milne play opening Sunday matinee, has been announced by El Capitan Theater management.

To Alan Bunce has fallen the distinction of being the first stage son of Dale Winter and Henry Duffy, while Stephanie Claire is to play the role of the unconventional girl he marries.

Wilfred Noy, prominent on both stage and screen, has been selected for the role of the sympathetic boby in the romantic comedy, the entire action of which is laid in London. Phillis Coghlan, young English actress; Arthur Clayton, remembered by local theater-goers for his performance in "White Cargo;" Theodore Lorch, who has played for the past five years in Denver and Salt Lake City; Frank Dawson and several others comprise the supporting cast.

Rehearsals are now in full swing under the direction of Edwin H. Curtis. Charlotte Greenwood closes in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath" this week.

'Silver Horde' Scheduled by R.-K.-O.

Evelyn Brent and Louis Wolheim play featured roles in "The Silver Horde," which comes to the R.-K.-O. Theater for a week beginning Thursday. Radio Pictures produced the film from the adaptation by Wallace Smith of Rex Beach's story.

EVELYN BRENT

"The Silver Horde" tells of a society debutante who trys to win the love of a gold-seeker from a former cabaret hostess. Jean Arthur is the feminine "heavy" in the part of the society girl, and Miss Brent is seen as the notorious Cherry Malotte. Joel McCrea is the leading man.

Similar to his portrayals in "Condemned" and "All Quiet on the Western Front," Wolheim characterizes a pugnacious salmon-fishing worker who refuses to remove his derby before fighting and always emerges from the fisticuffs with it sadly battered. Raymond Hatton teams with him.

Closing tomorrow at the R.-K.-O. "East Is West."

Lew Cody to Officiate at Film Premiere

Lew Cody is to be master of ceremonies at the gala premiere of "Min and Bill" Thursday night at the Carthay Circle. Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery are the featured players.

Cody is making this appearance, it is said, in honor of the two principals of "Min and Bill," with whom he has been associated on stage and screen for several years.

"Min and Bill" was directed by George Hill and scenarized by Frances Marion. The picture was suggested by "Dark Star," the novel by the late Lorna Moon.

Gene Morgan on New Loew's Bill

Gene Morgan, who replaces Rube Wolf as the new Loew's State master of ceremonies starting Thursday, makes his home-coming bow to the house after a tour of eastern theaters.

Morgan opens his new engagement presiding over Fanchon and Marco's "Moonlight Revels" idea staged by Larry Ceballos. "Remote Control," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer screen attraction, also opens Thursday, William Haines, Mary Dolan, Charles King, Polly Morgan and Edward Nugent are the actors.

Mosconis Will Present Revue

The Million Dollar Theater is to be the scene of the premiere Thursday of a new revue act presented by the Mosconi Brothers.

"Bill Telaak's Revue" is the title of the tabloid feature which will include, in addition to Telaak, such Mosconi-trained dancers as Mary Dunn, Lucile Day, Maude Taylor and Mickey Green.

Oakie Stars in Next Paramount Theater Feature

"Sea Legs," starring Jack Oakie, will follow "Fast and Loose" into the Paramount Theater Thursday.

JACK OAKIE

Cast with Oakie in "Sea Legs" are Lillian Roth, Harry Green, Eugene Pallette and Albert Conti. Victor Heerman directed.

The film tells a story of a wise-cracking sailor who finds himself in the wrong navy. This is said to be the foundation for many comedy scenes.

With "Sea Legs," the Paramount will present a stage show. It is "Ole Virginny." Earl Abel will be at the organ, and Paramount sound news and a short comedy will close the bill.

Musicale Plans Indicate Event of Importance

Marking the opening of the seat sale for the autumn musicale to be staged Sunday at Shrine Auditorium under the auspices of the Los Angeles Central Committee of the Jewish National Fund, tickets were today placed on sale at all downtown theater ticket agencies and at the box-office of Shrine Auditorium.

Featuring three noted musicians, Mme. Sophie Braslau, Metropolitan Opera contralto; Mishel Piastro, American violinist and concert master of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, and Olga Steeb, foremost local pianist, it is indicated that the recital will be one of the most colorful and brilliant musical events of the season.

POPULAR ACTRESS SCORES IN DRAMA

Dorothy Burgess

The final two weeks of the engagement of "The Bird of Flame" at the Belasco Theater have been announced by the management. The final performance will be given Saturday night, the 29th inst.

Dorothy Burgess is starred in this drama of the South Seas. She is credited with presenting an outstanding performance as the primitive dancing girl. Others featured in the cast are Bramwell Fletcher and Robert Frazer.

"HER MAN" BOOKED AT ORPHEUM

Helen Twelvetrees Plays Leading Role in Picture Starting Saturday

Adventure in the slums of a notorious pleasure resort of the West Indies, describes "Her Man," which starts Saturday at the Orpheum Theater.

Announcement of the early closing of Amos 'n' Andy in "Check and Double Check," is expected to draw enthusiasts who have delayed seeing the initial screen comedy of the blackface radio idols.

Helen Twelvetrees, popular actress, plays the leading feminine role. Phillips Holmes has the name part as the sailor.

Long a stellar light of the stage, Marjorie Rambeau enacts the hardened and cynical hostess in a cabaret. Others in the cast are James Gleason, Ricardo Cortez and Franklin Pangborn.

Conceived from the song "Frankie and Johnny," the story of "Her Man" is an original by Tay Garnett and Howard Higgin. It was directed for Pathe by Garnett.

"Laughter" to Open Thursday in Hollywood

"Laughter" has been chosen as the new screen attraction to open at Pantages Hollywood Theater Thursday. The picture is said to offer Nancy Carroll ample opportunity to display her emotional capabilities, following her success in a dramatic role in "Devil's Holiday."

Frederic March, who is seen opposite Miss Carroll, is well suited to play the character of a young composer.

Harry D'Arrast directed the picture and also wrote the original screen play in collaboration with Douglas Doty. Others prominent in the cast include Frank Morgan, Glenn Anders and Diane Ellis.

"Espanola Idea," the new stage presentation, is described as the most ambitious Fanchon and Marco offering to appear on the Pantages stage. Harry Vernon is master of ceremonies.

Strange Noises Contribute to Play Thrills

Auditory thrills provided by hair-raising noises set new standards in chilling audiences at the Vine Street Theater, where "The Green Bottle" is now on view.

Along with enough shrieks, wails and groans for any outstanding stage thriller, "The Green Bottle" brings into full play all the detonating sensations of a battle front, it is reported. A staff exceeding the cast in numbers manipulates the sound equipment.

The drama opens in a house in Peking during the height of the Boxer uprising, with roaring cannon, rattling machine guns, jarring hand grenades and rifle and pistol shots providing an accompaniment. From the Orient the setting shifts to an isolated house on the California Coast. Here the wails of a dope-crazed woman, the detonations of firecrackers, wailing shoreline winds and other noises contribute to the mystery.

Lloyd Provides Film Humor for United's Patrons

Insight into the question, "what does the public want?" has been back of the success attained by Harold Lloyd. He has answered that problem, it is said, several times in the last ten years, and judging from the throngs viewing "Feet First," which today ends its first week at the United Artists Theater, he has done it again.

"Feet First" is the second talking picture made by the noted comedian. And like his silent picture success, "Safety Last," the new production is based on the comedy-thrill angle.

Lloyd's supporting cast includes Barbara Kent, Noah Young, Lillianne Leighton, Alec Francis and Robert McWade.

"Big Fight" to Start Friday

Three directors were engaged in the making of "The Big Fight," drama of the prize-ring and the underworld, which opens for its first downtown run Friday at the Majestic Theater. They were James Cruze, Walter Lang and Ralph Ince.

Featured in the cast are Lola Lane, Grunn Williams, Stepin Fetchit, Edna Bennett, Wheeler Oakman and James Eagle. Completing the Majestic program will be a comedy short, an Oswald Cartoon and a talking news.

Nick Stuart will be seen and heard for the last times Thursday in "The Fourth Alarm."

'Lady's Morals' Gets New Title

Announcement has been made by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer that "A Lady's Morals" has been retitled "Jenny Lind." This picture is scheduled to open at the Criterion Theater Thanksgiving Day.

The production features Grace Moore and Reginald Denny. The story is based on the life of Jenny Lind, noted Swedish Nightingale.

"Billy the Kid," the present attraction at the Criterion, closes on the 26th inst.

SANTLEY WRITES STORY

Joseph Santley has just completed the final draft of the story in which he will direct Helen Twelvetrees for Pathe studio.

Pacific Company President Announces Deal

Merger Embraces California Company, Ltd.

Complete Investment Service to Be Offered

Consolidation of the California Company, Ltd., with the Pacific Company was announced yesterday by F. S. Baer, president of the latter company. The combined organization which will operate under the name of the Pacific Company will constitute one of the largest and best-equipped investment banking institutions in the West. Complete facilities will be available for the origination, underwriting and wholesale and retail distribution of investment securities, and a stock-brokerage department will also be maintained.

The majority of the present personnel of both organizers will continue without change, it was stated. The head office of the company will be located in the present quarters of the Pacific Company in South Hope street. Branch offices of the California Company in Pasadena, San Diego, Riverside, Redlands and San Bernardino and of the Pacific Company in Long Beach will continue in the same locations.

RANK AS LEADERS

Both companies in the merger have held a leading place in the financial activities of California for a number of years. In the past decade the California Company has distributed at retail upward of $125,000,000 in investment securities composed of outstanding eastern and Pacific Coast offerings and has handled the financing of many public enterprises as well as industrial and building companies throughout California.

"This merger," stated W. G. Kollock, president of the California Company, "is in line with the present trend throughout all business and industry toward large-scale operations with higher efficiency. The consolidation of these two strong organizations will mean greatly increased facilities and more complete and efficient service to our clients and the investing public.

STAFFS RETAINED

"At the same time, the maintenance of the majority of our present personnel intact will mean no break whatsoever in the close personal relationship which exists between our organization and clients throughout all Southern California, a relationship which has been built up over a long period of personal service."

Officers and directors of the Pacific Company include a widely known group of Southern California business men and financiers. They are as follows: Lee A. Phillips, chairman of the board; F. S. Baer, president; W. A. Marshall, vice-president; Fred S. Baker, vice-president; H. G. Martin, vice-president; W. Watson Laforce, vice-president and secretary, and S. J. Fox, treasurer and assistant secretary. Directors: F. S. Albertson, F. S. Baer, F. J. Belcher, Jr., George I. Cochran, L. L. Elliott, Stuart S. Hawley, Preston Hotchkis, Robert E. Hunter, Dana Latham, Reese Llewellyn, W. A. Marshall, John B. Miller, B. F. Nysewander, Jr., Stuart O'Melveny, Lee A. Phillips and Ford J. Twaits.

Net of Pacific Gas Utility in Moderate Gain

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—An increase of $240,951 in net earnings of Pacific Gas and Electric Company is reported for the nine months ended September 30, after all charges. These earnings include operations of Great Western Power, San Joaquin Light and Power and Midland Counties Public Service from June 12, last, when these properties were acquired.

The balance of $11,002,777 available for dividends on the common stock is equivalent to $2.41 per share on the average number of shares outstanding during the nine months' period.

Gross income, including other income, aggregated $56,346,113 during the period, which is $7,640,534 over the corresponding months of last year. After deduction of $24,756,665 for maintenance, operating expenses, taxes (including Federal income tax,) rentals and reserves for casualties and uncollectible accounts, there remained net income of $31,589,448, or $6,444,283 in excess of the figure reported for the same period of 1929.

"Bargain Counter" Values

Securities of many leading American companies are undoubtedly selling at "bargain counter" prices.

Investors may take advantage of the present market situation by investing in Nation-Wide Trust Certificates. This cross-section investment provides desirable comparative advantages such as substitution powers, sources of income, average appreciation, etc.

Report of Acceptance Council Says Total Up to Near 1929 Figure

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—The dollar volume of bankers' acceptances increased $141,509,569 in October to a total of $1,508,243,726 at the end of the month, the American Acceptance Council reported today.

The gain brought the total volume to within $32,494,397 of the October record set in 1929 "and is a remarkably high total considering the steady drop in commodity prices during 1930 and the very heavy decline in the country's foreign trade," Robert H. Bean, secretary of the council, said.

"There is unmistakable evidence in this great total," he reported, "that bankers' acceptances are now financing a larger volume of goods at this season than in any previous year and very nearly matching the volume financed at the peak of the season in December, 1929.

"There is particular interest in the gain of $43,000,000 in export acceptances as indicating an improvement in our national exports. Up to this month, export acceptances have shown very slight gains during the normal exporting months for cotton and grains and while the present total is $72,000,000 below the volume of October, 1929, there is not an indication that these commodities are moving overseas in considerable quantity."

The greatest gain in the current survey was shown in domestic warehouse credits, which increased nearly $61,000,000 to $234,989,000, or $15,000,000 more than a year ago. This was described as a natural gain for this type of acceptance business in October.

Power Utility Lien Issue Sold

One year 4 1-2 per cent gold notes of Green Mountain Power Corporation, which is controlled by People's Light and Power Corporation, a subsidiary of Tri-Utilities Corporation, have been sold in the amount of $1,500,000 by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc., Coffin & Burr Inc., and Janney & Co.

These notes, dated December 1, 1930, will be direct obligations of Green Mountain Power Corporation, which through its operating subsidiaries, supplies electric light and power for domestic and industrial purposes to numerous cities and communities in the north central part of Vermont.

INVESTMENT BANKER RETURNS FROM EAST

Robert Moore, president of Moore-Hull & Ivans, investment bankers, on his return to Los Angeles from a month's visit in New York yesterday, declared that although the effects of the business depression remain, its causes have been eradicated in the opinion of dominant factors in the securities market. The larger, constructive forces which had the markets in hand in 1920 and other like periods were almost uniformly of the opinion that the causes of the present depression had been eliminated and were active accumulators of the better issues of common stocks, he said.

MINING COMPANY IN EXTRA DISTRIBUTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. — Great Northern Iron Ore Properties today declared a semiannual distribution of $1, placing the certificates of beneficial interest on a regular $2 annual basis and an extra distribution of 50 cents, both payable December 29 to stock of record, December 5, next. The distribution for 1930 will total $2.25 per certificate, including 75 cents paid in April and $1.50 to be paid in December. In 1929 distribution amounted to $3.25 per certificate.

BROKERAGE HOUSE PROMOTES OFFICERS

W. Murray Hawkins, former resident manager of the San Diego office has been appointed resident manager of the Los Angeles office of De Fremery & Co., and Hal W. Forsey, associated with the company for many years, has been appointed sales manager of the Los Angeles office. Joseph Eichwald, general manager at San Francisco, the head office, was formerly resident manager in Los Angeles.

COAST UTILITIES STAND OUT

Pacific Gas and Edison to Turn Out Strong 1930 Statements; Former to Earn About $3

BY EARLE E. CROWE

California's two largest public utilities, the Pacific Gas and Electric and the Southern California Edison, will turn out 1930 financial statements that will stand out as white spots on the nation's public utility map.

Reporting yesterday for the first nine months of the year, Pacific Gas disclosed net and gross earnings running at a rate to insure the establishment of new records for the full twelve months. At this nine months' rate, this public utility will probably report net income available for common dividends of approximately $13,753,471, or an increase of 15 per cent over 1929.

SHARES INCREASED

Earnings available for the common stock, on the basis of the nine months' results, will run about $3 a share on the average number of shares outstanding in the first nine months. This amount would compare with $3.52 earned on the average outstanding in 1929.

Since the close of last year, however, Pacific Gas has substantially increased its common stock through the purchase of the Western Power Corporation and other properties. Outstanding common now totals 5,691,426 shares, compared with 3,821,398 at the end of 1929.

While a considerable portion of the anticipated increase for Pacific Gas will be due to the acquisition of new properties, the company has not yet had time to obtain the full benefits from consolidated operation. The nine months' earnings of $2.41 on the average number of common shares only include revenue from the new properties since June 12, last.

More accurate as an index of public utility operations on the Pacific Coast are the earnings of Southern California Edison, in which the question of new properties and increased shares does not enter. John B. Miller, chairman, recently estimated that Edison 1930 profits would equal the $3.44 reported for 1929.

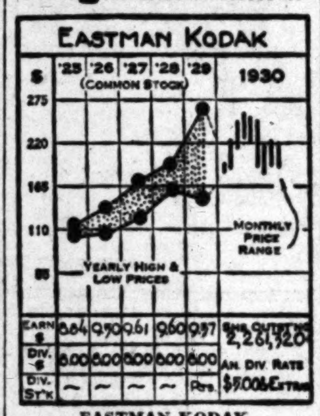
TREND UPWARD

In the first nine months, Edison earned $2.62 on the common after estimated depreciation, which leaves 82 cents to earn in the fourth quarter in order to equal the 1929 profits. As a matter of fact, the prospects point to a higher figure for the fourth quarter as the result of increased use of hydroelectric power and improved demand.

Edison's gross for 1930 is expected to total approximately $41,000,000, as compared with $31,000,000 for the nine months. Gross is running about 3 per cent ahead of 1929.

Normally the Pacific Gas and Electric gross revenues run ahead of the Edison business, and since the recent absorption of the San Joaquin and Great Western properties the margin will be still higher. The Pacific Gas for 1930 should show better than $70,000,000.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



EASTMAN KODAK

This large company has long been known as the leading factor in the manufacture of cameras and photographic supplies, and in recent years has greatly extended its operations into the production of many new products which an exceptionally able research department has developed. The Cine-Kodak, for amateur motion-picture taking; the Recordak, a device for photographing checks; the Kadascope, the salesman's picture projector, and Kodacolor film are among the more important and recent of these new products that have met wide public acceptance. A newly formed subsidiary will take over the gelatine business of the American Glue Company, recently purchased.

Net income for 1929 amounted to $22,004,915, equal to $9.57 per share on the 2,261,320 shares, compared with $20,110,440, or $9.60 per share on 2,056,219 shares in 1928. Although 1930 sales of the higher-priced lines have been adversely affected by the current business depression, demand for many of the standard products has continued in good volume. Interim earnings are not available.

This compares with net profits of $14,514,628, or $5.23 per share on 2,627,405 shares of common stock in the previous year.

Harry M. Warner, president, pointed out that while the per share earnings are figured on the total shares now outstanding, the full benefits from various properties acquired through the issuance of funded indebtedness and common stock were not enjoyed during the past fiscal year.

CONDITION OF KINNER AERO TOLD

Report of Nine Months Sets Operating Deficit at $101,313

Depletion of surplus motors in the hands of airplane manufacturers and the large proportion of business Kinner Airplane and Motor Corporation obtains in the horsepower class of its engines, will place the company in an enviable position on any revival of trade, Robert Porter, president, stated yesterday coincident with a report of operations for the first nine months this year.

Operations for the nine months ended September 30, resulted in a deficit of $101,313 after depreciation and taxes, against a net operating deficit of $2244 for the same period a year ago. Including operation loss carried over from last year, the company had a total deficit as of September 30, of $140,877.

Current assets, including inventories at cost, amounted to $620,902 against current liabilities of $124,277. Book value is computed at 93 cents a share on 1,999,338 capital shares against $1.01 a year ago on 1,946,159.

A recent report of the United States Department of Commerce shows that of the total sales to date this year of 700 planes using engines in the Kinner class, 344 or 49 per cent were Kinner powered. The report stated that there were eight manufacturers of engines in the Kinner class.

Stockholders have been advised to deposit their shares with the Security-First National Bank for conversion into the new $10 par stock, the exchange being on the basis of one new share for each ten old shares of $1 par now held.

MANGANESE DUTY FIGHT ON

American Producers' Petition for Embargo on Soviet Importation Held Opening Gun

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—When the American Manganese Producers' Association filed its latest petition with the Treasury Department for an embargo on the importation of Russian manganese, it showed that there is a fight on between this association and the American Iron and Steel Institute, upon the question of allowing Russian manganese to enter the United States.

The American Manganese Producers' Association wants the importation of manganese stopped. The powerful Iron and Steel Institute wants it continued. The association declares there has been an understanding between soviet Russia and the American Iron and Steel Institute, which, according to the association's petition, is "stifling the development of domestic manganese."

Russian steel production in the past four years, says the association, has increased 170 per cent. In a few years soviet Russia will be the big competitor of American steel in the world market. Then the United States still will face exactly the same situation in regard to "soviet dumping" of steel as American manganese producers face today.

By a strict enforcement of the Antidumping Act the association declares the United States will assist materially in solving a serious problem. It contends that it costs $23.75 to deliver a ton of manganese ore from Russia to the United States ports, without the tariff duty, but that this ore is now being sold at $12.50 per ton, in order to break down the American industry.

Thomas J. Doherty of the American Iron and Steel Institute, thinks that Russian manganese is necessary to make ferro-manganese and that American manganese cannot do it. But the American Manganese Association denies this contention of Mr. Doherty. So there you are!

Perhaps the whole Russian-American policy will be centered around the problem of manganese. The problem of the future policy is an important one for American business.

John Maynard Keynes, British economist, went afoul of orthodox British opinion five years ago by suggesting that Great Britain should make no effort to bring the pound sterling back to par ($4.875,) but rather should stabilize it at the then prevailing level, about 25 per cent under par.

Recently, in a letter to this column, one economist, commenting on the Keynes episode, says:

"Incidentally, some years ago a very acute thinker in England by the name of Keynes pointed out exactly what would be the necessary and inevitable results of that bright inspiration of 'bringing the pound back to par.' His predictions have since been vindicated by coming true 100 per cent, to the

TONE ON COPPER MARKET BETTER

First Advance in Price Since April Cheers

Prospects of World Pact to Curtail Basis

Lead and Zinc Unchanged on Moderate Sales

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
Editor, the Mining Journal, Phoenix

Excitement and hopeful optimism has come as a result of the turn in the copper market, the first price advance since April, 1929, and the turn from the steady drop since April 15, 1930, when the price was 18 cents, then dropped in one jump to 14 and then steadily down to 9½ cents f.o.b. Connecticut Valley points. The price now stands at 10½ cents bid with every prospect that it will be but a very short time at that level and will proceed upward a little, as almost no metal is available even at the new price.

The lead and zinc market have also been reasonably active, but with no price movements of the past week. An increase in the lead price is amply justified, but it remains at 5.10 f.o.b. New York. Zinc has maintained its advance of several weeks ago mainly through the ability of the sellers to keep it there rather than any fundamental market conditions. Zinc remains at 4.37 f.o.b. St. Louis.

The change in the copper situation has come about because of probable world curtailment program totaling 20,000 tons monthly. Representatives of African copper companies have been in this country seeking a curtailment agreement provided it would be worldwide. Inasmuch as Africa and Canada had been the holdouts on a curtailment program and the announcement came that Canada had reduced output 25 per cent, it was evident that an agreement could be reached.

The African representatives, it is stated, crystallized the situation by offering to curtail output between 35 and 40 per cent from their high point of around 16,000 tons a month.

The conclusion that 20,000 tons a month curtailment would deal with the situation was said to have been based on figures of the American Bureau of Metal Statistics, which show an average increase in refined stocks of around 18,500 tons during the past nine months and of 12,000 tons a month in the last five months.

The reports said because of a feeling no agreement to reduce production can be made by producers that will not conflict with the Sherman antitrust law, no agreement to curtail has yet been made, but that simply an understanding has been reached that such curtailment is essential for the good of the industry.

RUSH OF COPPER BUYING

With the announcement of curtailing to a point where surplus stocks would be promptly reduced, there came a rush of buying to further build up plant stocks. A large quantity of metal was sold at 10 cents, but the orders were far in excess of that which the producers were willing to sell and many bids of 10 to 10½ cents went begging for lack of takers, thus indicating further advances in price.

The consumers, of course, are only trying to average up the price levels of the metal they have on hand as they have been buying all the way down from 14 cents and practically all domestic consumers have their actual requirements covered for several months ahead. They are not buying now because they need copper, but because it is probably cheaper now than it will be in a few months.

Thus the buying is to be extremely active on the start of the price advance, but it has no reason to maintain, for domestic consumers could lay off the market for three months and still not endanger their supplies. Hence they will undoubtedly test the ability of the producers to hold the price advances and the test will be made a severe one if the attempt is made to advance the price rapidly.

EUROPEAN BUYERS DISTURBED

This is not the situation, however, with foreign consumers. They have not been allowed to buy all the metal desired, they have not bought ahead and during the past several weeks have been trying hard to get larger quantities, so that a reasonably steady demand should come from abroad which will provide some buying activity while domestic consumers are testing the market.

European buyers have been very perturbed because they have not been given the same opportunities for buying as have the American consumers and they never have liked the way export copper has been marketed in recent years. A part of their present difficulty is due to the fact that they have deliberately starved themselves for metal to avoid buying from American exporters.

Production figures for October were better than they have been for several months, particularly when it is considered that October is a thirty-one-day month. Stocks of blister and refined copper in North and South America increased during October to 605,075 tons as of October 31, compared with 597,114 tons at the end of September. United States production in October totaled 55,804 tons, against 56,584 in September. Production by smelters in North America totaled 84,395 tons in October, against 85,580 in September and 84,560 in August.

There is a proposal to form another copper pool similar to the plan successfully used in 1921. At that time 200,000 tons of copper was pooled and was carried by the selling of $40,000,000 Copper Export Association bonds. One-third of the total export sales were taken from the pooled metal and the balance from current stocks and in this manner the excessive stocks were liquidated over a period of several years. While the surplus was probably not much larger then than it is now, there is a very large part of the present surplus sold, but not delivered. There is little real difference, as surplus is surplus, whether it is held by the producer or consumer.

great discomfiture of that country.

"At that time, Mr. Keynes's views were belittled by various gentry here and abroad as being 'merely academic.' If they have learned anything from subsequent history, one would suppose that their present secret prayer would be, 'Lord, make me worthy to black Mr. Keynes's boots.'"

And my economist friend is not an inflationist either!

The telephone activities of Theodore Gary of Kansas City cover the world. Because of his vast connections, I asked him this question:

"Can there be a general recovery of business until the price level is stabilized, not only in the United States but throughout the world?"

Mr. Gary replied: "No, in my opinion, there will be no general recovery until the world price situation is corrected."

Then I asked this question: "What should be done to alleviate still further the unemployment distress? Do you favor any unemployment plan supported by industry and supervised by the State? Would a five-day week, or a shorter one, help?"

"In my opinion," Mr. Gary said, "a five-day week, or even a shorter one, would materially aid the unemployment condition."

Then I asked this question: "Would a modification of antitrust laws be of especial value now?"

Mr. Gary's reply was significant. It showed that some of the larger business leaders are beginning to modify their views upon this question—views which were so popular a short time ago.

"I do not believe that any modification of the antitrust laws would be of any value at this time. There is too much centralization now. What is needed, in my opinion, is more conscience by the owners of big businesses."

MEETING POSTPONED

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Meeting of the board of Calumet and Arizona Mining Company scheduled for tomorrow has been postponed to the 25th inst., due to lack of a quorum.

Sales Total of Broadway, Inc., Shown for Year

Sales of Broadway Department Store, Inc., for its fiscal year closed October 31, last, amounted to $18,532,225, against $18,983,872 for the preceding year, a decrease of $451,647 or 2.38 per cent, the company reported yesterday.

Sales of principal department stores in the Los Angeles area for the first ten months of the current calendar year declined 6.2 per cent from the similar 1929 period according to the Federal Reserve Bank compilation. Broadway's sales for the same period showed a decrease of 3.7 per cent, the company stated.

This comparatively favorable result was attributed by officials of the company to a volume of business in the summer sales period that was in excess of that in the summer of 1929. Additions, betterments and remodeling of the store last year aided the increased turnover, it was stated. While an audited statement of earnings is not expected to be issued for about a month, officials believe operating results have been favorably influenced by expense reductions and improved inventory conditions.

NATIONAL THRIFT ADDS NEW OFFICES

Branch offices of the National Thrift Corporation of America have been opened in Nashville, Tenn., Jackson, Miss., Little Rock, Ark., and Dallas, Tex., R. E. Trapp, general agent of the company, announced yesterday following his return from a trip to the South. Mr. Trapp reported that there has been a decided increase in the company's business as a result of the change on the part of the American investor from speculation to conservative investment.

CHEMICAL CONCERN PLANS EXPANSION

Consolidated Chemical Industries, Inc., reputed to be the largest manufacturer of basic commodities for the oil and sugar refining industry, has planned to expand its manufacturing activities at Buenos Aires, officials announced yesterday. The plant, which was completed this year, is operating at capacity.

A FINANCIAL authority recently said, "A fixed investment trust is one of the few enterprises in which reasonably definite forecasts of the future can be made based on the facts of experience."

While we believe there is much truth in the above statement we feel it unnecessary to make forecasts. We do, however, submit important figures from the past, and leave forecasts to the reader.

Corporate Trust Shares derive their security and earnings from the stocks of 28 leading American companies, carefully selected for strength, demonstrated earning power and outlook. They represent American industry at its best. The appended table shows what these stocks have actually produced and what the results would have been under the Corporate Trust plan had these shares been in existence during this 17 year period. There is every reason to believe that Corporate Trust Shares purchased today will be an increasingly satisfactory investment.

Transamerica, Hard Hit in Bear Attack, Drops to New Bottom on Flood of Sales

Professional operators for the decline once more concentrated their forces for a massed attack on Transamerica as the week's trading was resumed yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Sales of the stock exceeded the combined operations of all other issues on the board and under pressure of liquidation a new bottom was established at 14⅝, off 1⅝ from Saturday's close.

Rapid trading activities were centered on the Giannini issue from the opening, following an initial wave of selling in New York where the day's turnover totaled 55,700 shares. Nearly 35,000 shares were sold on the San Francisco market, and on the local exchange, more than 21,000. The opening was at 16 3-8, the decline being practically steady to the new bottom hit in the afternoon. Final sales crossed the board at 15.

The balance of the market was unaffected by the selling of Transamerica and, in general, closed at or very near Saturday's levels on a moderate and orderly turnover. Union Oil, Union Associates, Southern California Edison and Rio Grande Oil accounted for the bulk of the balance of the trading. Edison firmed up 1-8 to 46 3-4, while the oils each lost 3-8, Union Oil closing at 27 1-8, Union Associates at 26, and Rio Grande at 8 3-4. Standard of California held firm to 50 5-8, and Richfield remained at 6. Bolsa Chica advanced 1-2 to 10 1-2, while Macmillan held to 5.

Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, which has not been traded for some time, attracted attention when a transfer of twenty-one shares broke the issue 25 points to 405. No changes occurred in the other bank stocks.

Pacific Mutual Life Insurance reacted a point to 64 on light sales and Pacific Gas and Electric sold down 3-4 to a new bottom at 47.

Aero Corporation of California, which has not been traded since last March, was sold to the extent of 1000 shares at $1. Sales in March were for $3. No other changes of significance were recorded.

Sales totaled 32,108 shares, valued at $638,188; previous day, 9201 shares, valued at $200,934.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Receipts for the week's opening session were somewhat under 2000 head and medium to good steers and she stock were in larger supply than has been the rule lately. Trade was very active at prices strong to 25c higher, practically all killing classes sharing the advance excepting low grade cows, which were rather scarce. California, the intermountain States and Arizona were the largest contributors in receipts, with a few loads of steers from Texas.

A few head of good to choice 1207-pound California fed steers sold up to 8.75 with load top standing at 8.50, paid for 1034-pound Utahs. Bulk of the good steers averaged under 1150 pounds and cashed at 8.00@8.40. Arizona and Imperial Mexican steers scored 6.85 to 7.25, with four cars of light Texas steers to killers at 6.50. A load of stags sold down to 6.00. Feeder buyers took several lots of yearling steers at 7.25@7.75 and several loads of Arizona feeders of mixed ages sold at 6.25.

Two loads of fairly good Utah and Montana heifers brought 7.25, with plainer kinds at 5.50@6.50. A load of good 1094-pound intermountain cows topped at 6.50 with several loads of fairly good kinds at 6.00@6.35. Bulk of common to medium cows brought 4.50@5.75, with a number of loads selling around the 5.50 mark. Low cutters and cutters sold largely at 3.00@4.25 and odd head down to 2.50. Yearling bulls brought 6.25@7.00, with good weighty butcher bulls at 5.60@6.00 and medium kinds at 4.00@5.00.

CALVES—While supplies of calves were not as heavy as a week ago, trade was not very active and some offerings were unsold late. Prices, however, held about steady. A few loads of medium vealers brought 9.50@11.50, with odd head at considerably more money. Southwestern calves went to killers at 7.50@8.75, with stockers at 7.00@8.50.

HOGS—Trade was rather slow and it was after midsession before the nine loads of butchers were disposed of. Prices were 10@25c lower on butchers, while packing sows were around 25c higher than late last week. A load of 189-pound Nebraskas with freight benefit went to an outsider at 10.25, with practical top standing at 10.15, paid for two loads of 182 to 198-pound easterns. Five loads of 141 to 184-pound weights brought 9.85@10.10 and a load of 244-pound trucked-in hogs brought 9.15, with other heavies up to 288 pounds selling at 9.25. Packing sows ranged from 8.00@9.00.

SHEEP—Lambs offered were rather weighty for the local trade and while early asking prices were fully steady, sales were finally made on a 25c@35c lower basis, with choice light lambs quoted to around 7.75. Two decks of medium 78-pound Utah lambs brought 6.60 and two decks of 99-pound Californias were taken at 6.40. Two decks of fairly good 124-pound Utah ewes were about steady at 3.60.

Wheat Boosted by Farm Board Allied Groups

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Climbing up in lively fashion as much as 3⅝c a bushel, the Chicago wheat market today closed with most of the gains tightly held. The rise was attributed to extensive new purchasing operations by the United States Farm Board allies and to a statement from leading Canadian banks the Canadian growers' pool would not be compelled to sell out on a depressed market.

Estimates were current government-sponsored agencies in the United States have acquired ownership of more than 30,000,000 bushels of future deliveries of wheat, and there were authoritative statements that further purchases of like character might be expected if necessary to sustain the domestic wheat price level.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous, ⅝@3⅝c a bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1⅛@1¾c up, oats showing ½@1⅛c advance and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 20c.

Corn and oats borrowed strength from the action of wheat.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to the upward trend of hog values and of grain.

FINANCIAL storms, panics and depressions have come and gone, but the 28 great industrial Gibraltars whose common stocks underlie —have always emerged stronger than before. Today these outstanding corporations have an average age of 58 years and an average unbroken dividend record of 33 years. Their assets exceed $23,000,000,000 and their surplus totals over $5,890,000,00.

Buy a block of C. T. S. at present "panic" prices. Hold it for the future. A reserve fund protects a minimum distribution of over 9% on today's price—without considering even greater future income possibilities. Where else can you obtain such security and income

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—The curb market sank back in quiet trading today, losing much of the gains of Friday and Saturday. The transactions aggregating 514,200 shares were the smallest for a full day's session in two weeks.

The reaction was regarded as primarily technical. Profit-taking by in-and-out traders was in substantial volume.

Electric Bond and Share lost 2¾ points in a large turnover, but American Superpower moved up a fraction, in contrast to the general trend elsewhere. American Gas dropped back 6 points, losing about one-third of last week's gains. Northern States "A" gained 5.

Coppers reacted substantially, as dealers quoted the red metal at 11½ cents, after last week's high of 12. Noranda lost 2 and Newmont 3 points. In the oils, Standard of Kentucky lost more than 2 points. Gulf, Vacuum and Humble lost nearly as much. Cities Service and Indiana reacted about a point.

In the industrials, a few lightly traded issues moved higher. Columbia Pictures advanced 2 points. American Cyanamid "B," Ford of Canada "A" and General Aviation declined 1 to 1½. Goldman-Sachs Trading slipped back ¾.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

points. American Smelting was the largest loser.

The strength of the general credit position kept Wall street from being alarmed by the flurry of bank closings in Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas. The difficulties of these institutions, it appeared, had been caused by public nervousness that had its origin in the insolvency of a southern banking house.

The foreign trade figures for October were not particularly stimulating. Exports last month, valued at $328,000,000, were only $10,000,000 above September, whereas the normal seasonal gain is five or six times that amount. The total valuation was the smallest for an October in sixteen years. Imports, up $21,000,000 to $248,000,000, showed the smallest aggregate since 1921. The balance in this country's favor was $80,000,000, but in October, 1929, it was $137,000,000.

All classifications of stocks participated in the day's declines, utilities comprised the weakest group. Amusements displayed considerable stability and rallied for a time but sagged late and closed slightly off.

The many shares down 3 points or more included United States Steel, American Can, North American and Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone, Atchison and Western Union lost 4, while General Electric, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, National Biscuit and Johns-Manville closed 2 points lower. Larger losses were Case, off 5; Eastman Kodak, 6; Ingersoll Rand, 7; Allied Chemical, 8, and National Lead, 9. Transamerica touched a new low.

Foreign exchanges were irregular, featured by a break of about one-third of a cent in the Spanish peseta, which was affected by disturbances in Spain.

OIL NEWS

BY PORTER FLINT

Drilling operations in the Kett[leman] Hills field are on the upt[rend] at present rate indications the number of projects acti[ve] will equal the list active three domes more than a ye[ar] before the operators agreed [di]strict work to aid the State-wi[de] curtailment program.

Three new wells spudded in wit[hin] the last week. The Standard C[ompany's] No. 34, the Superior C[ompany's] Huffman No. 2, both [in] 29, 21-17, and the Associat[ed] Company's Whepley No. 2 [in] 35, 21-17, are now making pro[gress] with the drill. Standard's an[d Su]perior's projects are offsets [to] Huffman No. 1, so far the reco[rd pro]ducer located on the northwes[t] flank of the north dome, whi[le Asso]ciated's Whepley No. 2 is on th[e] easterly edge of Sec. 35, and offse[ts] Shell Oil Company's Dixon N[o.] drilling below 6370 feet.

For the next three months mo[st of] the attention is expected to [be fo]cused on Standard's No. 65 an[d] Petroleum Securities Felix No. [1,] of which are now drilling [in] gray sand, the productive for[ma]tion at Kettleman Hills. Bot[h pro]jects are below 7200 feet an[d] will probably be drilled to [about] 8300 feet before a productio[n test] is attempted.

With fourteen active drilling wel[ls at] Kettleman Hills, that numbe[r will] soon increase as the Richfiel[d] Company is rigging up Signa[l] 1 on Sec. 36, 21-17, and Stand[ard's] No. 85 has location graded an[d] rick equipment is on the groun[d.] Continental, Pacific West[ern,] Milham, are the other majo[r com]panies drilling on the north[...] and new projects are expect[ed] to be started by North American [and] the Midland Exploration Com[pany.] With the exception of Conti[nent]al's Elliott No. 12-8, all othe[r] wells are located on fe[e land.] Continental was permitted t[o] operations several months ag[o by] Secretary of the Interior Lyma[n Wil]bur, since its government per[mit] is said to be in danger of bein[g] drained by offsetting producers.

[To] Deepen

Although its project is thought t[o] extended the present bound[aries of] the Elwood field, the Barnsdall-[Rio] Grande combination intends t[o] deepen Doty No. 7 due northwest o[f] field and endeavor to develop [...] production. The operator's No. 7 recently completed fo[r] 100 barrels of 33.5-deg. grav[ity] oil per day from a depth of 3480 [...] having been plugged back from [...] feet. Derrick is up for the op[era]tor's Bishop-Evans No. 1, adjoin[ing] the Doty lease.

[Dri]lling Progress

The Standard Oil Company's Al[...] No. 1 at Devil's Den is drilling [belo]w 1120 feet in sand and shale. [The] project will be a thorough deep [test] of one of the oldest producing [distr]icts in the State. Standard [and] Richfield control much of the [acre]age at Devil's Den. Richfield [does] not intend to make a test at [pres]ent, choosing to await result[s ob]tained in the initial undertaking. [Dee]p tests in the Devil's Den area [may] prove of interest if they should [dev]elop anything in the way of oil showings, as the district is on [a] direct line with the North Bel[ridge] district where the Belridge Oil [Com]pany brought in a deep pro[ducer] and where Richfield's No. 1 is [ce]menting preparatory to landing a [strin]g of casing with bottom of the [shoe] below 5800 feet.

[Dr]illing Down

Steady progress is being made by [the] General Petroleum Corpora[tion']s Erburu No. 8, nine miles west [of] the Elwood field. General's Er[bu]ru No. 8, first deep test for that [are]a, is drilling below 3120 feet in a shale formation without oil showings. The operator passed the shallow oil sand in favor of [a de]ep test since its seven produc[ers] developed oil at depths of about [...] feet and are now shut in.

On the More ranch near Goleta, General's More No. 3 is drilling be[low] 2945 feet and is asserted to be [too] shallow to encounter first oil showings that were found in [Mo]re No. 1 and No. 2.

[Ri]gging Rotary

The Taylor Oil Company is rig[ging] rotary for No. 1 wildcat to be drilled near the intersection of [Ov]erland and Franklin avenues, [nea]r Culver City. This project is [en]deavoring to develop an entirely [new] oil field or possibly an extension [of] the Baldwin Hills field. In the general vicinity the Olympic [Oil] and Realty Company's No. 1 on [Wa]shington Boulevard near Purdue [ave]nue is drilling below 4530 feet.

[Sign]ing Up

Nearly eighty operators in the [Ven]ice field have signed the cur[tail]ment agreement being circulated [by] the special committee appointed [a w]eek ago to secure their signa[tur]es. About 80 per cent of the [fiel]d's production is said to be [sign]ed up. Umpire Neil H. Ander[son] is encouraging the operators at [Ven]ice to bean down their produc[tion] to a minimum to enable the [fiel]d to put out about 20,000 barrels [...]. The curtailment program is [expe]cted to be 100 per cent opera[tive] by the end of the current week.

[Fe]w Declines

Two of the Los Angeles basin [fiel]ds recorded declines in oil fields [over] the week-end. The Signal Hill field's daily production dropped [to] 97,500 barrels, after soaring to [mor]e than 100,000 barrels daily with[in] the past week, due to good com[pleti]ons in the extreme southeast[ern] portion of the field and in Los [Cer]ritos.

At Venice, the daily yield dropped approximately 35,000 barrels of [oil] in the face of a dozen new com[ple]tions within the past week. Yes[ter]day, one new well was brought in. [Th]e Treasure Oil Company's No. 1 [com]pleted for an initial flow of 1800 [barr]els daily.

Chalk Pictures For Club

[Car]icatures in chalk, similar to [tho]se made by the small boy on [fen]ces, have been placed on the [int]erior walls of the "Do Drop [Inn,]" one of the noted night clubs [of] Paris. Some of the work is by [pro]minent artists. The club has [bee]n a favorite place for students [fro]m all over the world.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—The bond market remained under the spell of stocks today. The quiet firmness of last week which netted the best gains in many weeks gave way to irregularity as stocks turned reactionary in one of the dullest sessions of autumn.

The volume of trading dwindled to $7,332,000 par value, which was a third less than the turnover in the latter part of last week when bonds moved upward. The average for thirty bonds declined 2-10th of a point after holding an upward trend for three days.

The unsettling reports from both South America and Europe in recent days influenced some selling and gave a heavy tone to the foreign list. The one bright spot was the Treasury group, reflecting the easy tone of the money market all Liberty and Treasury issues that were active advanced. Many of the governments duplicated their peak prices of the year.

American and Foreign Power 5s, Anglo-Chilean Nitrate 7s, Atchison adjustment 5s and International Telephone 5s were under pressure.

There was a good inquiry for Shell Pipe Line 5s.

Pressure against German bonds was felt most by the International 5½s which reacted 1¼ points to 71⅛, a new low. The Latin-Americans were lower.

Offerings for the day totaled $43,000,000, the largest for a single day in several weeks.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—The strongest session in many weeks occurred in the outside market for crude rubber today. Prices were bid up actively in all grades and contracts. In the case of ribbed smoked sheets the gain amounted to ½c, making the closing price 9½c, or the highest level in recent month. There was little market news to account for the brisk upturn in prices. London stocks were up 880 tons, about as expected.

PASADENA, Nov. 17. (Exclusive) Wilbert Morgrage, 60 years of age, for several years chairman of the Los Angeles Horse Show committee, and prominent as an attorney in Los Angeles for twenty-five years, died tonight in his home, 284 Madeline Drive, following a six months' illness.

Funeral arrangements will be made tomorrow under direction of Turner and Stevens Company.

Mr. Morgrage was president of the Flintridge Riding Club and had been active in his law business and outdoor social life here and in Los Angeles until his health failed. He succumbed to heart disease.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Louise Morgrage, and a daughter, Mrs. John Frost.

Electric Power Remaking World City Club Told

Dr. Carl D. Thompson, secretary of the Public Ownership League of America, was the speaker at the City Club yesterday at a luncheon program sponsored by the Municipal League.

Dr. Thompson, who is in California to further the interests of the Public Ownership League of California, will speak this morning before the Long Beach Breakfast Club and next Friday evening will give an address at Central Labor Council. He will appear at the City Club again on the evening of December 4.

Declaring that this country is on the verge of "a great industrial revolution, brought about by inventors and engineers," Dr. Thompson told his audience that electric power is remaking our civilization.

"Our prosperity in future depends largely upon the use and control of electricity," said the speaker. "If the people do not own and operate their public utilities the private companies will own America."

Separate Trial Won by Ells in 'Dimes' Murder

Winning his plea for a separate trial, Emeory Ells yesterday was ordered to appear before Superior Judge McComb on December 22, next, for trial for the murder of Mrs. Merle Ells on the 2nd inst. The ruling was made in Department Twenty-seven of Superior Court. The trial of Benjamin Brown, asserted accomplice of Ells, is set for the same date.

Ells is charged with promising Brown $2000 to execute his divorced wife so that he could gain custody of his 18-months-old baby. Police assert Brown has confessed the shooting, implicating Ells, and asserting that the latter gave him $1.30 in dimes as a down payment for the crime.

Ells was accorded a separate trial because Brown has pleaded insanity as a defense.

Mary Mooney, Pioneer Resident and Writer, Dies

Mary E. Mooney, sister-in-law of Richard Garvey, San Gabriel Valley pioneer, and herself a resident of this section for forty-five years, died of heart disease last night at the Garvey residence, 2302 West Ninth street. Miss Mooney had made her home with the Garveys for many years.

Born in Cleveland sixty-nine years ago, she came to California in 1885 to visit her sister at the Garvey ranch, and then decided to settle here. She devoted most of her time to writing and historical research and was a member of the Los Angeles Historical Society, the Verse Writers' Club and the Garvey Women's Club.

She leaves only her brother-in-law and her nephew, Richard Garvey, Jr. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at her late residence.

Crash Victim May Succumb

Miss Darlene Reeves, 30 years of age, was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital in a dying condition last night as the result of injuries received when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another at the intersection of One Hundred Fourteenth and Main streets. Miss Reeves was riding as a passenger with Nelson Mann, 1735 West Sixth street, and the driver of the other car was Kenneth Hill, 310 Acasia street.

Patrolman Sims of the Seventy-seventh-street police station after an investigation of the accident said that neither driver will be held.

Miss Reeves received a possible skull fracture, severe internal injuries and police surgeons last night held little hope for her recovery.

PROBLEM HERE FOR EINSTEIN

Director Can't Figure How to Pay Wife and Ex-Wife $1725 Out of $100

Luther Reed, screen director, has $100 in cash, one ex-wife at $1300 a month and one estranged wife at $425 a month, according to an affidavit filed in Superior Court by Attorney R. D. Knickerbocker yesterday.

And so Superior Judge Schauer has ordered Reed, the ex-wife, Naomi Childers, and the absentee wife, Jocelyn Lee, to appear in court on the morning of the 28th inst. for a hearing to determine what to do.

Reed suggests that Miss Childers's alimony be cut to $50 a month and Miss Lee's allowance to $75 a month. The petition further states that $20,000 worth of property Reed owns has been attached to pay for some diamonds Miss Lee purchased.

Salesman Loses $5000 in Theft

Manuel Clyde, a salesman for the Walter Zimmer Jewelry Company, 701 Title Guaranty Building, locked his car when he left it at the curb in front of 247 East Main street, Compton, to make a business call on the Kerr Jewelry Company at that address yesterday afternoon, for within the car were two sample grips containing jewelry worth $5000.

Locking proved to be an ineffective precaution, however, for when Clyde returned some time later he discovered that the lock had been forced and the grips were gone. The theft was reported to the Sheriff's substation at Florence avenue and Deputies Davis and Field are investigating it.

S.C. Debaters to Meet Britons

Two college men from the British Isles will meet a pair of Trojan students of the University of Southern California in an international debate in Bovard Auditorium, Thirty-fifth street and University avenue, the evening of the 26th inst.

"Resolved, that the principle of democracy has been tried and found wanting," is the question to be debated, with the English universities taking the affirmative.

D. Hope Elleston of St. John's College, Oxford University, and B. J. Crehan of the University of Liverpool will debate against Gregson Bautzer and Ames Crawford.

Allee Samee Confucius Had No Tail Light

The stoicism of his ancestors and the Near West departed from the Chinese driver of a vegetable truck at Seventh street and Grand avenue yesterday when a meat truck stole his tail light and license plate.

The trucks had been parked in front of a restaurant while their drivers made deliveries. When pulling out the meat truck in some manner sheared off the tail light and license plate, which remained wedged in its bumper.

The driver of the vegetable truck, wildly vocal and gesticulatory, dashed madly on foot across the intersection, though the traffic signals were set against him. The meat truck kept on going.

Finally the meat truck was halted; two policemen replevined the tail light and the license plate and the vegetable truck with its again stoical driver at the wheel continued on its way.

Child Killed by Automobile

While playing in the street at Fountain avenue and Edgemont street last night, Josephine Robinson, 8 years of age, of 1512 North Kenmore avenue, ran into the path of an automobile driven by Jane Gilliland, 18, of 1230 North Berendo street, according to witnesses, and was fatally injured. She was rushed to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and then transferred to the Children's Hospital, where she died.

Miss Gilliland, said to be a college student, was not held by the police.

We've sold $1,200,000 of bed-rock bargains during this foreclosure era, without embarrassment, without loss, and in a manner which we believe to be a credit to the loaning judgment of this 37½-year-old MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA. "TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Bard's, Eighth, between Broadway and Hill—"The Spoilers."

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Her Wedding Night." Two humorous gentlemen help Clara Bow out of an amusing mess.

California, Main and Eighth—"El Presidio." The Spanish version of "The Big House" retains all the thrills and fine acting of the original version.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Just Imagine." A fantasy and simply swell. El Brendel and Maureen O'Sullivan.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood — "The Big Trail." Spectacular in setting and photography, this production demonstrates the power and sweep of Grandeur film.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"Billy the Kid." An exciting series of escapes intensified by the large film. John Mack Brown.

Figueroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"Monte Carlo."

Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"The Wild Men of Kalihari." Another adventure film which merits some attention.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"Lone Wolf." Bert Lytell is his usual versatile self in this, his first talkie.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Renegades." The Foreign Legion seen from an interesting and unique angle. Warner Baxter.

Majestic, Broadway at Ninth—"The Fourth Alarm." Climaxed with a spectacular fire, the film is fair entertainment.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Monte Carlo." Delightful entertainment by Lubitsch. Jack Buchanan and Jeanette MacDonald.

Pantages, Hollywood at Vine—"Playboy of Paris." Disappointing in spite of Maurice Chevalier.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Fast and Loose." With certain reservations this is still a swell show, acted by an eastern cast and Carol Lombard.

Ritz, Wilshire at La Brea—"Her Wedding Night."

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"East is West." A comic twang is heard in this ancient Chinese epic, delivered in Mexican accents by Lupe Velez.

R.K.O., Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Check and Double Check." Amos 'n' Andy bring their droll talk to the screen in an efficient and humorous vehicle.

Tower, Broadway at Eighth—"What a Widow." A silly something not exactly worthy of Gloria Swanson.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Her Wedding Night."

United Artists, Broadway near Ninth—"Feet First." Laughable and thrilling is this new Harold Lloyd comedy.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"The Gorilla." The old monkey classic presents some new laughs. Joe Frisco and Harry Gribbon.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"The Truth About Youth." Trivial, but then you might enjoy it. Loretta Young and David Manners.

Wilshire, 8440 Wilshire Boulevard — "Laughter." One of the best comedies, with Nancy Carroll.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th — "The Bird of Flame." The exotic tropics and that charming vampire, Dorothy Burgess.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath." Charlotte Greenwood strides onto the stage, and the play matters not at all. Destined for a healthy and wealthy run.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"Mister Antonio." The favorite Leo Carrillo returns in an ancient vehicle that creaks.

Music Box, Hollywood Blvd., nr. Gower—"The Apple Cart." George Bernard Shaw's prediction of the future is ably portrayed by Alan Mowbray and fellow-actors.

Vine St., Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"The Green Bottle." Clutching hands and other things that go into a mystery play formula are here in profusion. Oscar Apfel is the featured player.

BURLESQUE

Follies, Main at Fourth—Burlesque.

The payment for October was based on an average of 44 cents per pound for butter fat in first-grade milk and 48 cents per pound for butter fat in cream.

WIDOW OF IMPRESARIO AS VENDER

Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein Selling Apples to Make Her Living, She Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—"Ladies must eat," explained Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, widow of the impresario, today as she became a seller of "apples, only 5 cents apiece," on the sidewalks of New York.

She stood in a foggy drizzle at Chambers street and Broadway briskly polishing apples and calling her wares to passers-by, and disposed of two boxes of fruit in less than two hours.

"It's the best I can do now to earn a living," she said.

Mrs. Hammerstein said she would move her stand up to Times Square later and sell apples in front of the Rialto Theater, where once stood her husband's Victoria playhouse.

Sentence Passed in Stock Fraud

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Nov. 17. (AP) Sentences of two years in the House of Correction were given today to Otis E. Dunham, president of Page & Shaw Candy Co., and Isaac Hart and Joseph Pollay, Boston brokers, for conspiracy to defraud in connection with the floating of a $2,000,000 stock issue of the Gandy Company.

In addition Dunham was fined $1000 and Hart and Pollay each $5000. They were acquitted of being accessories to larceny.

It was testified during the trial that the brokers got nearly $1,000,000 of the $2,000,000 taken in on the issuance of the stock.

POSTOFFICE HEADS HIT IN LEASE QUIZ

Witness Says Department Showed No Zeal in Aid of Fraud Investigation

ST. PAUL, Nov. 17. (AP)—John K. Fesler, former assistant United States District Attorney, testified before the Senate committee investigating postoffice leases today that the Postoffice Department exhibited "no zeal" in the investigation of the St. Paul commercial substation lease in 1928.

Fesler was in charge of the original investigation by the District Attorney's office.

Before this, in March, a Federal grand jury recommended a thorough investigation in a statement in which it was charged the lease had involved "fraud, misrepresentation and corruption," and that rent paid by the Postoffice Department was "unconscionable."

Fesler, now an employee of a local law firm headed by Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State, told Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, chairman of the committee and only member present, that he obtained little co-operation from the Postoffice Department at Washington, and no exhibition of "zeal" to prove either the presence or absence of fraud.

El Avioncito para Particulares Invadirá Pronto el Mercado

LONDRES, Noviembre 16.—Ha llegado ya la hora del diminuto vehículo aéreo. Se están haciendo en el aeródromo de Croydon las pruebas finales de un aeroplano pequeñito copiado del modelo de un aeroplano ligero muy popular. Se le destina para el uso de particulares y tendrá cabida para dos pasajeros.

Se le conoce bajo el nombre de "Red Wing", y lo está construyendo la empresa Armstrong-Siddeley con el objeto de hacer más económicos los vuelos de quien pueda comprar su avión particular.

Asegúrase que volará a razón de 100 millas por hora; será propulsado por un motor enfriado por aire, y podrá bajar lentamente, de modo que aterrice con seguridad dentro de pequeño espacio. El coste de la gasolina y aceite que consume el nuevo liliputiense del aire llega apenas a un centavo por milla.

Boris y su Esposa Visitarán a Kemal Pasha

ANGORA (Turquía) Noviembre 17.—El rey Boris y la reina Juana de Bulgaria van a visitar en ésta al presidente Kemal Pasha para fines del mes entrante o principios del de Enero próximo. Tal es la noticia que aquí circula.

Se proponen pasar varios días en Istambul y venir luego a Angora para quedarse aquí una semana como huéspedes del Ghazi. Se considera de gran importancia esta visita real, pues se sabe que el rey Boris y el presidente turco han estado trabajando por cimentar la amistad turcobúlgara.

Los Finlandeses Apresan un Barco con Contrabando de Aguardiente

HELSINGORS (Finlandia) Noviembre 17.—Tras tremendo combate, en el que se dispararon armas de fuego, la policía finlandesa ha capturado hoy un gran barco matutero de aguardiente, y le ha ocupado como 5000 galones de alcohol. Fueron arrestados siete de los presuntos contrabandistas. La presa es el "Standart", que fue en otro tiempo cazasubmarinos alemán. Enarbolaba pabellón persa, y traía papeles persas; pero asegúrase que su dueño es alemán. Los individuos aprehendidos son estonios, alemanes y suecos.

El Estado Abandonará la Busca de un Fugitivo, que Cometió Asesinato en 1876

WESTON (Virginia Occidental) Noviembre 17.—Después de más de medio siglo de pesquisas, la ley ha abandonado la persecución de Richard Dowell.

Convicto en 1876 de haber dado muerte a John R. West, Dowell se escapó de la cárcel del condado de Lewis cuando ya se hacían los preparativos para colgarle. Nunca más pudo echarle mano la policía, por más que las autoridades siguieron pistas que las llevaban, ya a una, ya a otra parte del país.

Un juzgado acaba de proveer que se sobresea en el proceso incoado hace tanto tiempo en contra de Dowell. Si éste vive, cuenta ya 93 años, y puede ya considerarse hombre libre.

Aumenta el Turismo en Auto Rumbo a California

CHICAGO, Noviembre 17.—A pesar de lo mucho que se habla sobre los malos tiempos, siguen los automovilistas del oeste central rodando alegremente hacia climas más tibios.

Según datos del Club de Automovilistas de Chicago, hasta la fecha actual ha sido en este año mayor el tráfico de autos de turismo en otoño, rumbo a California y Florida, que en período igual del año de 1929. Las excursiones de esa clase a Florida han aumentado como en 34 por ciento, y a California, como en 23 por ciento.

La razón de estos aumentos, según opina el club citado, es que las carreteras siguen mejorando, y que los dueños de coches están haciéndose a la costumbre de tomar sus vacaciones en otoño o invierno, en vez de en verano.

Negociante en Inmuebles Denunciado por una Señora

M. B. Garton, comisionista de inmuebles en Hawthorne, comenzó por hacerle una proposición inconveniente a la señora Kate Rice, y después la golpeó a puñetazo limpio, según asevera la quejosa en una demanda por $10,000 de daños que interpuso ayer contra el citado negociante.

Después de haberle roto el vestido, Garton metió por la fuerza en su automóvil a la señora Rice, según dice la demanda de ésta. Como resultado de ese acto, declara la quejosa haber sido reducida al ostracismo social.

La riña entre los dos ocurrió el 25 de Julio último en el puesto de verduras de la señora Rice, donde Garton se había detenido a comprar algo.

THEATER AT PARK TO GET NO MANAGER

Commission Votes Down Plan Urged for Stage at Griffith Playgrounds

On recommendation of a majority of the committee appointed to consider operation of the $200,000 Greek theater in Griffith Park, the Park Commission yesterday voted to operate the theater without a manager until such a time as one is required and allow its use on a permit system, according to a schedule of rates yet to be established.

President Socha and Commissioner Swanfeldt reported against the plan to have an experienced manager put in charge of the theater, gift of the late Col. Griffith J. Griffith. Commissioner Griffith, son of the donor, and the third member of the committee, who has urged that an experienced showman be employed in order that performances may be of a creditable nature to the city, was not present at yesterday's meeting.

It is stated a schedule of rates is to be prepared for the action of the board at Thursday's regular meeting.

The Park Commission decided not to restrict the use of the theater to American plays, American drama, American compositions and American music.

ROLPH WILL BE GUEST AT STOCK SHOW

Officials Will Present Governor-Elect With "Ten-Gallon" Hat

Wearing a "ten-gallon" hat, to be presented him by officials, Gov.-elect James Rolph, Jr., will be guest of honor Sunday, the 30th inst., at the fifth annual Christmas Livestock Show and Rodeo, it was announced yesterday by J. A. McNaughton, executive director. The show opens the 29th inst. for an eight-day run, at the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards.

The day on which the Governor-elect is scheduled to attend will be known as California day, and delegates from the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West also will participate. Mr. Rolph will be met by a group of business men and film stars and serenaded by the Fire Department band, after which he will be escorted to the Biltmore and then to the show grounds.

A million dollars' worth of registered live stock is to be exhibited at the show. Most of it will be transported here in a special forty-car train from Kansas City.

JUDGE'S CRASH DEATH SOLVED

Ruptured Heart, Not Broken Neck, Killed Rosenkranz

Coroner's Jury Finds No One to Blame in Tragedy

Smooth Tires Declared to Have Caused Skidding

A ruptured heart and not a broken neck, as was at first supposed, caused the death yesterday morning of Municipal Judge Elias V. Rosenkranz when his automobile skidded on a wet pavement and crashed head-on into another machine, Deputy County Auptosy Surgeon Shaffer announced last evening. Post-mortem examination showed the rupture was caused by one of several ribs fractured when the judge was thrown against the steering wheel of his machine.

At the inquest, which closely followed the autopsy, a Coroner's jury described the tragedy as purely accidental and placed blame on no one.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the clubhouse of Hollywood Post, American Legion, 2035 North Highland avenue, with Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin officiating. The body, which was taken last night to the Malinow & Simons mortuary, will be removed to the clubhouse parlors half an hour before the services, so that friends may call and pay their last respects to the dead jurist. The interment will be of a strictly private nature.

ACCIDENT DESCRIBED

According to the police report, Judge Rosenkranz was driving east on Third street at the time of the accident. He was on his way to open court. The time was close to 9 a.m. The streets were still wet and slippery from the rain of the night before.

As he approached the intersection of Norton avenue he apparently observed a large truck and trailer about to enter the intersection from Norton avenue to the south and, as a result, applied his brakes.

Ed Neidel of 8240 Clemont street, driver of the truck, declared he saw the judge's car suddenly start to skid and, fearing that if he drove ahead through the intersection he could not clear it in time, brought his heavy machine to an abrupt stop.

CRASH OCCURS

James Amzalak, of 404 West Seventh street, entering the intersection from the east on Third street, witnessed the judge's predicament at the same time and also stopped his car, he said.

The judge's car, which both Neidel and Amzalak declared they did not believe was traveling at a fast rate of speed, skidded sharply to the right, narrowly missed the front end of the truck, and then, swinging to the left, crashed head-on into Amzalak's machine.

The judge died almost instantly, according to police.

The front ends of both the judge's machine and Amzalak's car were demolished. Amzalak suffered several cuts from flying glass and was given emergency treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

TIRES BLAMED

Detective Lieutenant Bain of the Wilshire division, who investigated the crash, declared he believed the chief reason the judge's car skidded out of control was the lack of non-skid surface on the tires. He stated that three of the tires were worn smooth and the fourth was worn to the first breaker strip.

Once before Judge Rosenkranz figured in a traffic mishap, although he was not seriously injured. On March 20, 1927, his automobile collided at Hobart Boulevard and Ninth street with a machine driven by Albert McQuarrie, film actor of 1120 North Poinsettia Drive. The jurist's car turned over, but threw him and one of his daughters clear of the wreck. He escaped with a deep cut on the left leg and the child with minor scratches on the face and arms.

TRIBUTE PAID

Presiding Municipal Judge Ambrose late yesterday paid the following tribute to the departed judge:

"The Municipal Court is stunned by the catastrophe which has just befallen it in the accidental death of Judge Elias V. Rosenkranz.

"Judge Rosenkranz was greatly beloved by all his colleagues as well as by all attaches of the court.

ZUKOR PLANS HUGE OUTLAY

Optimistic Film President Says His Concern Will Spend at Least $25,000,000 in Coming Year

Optimistic over the business outlook for the next year, Adolph Zuker, president of the Paramount Famous Players Lasky Corporation, said yesterday that the company of which he is head is making plans to equal if not to surpass its $25,000,000 program of the preceding year.

Zukor made this announcement following his arrival from New York on his annual trip to Southern California to inspect the company's properties and supervise the drafting of plans for the 1931 schedule. He is staying at the Ambassador.

The visitor refused to permit the depression bogey to disturb him.

"I do not believe in hard times," he commented. "Times are as you make them. You can always get a return for your efforts if you are willing to work."

In line with this belief, he continued, the company will maintain its staffs and salaries. Employees need have no fear of being discharged as long as they continue to put forth their best efforts, he said, although, he continued, loafers may expect to face summary action.

An ambitious advertising program will mark the 1931 schedule, he said.

As to conditions the country over, Zukor said that it has been his observation that in so far as the motion-picture-theater business is concerned, they are very good, with union-labor troubles in a few of the large cities responsible for some slackening in those centers.

That the motion-picture-theater-going public is exercising more discrimination in its choice of pictures was a comment uttered by the film man.

"We are prepared to give them the best there is to offer," he continued, adding that advertising will play an even more important part than it has in the past in acquainting the public with the company's products.

Talkies, in Zukor's opinion, are maintaining their popularity. He declared that intelligently produced talking pictures are the best medium of entertainment which the industry can provide.

CONVENTION OF DOLLS OPENS

"Delegates" From Every Land Present

Miss Henrietta Morrison Shows Entries

DOLLS of all countries, dolls of all ages, china dolls, bisque, wooden and rag dolls, were assembled yesterday at the opening of the Doll Convention, now being conducted at the Los Angeles School Library in the Braun Building, 1240 South Main street, in conjunction with Book Week. The latter opened yesterday and will continue until Saturday.

The convention, sponsored by the public schools and libraries, is in honor of the doll Hitty, made famous by the book, "Hitty, Her First Hundred Years," for which Miss Rachel Field received the Newbery award for the best children's work of 1929. Exhibits at the show are the work of elementary school children.

Parents are invited to take their children to see the dolls. Doll Convention News, a small newspaper edited by Henrietta Morrison, assistant librarian, is distributed to doll exhibitors and blue-ribbon awards will be made at the close of the show for the most remarkable dolls in each class. Miss Jasemine Britton, supervising librarian of the Los Angeles city schools, is in charge of the convention.

FITTS IN PORTER QUIZ ROW

Jurors Dissatisfied With Inquiry Prosecution; Mayor Denies He Will Resign

Indications that a disagreement has arisen between the District Attorney's office and the grand jury on the inquisitorial body's proposed investigation into City Hall affairs, scheduled to start this morning, were evident last night.

While no formal statements were forthcoming, it was learned from authentic sources that certain influential members of the grand jury are dissatisfied with the progress and the method of investigation so far and that when the body meets this morning they will first call for a general conference to decide what is to be done before any witnesses are called for questioning.

FITTS'S POLICY QUESTIONED

The chief source of dissatisfaction, it is understood, is Dist.-Atty. Fitts's asserted "hands-off" attitude in the case, one of the chief aims of which is to determine whether Mayor Porter knowingly spent more money for campaign purposes than he admitted in sworn affidavits filed after the primary and final elections.

"We want to know why Fitts is not prosecuting this investigation with the same agility that he has shown in other cases," declared one juror yesterday. "We believe that the District Attorney should interview all prospective witnesses, run down all clews, and have a comprehensive survey of the situation well in hand to present to the grand jury when it convenes."

On the other hand, Fitts is known to take the attitude that the investigation of Porter's affairs was started by certain members of the grand jury and he feels that they should continue it as they see fit and without interference or suggestion from him.

ADVICE OFFERED

"Any witnesses the jurors may wish to question, or any legal advice they may want, will be furnished to the limit of the ability of this office," he declared. "I have assigned one of my best deputies, Tom O'Brien, to the case and consider him competent to handle any phase of it. His honesty and impartiality have never been questioned."

In reply to this, certain of the grand jurors asserted they had no objection to O'Brien handling the investigation, but that they will object to another deputy District Attorney presenting it to the grand

PLUMMER WILL MEET GANGSTERS

Fitts Names Former Aide Head of Squad to Handle Criminals Coming Here

The conference between Dist.-Atty. Fitts, Police Chief Steckel and representatives of Sheriff Traeger's office scheduled for today has been deferred until tomorrow because of the pending grand jury inquiry into Mayor Porter's campaign funds, the District Attorney announced last night.

At the same time Fitts announced that he had appointed Clyde I. Plummer, former chief of his prohibition enforcement detail and recently defeated for the office of Sheriff, as chief of the proposed antigangster detail.

The plan under consideration at the meeting last Thursday calls for the appointment of several men from the District Attorney's office, Sheriff's office and Police Department whose sole duties will be to trace the activities of gangsters in Los Angeles and to halt their operations. They will work under Capt. Plummer.

The District Attorney announced that he will offer his entire staff of investigators, if necessary, to curb the crime situation. Fitts in his announcement of Plummer's appointment said:

"Every indication that this office has received points to the fact that professional criminals from the East will, if possible, make Los Angeles their headquarters during the winter. This is particularly true in view of the fact that in a comparatively short time this city will be host to thousands of people from all

FOREST FIRE FIGHTERS WILL BE PAID FOR TIME

In brush and forest fires of the future in Los Angeles county fire fighters will be paid by the hour for every hour they are in the service, instead of just the time they are on the actual fire line. Crew leaders will get 35 cents an hour from the time they are called into service until discharged, and men under them 25 cents. Heretofore the crew leader was paid 45 cents and the others 35 cents an hour. They were not paid, however, for the hours they slept or rested.

The rearrangement of the pay schedule for the fire fighters was decided upon yesterday by the Board of Supervisors upon the recommendation of County Auditor Payne, who stated that in the past considerable confusion always resulted after a fire when trying to make up the men's time for the actual hours they were on the fire line.

After hearing the Auditor's report the Supervisors ordered County Counsel Mattoon to prepare an amendment to the county ordinance to provide pay for the men from the time they enter the county's service until discharged, also to provide meals for them and replace clothing that is burned while fighting the flames.

Plans are also being made to furnish each fire fighter with a brass check, to be worn around the neck, not only to serve as a time check but also as an identification check in case of accident. The check would be similar to the one United States soldiers wore during the World War.

CRIMINALS GET SLAP ON WRIST

'Naughty, Naughty!' Say the Courts; Turn 'Em Loose

Desperate Bank Bandit Gets One Year and Probation

Police Can't Even 'Vag' the Known Gangsters Here

This is the third of a series of daily articles to appear in The Times setting forth, from official sources, the crime situation in Los Angeles and why it is so.

One afternoon last spring an armed bandit entered the Security-First National branch bank at 219 North Larchmont Drive, walked to the teller's cage and presented to Assistant Teller J. H. Beaver, what appeared to be a check for payment. It was really a note reading:

"Don't be a hero. Turn over all your big bills quickly or I'll plug you!" This was accompanied by a menacing gesture with the hidden gun—hidden to prevent others in the bank from realizing that a hold-up was in progress. Beaver shoved out all the money he had—$1000—and the bandit walked out with it.

On the same day, March 25, a man of identical description and using the same method held up the Seaboard National Bank branch at 5501 Wilshire Boulevard and got $3000.

On May 23 he appeared again in banking hours at the Security-First National branch at Sixth and Vermont streets, and presented to Teller J. B. Eley, an almost-identically worded note and got $700.

Half a dozen other bank "jobs" bearing the same earmarks were committed before, on June 11, police caught up with Ed Meagher, professional bandit and all-round criminal, and jailed him for trial on the two Security-First National jobs, which he admitted.

HIS RECORD

In the interval they looked up his criminal record. Copied verbatim from the official records of the case, it reads:

August 11, 1904, Roxbury, Mass., aged 17 years, two years in reform school, paroled June 16, 1905.

July 11, 1906, five months Deer Island House of Correction.

April 13, 1907, twelve months Deer Island House of Correction.

December 11, 1908, two months Deer Island House of Correction.

May 16, 1909, breaking and entering, five years, reform school. October 3, 1910, released on parole.

November 18, 1910, as Frank Maher, Boston, Suffolk Superior Court, robbery, six to eight years, State prison. February 14, 1915, released on parole, March 30, 1920, returned for violation of parole. May 7, 1920, released on parole. Expiration of sentence, December 21, 1923.

May 15, 1915, as John B. Manning, New York City, assault and robbery.

July 10, 1915, as Ed Meagher, assault, Sing Sing prison.

June 11, 1930, Los Angeles, bank robbery, two counts, Security-First National Bank, 219 North Larchmont avenue, March 25, 1930, Security-First National Bank, 601 South Vermont, May 23, 1930.

Meagher waived preliminary hearing and pleaded guilty to the two local bank hold-ups mentioned. He identified the gun found on him as that he carried when he stuck up the banks. He said it was "not loaded" at the time but admitted menacing the tellers with death if they did not hand over the cash. On neither occasion, for the reason mentioned, did he actually show the gun. The probation report sets out that he had been working as a writer and had tried to find other employment.

All of this was set forth in the report of the probation department handed to Superior Judge McComb when the case came up before him. No recommendation for probation was made which is, in effect, a recommendation against it.

TEN YEARS' PROBATION!

Did Meagher get the law's limit in San Quentin for his two confessed armed bank hold-ups on top of his long criminal record?

He did not. Judge McComb gave him ten years' probation, one of which Meagher must spend in the County Jail. After next August 10 he will be loose again, ready for more bank hold-ups. His record shows that he has previously vio-

CRIME ORGY TOTALS SOAR

Dozen Hold-ups and Thirty Burglaries in City in Day Swell Lawlessness Score

With police figuratively sitting on the sidelines and gazing hopelessly on, bandits yesterday continued to pile up a robbery and burglary score which threatens to break every record in local police history.

Robberies yesterday brought this month's total to 147, an increase of eighty-six when compared to a total of sixty-one for the same period last month. If unchecked the total for the month will reach near the 300 mark, police officials point out. Thirty burglaries reported yesterday swelled this month's aggregate thus far to 301, as compared with 228 for the same time last month.

Six hold-ups yesterday morning were perpetrated in broad daylight. The entire list for the day included the serious stabbing of a pedestrian, robbery of two service stations, two markets, one dairy company, a garage, a drug store, a dry goods store, three pedestrians, one of them a woman, and netted bandits an even $1412 in cash. The locations were scattered throughout the city.

First of the morning robberies occurred at the Petroleum Securities service station at Tenth and Figueroa streets. C. G. Kuiest, attendant, was held up by two armed auto bandits and robbed of $30.

The next was at the Silvertown drug store at 5360 East Ninth street, where three bandits obtained $71.

Four bandits entered the New Central Market at 8515 South Central avenue just as it was opened and, after threatening to shoot the manager, G. S. Hanson, robbed him of $30.

Another trio of bandits followed John Hook into his grocery at 5419 South Broadway and, flourishing pistols, robbed him of $15.

Refusal of Fred Busty, manager of Merrill's Dollar Store at 4615 South Broadway, to reveal the combination of the office safe, frustrated a daring attempt of two bandits and saved $1500 in cash.

The bandits appeared at the store just as Earl Kenard, a clerk, arrived to go to work. He was bound and gagged with bathrobe cords. Busty arrived a few minutes later

CHURCH IN FINANCIAL DIFFICULTY

All Souls Congregation, Unable to Pay Interest, May Lose Edifice

Unable to meet the interest due on a $175,000 indebtedness, members of the All Souls' Congregational Church, formerly Wilshire Congregational Church, will meet tomorrow night at the $400,000 edifice to decide whether another effort will be made to save the building or turn it back to the Congregational Extension Society of Los Angeles and to pass on the so-far unannounced resignation of the church's pastor, Dr. Charles F. Aked.

It was admitted last night in a formal statement made by Dr. Aked that the church, center of ecclesiastical and legal controversy for more than a year, is financially unable to meet its obligation and that he wants his resignation to take effect on December 31, next.

"It seems clear," Dr. Aked said, "that in coming to this building and in assuming so large a share of its indebtedness, we took upon ourselves a task beyond our strength. In my own mind I have fought against this conclusion, but further struggle appears futile.

"The trustees have informed us that they see no prospect of paying the next installment of the interest when it becomes due on January 1, next.

"The Extension Society has informed the trustees that it cannot relieve the church of its burden. In these circumstances it is best for me to resign the pastorate of the church and set officers and members free to consider, to plan and act without reference to me.

"Under rules of the church the congregation is entitled to three months' notice from me, but the conditions being what they are, it may be better for me to close my ministry on December 31."

Blake Franklin, president of the Extension Society, declared last night that "there is a limit to everything and we cannot see how we can carry the burden of paying our own indebtedness and that of All Souls' group at the same time."

He explained that the church was erected through a bond issue and that when Dr. Aked's followers took over the church in June, 1929, they agreed to pay off $175,000 of the bond issue. Since that time they have failed to meet the last July interest payment of $5260, and admittedly cannot meet the next one, due January, 1, 1930, Franklin said.

"The Extension Society met the July payment for the church, but it does not feel that it should go on doing so in the future. The so-

DIRTY LINEN

This has been the one clean sport which has captured the public imagination and affection. Don't tell us that this, too, is rotten.

If you must make faces and call each other crooks, please retire behind the barn and do it privately.

We want more pigskin and less dirty laundry.

"PROFESSIONALISM"

There is one thing that stands out in this mess.

It is this: The only time that accusations of this kind can be aired is after winning a game; or after the season is over. It just isn't the loser's turn to speak.

If Berkeley had any charges to make about "professionalism," they should have been made at the start of the season; or after the season was washed up. The team on the wrong end of a 74-to-0 score just isn't in a position for conversation. A licking like this should be taken like toasts to the President of the United States—standing and in silence.

"INSULTS"

On the other hand, all this blather from U.S.C. about "insults" and demands for apology are enough to cause acute pain in the listener. The thing for my old friend Warren Bovard to do is to wait until the season is over; then make a demand that neither Stanford nor Berkeley can in honor refuse:

That the talkative Mr. Cahn of Berkeley and Mr. Dink Templeton either make good their accusations, or retire from college athletics.

WARSHIPS

The latest naval estimates show that our warships, especially the submarines and plane carriers, are all wrong; and will have to be retailored. The fashions in warships are as variable as the fashions in flapper skirts.

At the start of the World War, Admiral Mahan—the great naval critic — announced that battle cruisers were the bunk; after the war, we suddenly discovered that everything except battle cruisers was all wrong. Then they demanded huge floating fortresses; then small, swift cruisers.

At one period during the World War, submarines were a failure; now it is all changed and diving battleships are in order.

W. L. Cummings Nominated for Fire Commission

The nomination of William L. Cummings as a member of the Fire Commission to succeed William N. Wenning, term expired, was sent to the City Council yesterday by Mayor Porter. The nomination was referred to the Police and Fire Committee after several Councilmen asked questions, seeking to identify the nominee.

According to Mayor Porter, Cummings lives at 1017 South Boyle avenue, has been a resident of the city eighteen years, is active in east side affairs, is a former school superintendent and once was engaged in mining in Colorado.

MERRITT FREED OF ACCUSATION

Contempt Charge Against Pasadenan Dismissed

Monthly Alimony of $1100 Reduced to $600

Court Blames Rich Father for Son's Predicament

Superior Judge Yankwich late yesterday discharged the contempt citation against Hulett C. Merritt, Jr., son of a Pasadena capitalist, and reduced to $600 a month the order directing him to pay $1100 monthly alimony to his former wife, Mrs. Lou Craig Merritt. A condition the judge imposed in granting Merritt's plea for reduction of alimony was that the former husband pay his alimony arrears totaling $8750. Alimony payments are for the support of Mrs. Merritt and her daughter Adriana, 7 years of age.

"The harm in this case was done by Hulett C. Merritt, Sr.," said Judge Yankwich. "He began by supplying his son with unlimited funds. He countenanced the making of the property settlement agreement with the plaintiff and advanced $35,000 cash payment to her. Then he changed his policy and reduced his son's income to a salary which never exceeded $1250. This amount, even if it had not been reduced, would not have been sufficient to enable compliance with the agreement. It since has been reduced to $800.

COMPLAINT JUSTIFIED

"Mr. Merritt, Sr., either should have continued his munificence or never have begun it. As it is, we feel that Mrs. Merritt's complaint is justified. She has been placed in a position where she does not know from month to month what she might expect.

"When it comes to determining whether Merritt is in contempt of court, the court can be governed only by one consideration, namely, ability to pay. . . . We will not punish a person for contempt in failing to comply with a court order merely because he may have a rich father who could supply him with the difference between his earnings and his needs.

DEFENDANT CLEARED

"The court is satisfied that the defendant's only income is his salary of $800 per month. . . . The order to show cause will be discharged and the defendant purged of contempt."

Judge Yankwich held that there was no proof that accounts had been altered to conceal assets which the plaintiff asserted Merritt had. Merritt is manager of the Tagus ranch at Tulare, owned by the Pacific States Corporation, of which his father is a controlling factor.

Attorney Bertin A. Weyl represented Merritt in court and William W. Bearman and A. Feldman appeared for Mrs. Merritt.

INTOXICATED DRIVER MENACE TO BE TOPIC

A mass meeting at which a move will be launched to have the law deal more ably with the drunken driver will be conducted in Jefferson and University school, Friday at 8 p.m., Newton Hogan announced yesterday. He is organizing the meeting for University Taxpayers' Protective League. The league believes, Hogan said, that the law dealing with the drunken driver needs to be amended. Daniel Beecher, chief deputy District Attorney, is scheduled to be the principal speaker, his subject being "Drunken Drivers and the Remedy." Other speakers are to be W. R. Spettigue, a Union Pacific System safety agent, and W. W. Greenhill, a Southern Pacific System engineer.

FIGHT UNDER WAY FOR CHILD

Parents, Parted, Opponents in Battle

Principals in Legal Contest

Elaine Bulloch, 5 years of age, and her mother, Mrs. Mazie E. Creighton Bulloch.

CLASPING a wax doll, Elaine Bulloch, 5 years of age, yesterday played inside the counsel rail of Superior Judge Price's court, where her parents contested for her custody. Occasionally she sat in the lap of her mother, Mrs. Mazie E. Creighton Bulloch. Her father, George Bulloch, Jr., is asking to be awarded the child, who was born after an annulment ended her parents' brief marriage. The Bullochs live in Pasadena.

The Bullochs married in Honolulu on May 1, 1924, and the husband obtained an annulment in Texas, May 6, 1925, asserting misrepresentation. Mrs. Bulloch testified yesterday that her husband left her after he rummaged her trunk and found a letter which disclosed that she had been admitted to the Oregon State Hospital. She explained that she had herself committed to that institution when she was without funds to take a rest cure, and that she soon was put in nurse's uniform. Five years later, she met and married Bulloch.

Mrs. Mona M. Street, secretary of the Pasadena Welfare Bureau, testified that Mrs. Bulloch accused her of being too friendly with Bulloch. Attorney Isidore Morris represents the father. The case continues today.

and also was quickly bound and gagged.

VICTIM TORTURED

While one of the pair watched the door the other bandit sought in vain to force Busty to open the safe or reveal the number of the combination by torturing him with a cord twisted about his throat. Finally the bandits gave up their efforts and fled.

More successful were the two bandits who entered the Valley Dairy Company plant at 548 Colyton street and surprised Clyde Jantze, cashier, counting a quantity of money. Threatening to shoot Jantze if he made an outcry, they scooped up $1062 in currency and silver.

JEWELER FIGHTS

Instead of complying when two armed bandits who had entered his jewelry store at 4706 South Western avenue last night ordered him to open the safe and give them "everything of value," A. H. Helgeson leaped across the counter at the pair and attempted to wrest a revolver from one of them.

The bandit fired two shots at the jeweler, both of which missed. The robber then started on a run for the door, and his companion, stampeded, followed.

Helgeson pursued the men, though he was not armed, but they outdistanced him and disappeared.

The hold-up attempt took place at 6:30 p.m. Each bandit carried a revolver, and warned Helgeson they meant business and would kill him unless he gave them the jewelry and money they demanded.

Before midnight Sunday L. W. Hutton was the victim of a cross-eyed bandit in the Richfield oil station at Sixteenth and Hill streets. He was robbed of $10. In leaving the bandits forced him to walk a block away from the station.

BEATING ADMINISTERED

When they searched his pockets and found $20 after he had denied having any money, two bandits beat Gilbert Bierman of 1426½ North Serrano street severely about the head before they left him. The hold-up and assault occurred in front of 1849 North Whitley avenue.

Just as he was about to enter his home at 834 South Dunsmuir avenue, S. Chaddick was held up by two bandits and robbed of $17 in cash and a $50 watch.

A bandit locked Henry Maher in the oil room after robbing him of $40 in the Pacific Mutual Garage at 1910 West Twentieth street.

Within a stone's throw of one of the busiest intersections in the city, Seventh and Figueroa streets, Mrs. Caroline Dearth was the victim of a bandit who struck her a dazing blow and then grabbed her purse containing $57 in cash and valuables. The robbery occurred in front of her home at 730 South Figueroa street.

Raymond Heidia, 29, of 3713 Lanfranco street, was treated for stab wounds in the back, arm and wrist, received in an attempted hold-up on the street near the Hollenbeck Heights police station at 2015 East First street. He staggered into the police station bleeding badly and was removed to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The Everready Coffee Shop, 1253 West Sixth street, yielded $30 to a bandit at about 2 p.m. Pointing a gun at Miss Monte La Roque, the cashier, the robber handed her a note demanding all the available cash. When she complied he walked out, hailed a taxicab and was driven away. The cab driver later told police the man had dismissed the cab a few blocks from the shop.

Two well-dressed youths took $80 from the till of the Harmony Restaurant, 319 East Eighth street, last night after they gave the cashier, Miss Gladys La Mere, a note demanding all of the cash. Miss La Mere told investigating detectives that although there were fifteen customers in the cafe at the time of the robbery none of them was aware of the hold-up until after the men had left. She was able to give the police a good description of the bandits.

CHURCH UNABLE TO PAY INTEREST

ciety took $75,000 of the same bonds and has paid interest on these and $15,000 on the principal."

"Also the society does not feel it is getting full co-operation from the church."

Franklin would not enlarge on his last remark, intimating that more details of the situation probably will be aired at the tomorrow's meeting, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. in the Pilgrim Hall on the church grounds, Wilshire and Plymouth boulevards.

There is a possibility that under a new minister, Franklin pointed out, the church may continue. The bond issue was made through the Bitting Company of St. Louis, Mo., and in case the church defaults on its part of the bond issue a sale of the church property might be necessary to meet the bonds, Franklin said.

Since Dr. Frank Dyer, who organized the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church, relinquished the pastorate, the church has had a turbulent history. Rev. Thomas Harper first took over the reigns of the church, but his regime was short-lived.

Dr. Aked, who formerly was copastor with Dr. Dyer, organized the All Souls' Church following his departure from the Wilshire organization and on Dr. Harper's failure to continue in the church led his congregation back to the imposing structure.

Dr. Dyer filed a complaint against the Los Angeles Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers for $110,000, charging that during his battle to retain the pulpit of the church the association withdrew its fellowship from him on June 7, 1928, and that he never was given a fair trial as provided by rules of the body.

SCHOOL BOARD REQUESTS ZONING LAW ALTERATION

Removal of the present zoning restrictions against the building of public schools in a single-family residence zone will again be requested of the City Council, the Board of Education decided last night.

At the time the Council was considering the recently adopted general zoning ordinance the board requested the Council to insert a provision exempting all public-school sites from the restrictions of the ordinance, but the request was refused on the ground that the public's support for the new ordinance had been obtained on the pledge that it would not disturb any existing zoning restrictions.

The board was advised, however, by the City Planning Commission and by Chairman Webster of the Council's City Planning Committee, that the exemption might be handled as an amendment to the ordinance after it was adopted.

The ordinance having been adopted and now being in effect, the board voted last night that the Council should be asked at once to pass an amendment reading substantially as follows: "No provision of this ordinance shall be deemed or construed to apply to any lot, property, or premises belonging to or hereafter acquired by the Los Angeles City Board of Education for public-school purposes."

BOW-DE VOE QUIZ MEETS WITH DELAY

Investigators Unable to Get Grand Jury Data Ready Before Thursday

Delay until Thursday in the investigation of charges made by Clara Bow against her former secretary, Daisy De Voe, was asked yesterday by investigators for the District Attorney's office who reported to the grand jury that additional time will be required to assemble evidence.

Members of the grand jury were scheduled to hear the charges made by the actress against her former companion today, but after a vain attempt yesterday to complete the files the investigators requested the delay.

Officials of the Paramount Studio yesterday denied that as a result of Clara's differences with Miss De Voe they had taken steps to terminate her contract. B. P. Schulberg, managing director of production, issued a statement in which he said Miss Bow still is a Paramount player and that the terms of her contract will be carried out as specified. He said reports that the contract is to be terminated are ridiculous.

Miss De Voe yesterday said she is sorry the grand jury's investigation has been postponed.

"The quicker it is conducted the better I will feel," she said.

It is probable Miss Bow will be the principal witness when the inquiry is held Thursday.

standing citizen, and one of the ablest lawyers on the bench. The community has suffered an irreparable loss in his passing.

"At the time of the accident, he was on his way to a session of the sunrise court, a place where his fine broad human sympathies were of great value in helping the unfortunates who are picked up during the night and who always found in Judge Rosenkranz an understanding friend.

"The court will, at the proper time, take such steps as it can to pay its heart-felt respects to the memory of Judge Rosenkranz."

CAREER TRACED

Judge Rosenkranz was 42 years of age. Born in Warsaw, Poland, he was brought to New York by his parents when he was a child and received his elementary education in the New York public schools. In 1906 the family came to Los Angeles and a year later Judge Rosenkranz entered Stanford University at Palo Alto. He was graduated in 1910, taking his A.B. degree; then studied law at University of Southern California law school, which gave him his LL.B. sheepskin in 1912.

He engaged in general practice of law here until 1917 when he enlisted as a private in the American Army, serving with the artillery. He had just made himself eligible for a commission by completing the course at Central Officers' Training School, Camp Taylor, Ky., when the Armistice was signed; and so was discharged with the rank of sergeant.

VETERANS AIDED

On his return to civil life in December, 1918, he was appointed legal adviser to the American Red Cross without compensation, aiding disabled veterans and widows of veterans in the adjustment of their affairs. He also became active in the American Legion, serving as commander of Victory Post, No. 54, in 1920-21, and as first vice-commander of the department of California in 1921-22.

Judge Rosenkranz was appointed to the Municipal Court bench by Gov. Richardson, February 1, 1926, and during his temporary term sat in Superior Court for two months by appointment from the State Judicial Council. In May, 1927, he was elected to the same post for a six-year term, and it was this incumbency he was filling at the time of his death.

MEMBERSHIPS HELD

Judge Rosenkranz held membership in many organizations, including Scottish Rite Masons, Shrine, Elks, Knights of Pythias, Delta Theta Phi, honorary legal fraternity, Los Angeles Athletic Club, Hollywood Post, American Legion, City Club, Masonic Club, Jinnistan Grotto, United Veterans of the Republic, Bamboo Camp, United Spanish War Veterans (honorary membership,) the judicial section of the State Bar Association, and the Los Angeles Bar Association's committee on legislation for inferior courts.

Besides Mrs. Mildred Firth Rosenkranz, his widow, Judge Rosenkranz leaves three daughters, Dorothy, 8; Marjorie, 7, and Elaine, 15 months. The family residence is at 400 South Rossmore avenue.

lated parole given him after similar crimes.

In the same month, last August, in which Meagher was sentenced, there were 169 bandit jobs committed in Los Angeles, an all-time record for a summer month. In the first seventeen days of this month 147 such crimes were committed.

The Meagher case is on example of one more reason why such work as the police are able to do, hamstrung as they are by Police Commission rules and the City Hall spy system, is ineffective. It is an aggravated, but by no means an untypical one.

During October of this year 392 indictments and complaints charging felonies were filed by the District-Attorney's office. During the same month fifty criminals were sent to State's prison, twenty to the County Jail, fifty-six were given straight probation, twelve defendants paid fines, ninety-seven got probation coupled with County Jail sentences and nine received fines and County Jail sentences. The cases were, of course, not the same as those filed by the District Attorney in October but the ratio is about the usual one.

LENIENCY TO LAWBREAKERS

The records show a great number of probations and probations with short County Jail sentences and of felony cases reduced to lesser charges. Many of those granted probation, it is fair to add, were convicted on charges of drunk driving in automobiles.

From the State Prison Board to this city come a large number of desperate criminals released on parole after serving short periods in the penitentiary. The police records show that many persons arrested for robbery, burglary and other major crimes already have prison records and frequently are out on parole.

Known criminals with no visible means of support are theoretically classed by the vagrancy law as persons who can be taken into court and convicted of vagrancy. However, the police say, so exacting have various Municipal Court judges become that it is almost impossible to "vag" this class of criminal, a regular device employed everywhere to make a city too hot to hold them.

A few weeks ago a number of known Chicago gangsters, thus arrested on vagrancy charges, were given jury trials by order of a Municipal Court judge and were, of course, found not guilty and released.

HONEYMOONERS HAWAII BOUND

Three Benedicts and Brides on Liner

Dr. and Mrs. Irving Blom

HAWAII seemed synonymous with honeymoon yesterday when the Lassco flagship City of Los Angeles sailed for Honolulu with three newlywed couples aboard.

Dr. Irving Blom, a practicing dentist in Honolulu, took back with him as bride Miss Margaret Dickson, daughter of Hugh L. Dickson, Los Angeles attorney. Both are recent graduates of University of Southern California, where their romance started, he as a member of Delta Sigma Delta Fraternity, she as an Alpha Chi Omega. They were wed at Arlington Christian Church the evening of the 12th inst. They will be at home at 2313 Manoa, Honolulu.

Making the round voyage on the liner are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Horowitz of New York. He is an executive of the New York Morning Telegraph; she the daughter of M. L. Annenberg, the owner of that newspaper and manager of Liberty magazine. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Embree of Chicago were the third couple.

Bust by James Shown in Paris

Austin James, Pasadena sculptor, yesterday received word that his portrait bust of Dr. Robert A. Millikan, head of the California Institute of Technology, has been accepted by the French art jury and placed on exhibition in the Salon d'Automne, Paris.

The bust was modeled about a year ago. Other busts by the same sculptor are currently on exhibit in the California Art Club's annual display at Exposition Park and at the Chicago Art Institute.

over the world here in connection with the Olympic Games.

"This office will expend its every resource to prevent these criminals from getting a foothold in this city. I am, therefore, appointing Capt. Clyde Plummer, who is competent and thoroughly fearless and honest, for the purpose of working with a special squad of trained and experienced investigators whose exclusive assignment will be the gangster and professional criminal situation.

"I am not yet prepared to announce the full personnel of this squad but I am certain that Capt. Tom O'Brien will act as legal adviser to the squad, with Blayney Matthews of the bureau of investigation of this office as the chief thereof. I propose that this squad shall co-operate with similar squads from the Sheriff's office and the Police Department to the end that every possible effort be made to reduce to a minimum gang crimes in this city during the coming months.

"These three squads will be specifically instructed by their respective heads of departments to prevent any known gangster or professional criminal from eastern jurisdictions remaining in this community any longer than he is legally entitled to do."

Blayney Matthews, chief of the District Attorney's bureau of investigation, and five other officers yesterday raided the home of a wealthy Beverly Hills sportsman, seeking Al Capone, the "big boy" of Chicago gangdom. The officers returned to the District Attorney's office without Capone.

ENGINEERS TO HEAR PHYSICIST

"Special Energy Distribution and Intensity Measurements of Modern Ultra-Violet Sources" is the subject of an address to be made by Dr. Donald H. Loughbridge of the department of physics of the University of Southern California at the November meeting of the Southern California section of the Illuminating Engineering Society at the Engineers' Club at noon today. Urban L. Beh, a member of the board of managers of the local group, will preside.

HUNGARIAN FILM EDITOR ARRIVES HERE FOR VISIT

For the past fifteen or twenty years Sandor Incze has written about Hollywood's famous screen players and the country's stage notables. Yesterday he arrived here for the first time to meet them.

Incze is editor and publisher of Hungary's leading theatrical weekly, Szinhai Elet, as well as having the reputation of being one of Europe's most noted impresarios. He arrived in Hollywood with Adolph Zukor, president of Paramount Publix Corporation, and will be Zukor's guest.

Strange as it may seem, Incze not only came to the film capital to meet motion-picture personalities but to look over the cream of the country's stage plays.

"Hollywood is now the place to find the best on the market as far as stage plays are concerned," he said. "While here I expect to get the best there is."

Incze says there never is a depression in Budapest as far as the stage is concerned. The theaters there are always open and when one goes dark it becomes a matter of governmental interest, he said.

"The talking picture has supplanted the silent screen in Hungary to such an extent that the silents will never again be successful," he continued. "I believe, however, that talking pictures in Hungarian cannot be successfully produced in Hollywood."

Sandor Incze

Incze has been associated with the production in Europe of many of Broadway's outstanding stage successes as well as the exportation of many foreign successes to this country.

THIS DISEASE: IT'S CATCHING

Hubby Succumbed to Love Malady, Wife says, in Asking Divorce

Women were a "disease" to William J. La Roche, he told his wife, Mrs. Anne La Roche, she testified in Superior Judge McDaniel's court yesterday, but the scientific name of the disease was not read into the court records.

"One week-end he disappeared and when he returned he told me he had been out with a charming girl," said Mrs. La Roche. "He told me he just naturally loved women and couldn't keep away from them. He said they were a disease to him."

The couple separated after six years of married life. The divorce was granted.

Pastors at Rally Tell Methodist Church's Need

Need for a revival of the spirit of religion within the Methodist Church was stressed by Methodist ministers yesterday at a meeting at First Methodist Episcopal Church.

"If the church does not become truly Christian and wage open warfare against war and all other evils, the church is destined to meet the doom of all decadent institutions," declared Rev. Glenn R. Phillips, pastor of the First Hollywood Methodist Episcopal Church.

"Our tendency toward building great churches and giving large salaries to pastors seems to make us forget the smaller churches and to neglect our duties to those in need of salvation," said Rev. Alexander Hardie.

"Too many persons today depend on fraternal lodges for their souls' salvation," said Rev. Scott E. Winbrenner of Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church. "With all its faults, the church still is the greatest institution for good."

Rev. David Morgan's assertion that the Bolsheviks are friends of true Christianity was challenged by Dr. William C. Wright, who declared that Bolshevism is the foe of all social, economic, political and religious progress.

FLOOD CURB CONSIDERED

The City Council yesterday indicated its intention of having the Harbor Belt Line pay half the cost of protecting Crescent avenue and the Southern Pacific roadbed from storm waters, by adopting a report of the Public Works Committee proposing that the City Engineer present the matter to the belt line. The cost of eliminating the floods is estimated at $28,000.

Today's Bible Text

Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God; and every one that loveth Him that begat loveth Him also that is begotten of him. By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep His commandments.—I John v:1, 2.

FLEETING

With fourteen deer run down and killed on the highway by automobiles in one season we will have to find another phrase to substitute for "as fleet as the deer!"

ARE WE HUMANE?

With a reform school for bad dogs, a hospital for sick birds, a "poor farm" for old and disabled horses and the many recent bequests left by wealthy people to cats, this community should take the prize for humane attitude toward animals.

BEARS

The government says there are too many bears in Yellowstone Park. For that matter there are too many bears in business also. And judging by the divorce trials, there are entirely too many in the home.

CALIFORNIA IN THE ARCTICS

Maj. Burwash, who made recent explorations in the Arctics, says he had a grapefruit every morning for breakfast. That was taking the golden globes of California sunshine up where they are needed most. You cannot keep California out of either the public eye or tummy.

ANOTHER THING

We have no fault to find with the enforcement of traffic regulations; but when the police give as much attention to the late Chicago arrivals as they do to marking the left hind wheel of motorists who park too long in any one spot, there may be a cessation of bank robberies, home hold-ups and street stick-ups.

MATRIMONIAL HIGHWAY

The newly established local firm of "matrimonial doctors" who claim that they can cut down the steep grades, level the bumps and oil the roadway in the "course of true love" are taking on a great responsibility. Many believe that much of the joy and interest of life would be destroyed if a perfectly smooth matrimonial roadway could be established.

WOVEN POETRY

The $2,000,000 Persian carpet which has just been found and taken to London is a notable demonstration of the manner in which oriental peoples have woven their traditions, their history and poetry into carpets, more lasting than books, more concrete than music and often more beautiful than paintings. The original handicraft, now being created in America, and especially in California, shows that this poetic spirit still gives the urge to expression through the same medium.

GARDEN OF ALLAH

So much of the Southern California desert country is being pre-empted by homesteaders, many of whom never will remain long on their holdings after they are acquired, but will only spoil their natural beauty and then pass on to other fields, that it is pleasant to note the movement started by those who appreciate the majesty of the desert to have certain portions of it withdrawn from entry and made national monuments or parks.

In the sandy wastes of Antelope Valley and its neighborhood there are many picturesque places which should be preserved in their present state of naturalness. There should also be included the Morongo Pass country, Red Rock Canyon, San Jacinto Mountains and the palm sections of Coachella Valley.

The poet who sang of the desert as "the country God forgot" did not look very deeply into the heart of nature. For the desert has a beauty that is all its own—an ineffable charm that, in the Browning phrase, "breaks through language and escapes." It is the Arab's "garden of Allah." It has inspired great works of art. It captivates the imagination and silences the blatant vioce of "little folk of little soul."

By all means, let us preserve as much of its beauty as possible before the vandal torch has fired the last Joshua tree and vandal hands have dug up the last yucca.

THE COMING CONGRESS

The session of Congress which convenes December 4 will have an unusually large "lame duck" membership, both in Senate and House, and this may have considerable effect on the legislative program. Lame duck members, in the past, have frequently disregarded the interests of the country as a whole to favor private and pork-barrel schemes. But as conditions are exceptional now there may, this time, be a different result. The recent election may have had a sobering effect, rousing a sense of party responsibility in men in whom that feeling has been weak or lacking, and cause them to rally to the administration. There have been liberal promises by party leaders on both sides that constructive work for the general good will be the keynote for the next couple of years. The closing session of the present Congress will have strong control by the Republican party in the House, and nominal control, weakened by insurgency, in the Senate.

In these circumstances, a Senate filibuster to defeat the appropriation bills and force an extraordinary session of the new Congress, might by some Democrats be considered smart tactics. The President has forestalled this idea, if there was any such plan afoot, by obtaining pledges from both Democratic and Republican floor leaders that the appropriation bills will be expedited. Senator Glass has served notice that the pledge will not bind Democratic Senators and Congressmen "to refrain from advancing the Democratic principles and platform," whatever that means, but it is to be hoped that at least the Democrats will not heave wrenches into the machinery. In this respect some of the insurgent so-called Republicans are as likely to offend as the recognized opposition. No pledge is ever considered binding, for example, by Senator Hiram Johnson, and his sniping at the administration doubtless will be resumed at the first opportunity.

Locally, the most important legislation likely to come before this session will be the appropriations for the Los Angeles breakwater and for Boulder Dam. The breakwater, to cost $7,000,000, has been approved, but the money for it has not been appropriated and it is hoped it can be obtained at this session. Brig.-Gen. Pillsbury, assistant chief of army engineers, is of the opinion the work can start very soon and President Hoover is understood to be favorably inclined toward immediate construction.

For Boulder Dam, Secretary Wilbur has announced he will recommend an appropriation of $15,000,000, which will enable actual work to begin on the cofferdams and diversion tunnels which are such an important preliminary to the dam, within a few months. The announcement carries out Secretary Wilbur's promise to make all haste with this important project and indicates that he is in no fear of the result of the Arizona suit to test the constitutionality of the Boulder Dam act.

Another important matter is the announcement of Postmaster-General Brown that he will recommend an increase to 2½ cents an ounce for letter mail. The present rate, 2 cents, was established in 1883 and has remained there ever since except for a short period during the war. First-class mail at present produces 60 per cent of the postal revenues, amounting in 1929 to $365,000,000, and if this was increased 25 per cent the raise would produce $90,000,000 and wipe out the deficit. But such an increase would not result inasmuch as part of the first-class mail revenue comes from postal cards, on which no increase is contemplated, and the increased cost undoubtedly would diminish the volume of letter mail—not of personal letters, but of advertising campaigns carried out by large business houses. It also would increase the volume of third-class mail, not carried at a profit. It seems reasonable to suppose the raise would not wipe out the deficit, though it might reduce it.

About 15 per cent less mail has been carried in 1930 than in 1929 as matters stand.

No doubt attempts will be made at this session to obtain modifications of the prohibition law. But the present Congress is still strongly dry, and modification, unless it should be of a nature recommended by the President, stands a very slim chance. The business of the session may be hindered by antiprohibition efforts, but they will get nowhere. The "wet bloc" in the House does not claim a strength of more than sixty votes and it is proportionately no stronger in the Senate.

In all probability the deadlock on Muscle Shoals will continue.

The President's program is understood to place first emphasis on unemployment and second on early passage of the appropriation bills. Other general legislation of importance is not expected to be recommended. Congress may take up, independent of the recommendations, some such matters as further farm relief; it is likely enough "export debentures" will be agitated extensively, but with little prospect of success. It is unlikely the President has changed his mind on this question.

On the whole, however, it will be a busy session, whether anything is accomplished beyond passage of the supply bills or not.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE ADJOURNS

The British Imperial Conference, after debating several weeks over various aspects of inter-empire co-operation, has adjourned with few tangible results. Success of the plan for "Empire Free Trade" advanced by English Conservatives was hardly to be expected at this session, since the MacDonald government refused to consider more than nominal changes in the tariff schedules of the United Kingdom, and Premier Bennett of Canada also rejected the scheme, suggesting an extension of "Imperial preference" in its stead. "Empire Free Trade" is, of course, a misnomer, as the plan is not free trade, but protection, from the viewpoint of the outside nations. It contemplates the building of a tariff barrier around the entire empire, including the United Kingdom, with relative free trade inside.

Premier Bennett, having been elected on a "Canada first" platform, declined to admit the possibility of Canada granting free trade to sister dominions or to the mother country, but agreed to reciprocal preferences in rates. Even this modification was unwelcome to the Labor government, which clings to free trade.

British papers which have been advocating the "Empire Free Trade" plan declare the belief that when the conference reassembles a year hence, it will receive a more favorable consideration, since it is not expected Ramsay MacDonald will still be in control at that time. The MacDonald government, however, has already outlasted expectations. The paradox of a party being kept in power by hard times is presented by the situation, neither Conservatives nor Liberals being particularly anxious to take the reins until business shows signs of improving. It is easily possible that another year or so may pass without a general election. Besides, Premier Bennett seems firmly seated in Canada and there is no indication he will be more favorable to Empire Free Trade a year hence than he is now.

SCORES AS EVIDENCE

While too much importance need not be attached to impassioned remarks by undergraduates, there is something peculiar about the reasoning of the lads at Berkeley and their more or less veiled charges of professionalism against the football team of the University of Southern California. These charges seem to be inspired more by the size of the score than by any concrete evidence.

In other words, it seems to be contended that a team which can win by 41 to 12 and 74 to 0 from its two principal rivals must necessarily lack something in amateurism.

Yet running up the score is not, in fact, a typical professional performance. Professionals in any line of sport seldom exert themselves more than is necessary to win. When they have demonstrated superiority in any contest by a safe margin, they are content to let it go at that. Zest in displaying skill and ability is an amateur, not a professional, characteristic. It arises from love of the game for itself, from liking for the plaudits of the crowd, from the feeling that one is battling for the honor and glory of a loved institution.

Nor is skill in itself necessarily professional. The supreme golfer, Bobby Jones, is an amateur, though he regularly beats the best professionals.

High scores were not considered evidence of professionalism when the "wonder teams" were playing for the University of California a few years ago. It seems to be plain that this year's group of players for the University of Southern California constitute another "wonder team," but that alone does not furnish a fair inference that they are paid performers.

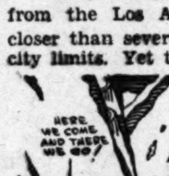
It is possible the courses in logic at U. C. are not as well attended as they should be.

DIDN'T PENETRATE

Democratic leaders announce there will be "no futile nagging of a Republican President." But that came after they learned that Mr. Hoover has a pretty tough hide.

The
LEE SIDE O' L.A.
BY Lee Shippey

ROBERTS'S CAMP in Santa Anita Canyon is just twenty-two miles from the Los Angeles City Hall, or closer than several points within the city limits. Yet to reach it you have to "pack in," or hike in and have some one else do the packing for you. The mail reaches the camp by burro-back. On the walls of the camp are the skins of mountain lions and wild cats, shot on the premises. And beside the shaft of a gold mine discovered in the canyon a couple of years ago about 200,000 tons of ore is piled up, waiting for the road which will go through to Palmdale and put an end to the seclusion of this anachronism—a canyon as primitive as in gold-rush days yet in walking distance from the end of a street-car line!



HERE WE COME AND THERE WE GO!

Yet though people with anything much to carry must "pack in" to that camp, at this season some dozens every day and some hundreds every week-end hike to it. And when trains of pack burros, jingling with mule bells, pass them on the narrow and often precipitous trail and go winding up the mountainside, until they look like animated toys on the brow of some sky-supporting cliff, those hikers get a thrill of pioneering adventure.

Beware of Squashy Baggage

Last Sunday our helpspend, our twenty-mule-team quartet and we started for the camp. Our helpspend had wanted to take that hike for years, but new babies and accidents and other customary casualties of our tribe had prevented. But Sunday she felt so well she thought she could make it, if we took it easy, and as 5-year-old Frank was along of course we had to take it easy. We'd walk a while, then rest a while, as we had all day for the picnic. We started at 9 a.m., each of the boys carrying a bag over his shoulder, one full of sandwiches, one full of pears and one containing a cake.

Next time we won't take any pears. Nor any cake. And maybe no sandwiches.

The boys were so coltish when they struck the trail that soon the pears began to drip and the cake must have thought it was beaten biscuit.

This somewhat interfered with our rest schedule, as Henry's shirt got so soaked with pear juice that every time we stopped a few bees would buzz and bum around us, and we decided that the view would be better a little farther on.

The Trail Up to the Sky

Though it never reaches an altitude of more than 3500 feet before it reaches the camp, Sturtevant trail is more spectacular and picturesque than many a trail in the high Sierras. You'd think a landscape architect, rather than campers and rangers, had laid out that trail. It swings around flying headlands which seem just about to take off into space and suddenly reveals breath-taking scenes. It is plenty wide and safe for hikers and for burros, but when one looks up at its higher reaches from below it seems terrifyingly narrow and steep and fond of looking over precipices. It keeps winding up and into the sky. "It gives one the same exaltation that going to church does," declares our helpspend. "If 'the woods were God's first temples' this must be a road to heaven."

The view from the Halfway House is one of the finest in Southern California.

Panted Panters

Besides inspiring and beautiful views, there were many funny ones, most of which wore hiking pants.

Women know three times as much as men do of the art of wearing clothes in general, but somehow women—most of 'em—don't know much about pants. Chubby women wear pants which are too tight, and how they do bulge out in them! Slender women are inclined to wear pants which are a little too Turkish. If three women in hiking pants pass you on the trail one is pretty sure to look as round and bulbous as if she were tightly blown up, another like an almost empty sack with a string tied around its middle and the third like an underfed plucked chicken. Perhaps it's because so many hiking suits are just borrowed for the occasion.

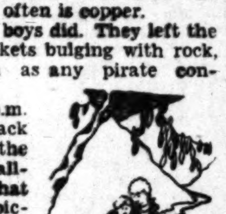
One girl started out wearing the highest of high-heeled shoes. By the time she reached First Water she had lost both heels. But she didn't seem to mind. She was dancing to the phonograph when we stopped there for hamburgers, our boy-transported sandwiches being somewhat the worse for wear.

Gold!

But, then, everybody feels like dancing at First Water. That beautiful, clear stream, clashing and spattering over mighty rocks, is music and beauty and everything to people who so seldom see clear mountain streams.

We pushed on to the camp to give the boys the thrill of going into a gold mine. A couple of years ago Roberts began developing a mine, in which gold, silver, copper and other minerals were found. There now are several hundred feet of tunnels, the walls of which are streaked with rock glistening with ore. In a region in which Lucky Baldwin used to be the most famous character, that mine rouses memories and dreams and many a visitor gets a thrill out of going through it and chipping off bits of rock flecked with what looks like gold, but more often is copper.

Anyway, our boys did. They left the mine with pockets bulging with rock, feeling as rich as any pirate conqueror.



It was 5:30 p.m. when we got back to the foot of the trail, after an all-day picnic that really was a picnic. For a while we had left the modern world far behind—fifty years behind. And yet we'd never got more than twenty-two miles from the City Hall.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

By James J. Montague

(On reading that the radio diffuses education among the people.)

When I was told that people might Improve their native mental powers,
And grow, in time, extremely bright
By listening in to radio hours,
I bought a new and costly set,
The bonds that bound my brain to sunder,
And told myself that I might yet
Become a wonder.

I listened in by night and day
To talks by well-known politicians,
I heard (and often with dismay)
The newest night clubs' best musicians.
I heard ecstatic bards advance
Their views about divine afflatus,
But not a jot did I enhance
My mental status.

Today I know a hundred croons,
And all the jazziest dancing numbers,
A thousand sad Hawaiian tunes
Wail wildly through my troubled slumbers.
I've found out how to jab and swat
From many a former mighty fighter,
And still I find that I am not
The least bit brighter.

Sometimes the radio soothes my brain
Or wakes in me a gentle languor,
Again it gives my neck a pain
With an excess of sound and clangor.
But, though it gives me many a thrill,
Beside it for some years I've waited
And I confess that I am still Uneducated.

HE STUCK TO HIS JOB

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

For sixty-five years, the late M. A. Newmark stuck to his one and only job. In this day of heavy turnover among employees—one of the things that business most complains about—isn't that record something to ponder?

Coming to Los Angeles as a boy, this German-born lad entered as a humble clerk the same business that saw him as its president when death claimed him. He didn't question every few months the progress he was making; he didn't worry over his pay check's slow increase; he didn't shift about from hither to yon for a matter of a few dollars more a month; he didn't have to seek another job when one of such transient employ failed him. He continued year after year, decade after decade, along the same set lines. Yet he died a very wealthy man, he who came to Los Angeles a poor immigrant; his passing takes from America's wonder city one of its foremost merchants and leaders; honors have been his in lines he never even sought; he leaves a memory bright with the luster of the worthwhile. He stuck to his job and made of it a career of high emprise.

So transient is the average employee today that few last long in any one place, and thus is created a real problem. Heads of some of the city's leading department stores have told me more than once that places for men able to earn $10,000 and upward a year go begging because there are no capable men, trained by long and steady service, to fill them; that the average clerk is not willing to go through the experience and acquire the knowledge by continuous employment on the job. A few dollars more here; a softer place there, win them away, and thus the very establishment in which they had a chance is crying for their presence when they might have been most valuable to it in vain.

It is not to be argued that a man or woman never should change his employment; there may come conditions that make it advisable, even imperative. Not always, opportunity awaits one in static or stolid plodding. Sometimes a shift of base is the only way one may win. But I do cite the case of the late M. A. Newmark as one to think out, on the part of so many of the youngsters, just getting their starts, who are dissatisfied and discontented because success, monetary or otherwise, seems so slow in coming to them, yet who are in positions of ample prospect if they will but await their turns—and be worthy of promotion when it comes their way. That, also, was a feature of the Newmark life; he measured up to all that opportunity had to offer him. Coupling ability and foresight with stability, he made himself one of the outstanding figures of this Southland in a mercantile—and in many another—way and maintained that position for a long lifetime Now, honors are his in death as in life; he is an example for the world.

Not always is one able to see his future clearly; mostly, it is obscured in doubt, and well it is, for often it would not be faced with courage otherwise. But might not one, tempted to leave a steady, well-paying job that held out prospects of advancement and prosperity if one were faithful and capable—might not one take a leaf from the book of M. A. Newmark's life, and thus get a new slant on the value of continuity, the worth of faithfulness, the awards of ability, in one's present employ, and thus think twice before making a shift for temporary but transient advantage?

Sixty-five years in one job—his only job. It is a record that stands apart—probably unequaled in business annals hereabouts.

A NEW CAREER

BY SUZANNE PEHKOFF

That civilized man cannot live without cooks is being shown in England by the new attitude of respect shown toward those who are adepts in the culinary art. Formerly, it was averred in a fat pamphlet gotten out by the Ministry of Labor, only the girl who was considered too dull for anything else espoused cookery and other forms of domestic work as a career. The shortage in domestic help in recent years has taught the nation that here lies a most important field of service, and cookery is respectfully alluded to in the pamphlet as a "profession" and one offering an intelligent girl a far more remunerative and interesting field for service than stenography.

There are opportunities not only for the plain cook in simple homes, but openings in administrative work for which the successful applicant must possess a university degree. Women of intelligence and refinement who are thoroughly versed in modern domestic economy find well-paid posts awaiting them in managing clubs, residential hotels and large homes for professional workers. In London service flats have sprung up to replace the old type of dwelling and skilled service of servants and meals may be obtained by the fortunate dwellers. These require the oversight of an understanding woman who comprehends just what makes the home touch as well as domestic efficiency.

Brompton Oratory, one of London's most famous churches, is to be covered inside with mosaic decorations in all colors, the work requiring ten years.

James Phillips, 80 years of age, and his two sisters, 70 and 71, were passengers recently from Liverpool to Boston on their way to visit relatives in Manitoba.

Righteous Indignation

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I would like to protest against the sensational write-ups of notorious gang leaders who, according to the press, are carrying on without government interference. If there are such people who are living outside the jails, whom the authorities know are carrying on open warfare against business, in the name of common sense, why are they not arrested and put where they belong? For the government to admit that there are such criminals doing business openly and no action taken to arrest them is surely a great state of affairs.

There are some mighty dangerous forces working when the rising generation sees that criminals work openly and are countenanced. If it takes the whole army to down the gangsters it is time they were arrested and put where they belong. I suppose the next thing we shall see some of our "famous" criminals posing with the Mayor of Chicago at a Rotary prosperity whoopee. The public really has little common sense left in spite of the great campaign of education the press carries on. If the tendencies of lax law enforcement along many lines continue we can look for real trouble.

AN AMERICAN DAUGHTER.

The St. Louis Remedy

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Read in this morning Times the Laclede Gas and Light Company of St. Louis, Mo., replaced all married women employees with men and unmarried women. Why don't you take this up and see what can be done about it here in Los Angeles? Married women have been the cause of many men and girls being out of work. It would not only help the unemployment situation, but would put married women back where they belong, taking care of a home, children and husband. Would surely like to see you do something on this subject. MRS. BELLE CRAIG.

The Cheapest Market

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Allow me to answer in my humble English to Edwin M. Searle (in yesterday's Times.) It is possible that this steel is cheaper to make in Germany.

Our police department issued the uniforms to its men, of which the badges cost 37½ cents. The badges were from an eastern city and not here.

About three years ago I was told that a certain bank in this city ordered check-book covers from an eastern house, only because there the price was one-fourth cent cheaper than in this city.

So you see it isn't our American workman who is involved, but this is business. H. R.

At Its Face Value

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We are both for prohibition—read the sickening piece in an un-American newspaper of today about two women buying wine from some old man and then a constable taking him in as a dry-law violator. The wets are going pretty far when they will, as it looks to me, plant detectives in among the dry enforcement force and frame up a publicity stunt like that one. It will be accepted at its face value by thousands. I certainly hope those involved in such stunts are thoroughly "put on the spot." HENRY NEILSON.

In L. A. County Also

HIGHWAY HIGHLANDS, Nov. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In reference to your very interesting account of a recently established crime detective laboratory in Chicago, may I call your attention to page 14 of the annual report of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department.

You will be interested to find there an account (with two pages of illustrations) of a similar (though smaller) laboratory which has evidently been functioning as part of Los Angeles' crime-fighting force for some time.

WHERE CAN I LEARN
Poultry?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Poultry raisers are finding their problems very largely solved by attending the free classes in poultry at the Owensmouth Evening High School, 6925 Topanga avenue, on Tuesday evenings, 7 to 9 p.m. Men and women of all ages are welcome to these classes and there is no charge of any kind. Each evening is devoted to a lecture by some expert in the field.

Discussion is both theoretical and practical, from the building of the proper henhouses to the preparation of soil for scratching and the selection and care of an incubator. The peculiarities of various breeds are explained and a simple type of bookkeeping is recommended.

There is no formality about registering for the class, but those interested should be in the lecture-room a little before 7 o'clock. Those living at a distance can go to within two blocks of the school on the red cars.

Ellis O. Bennett didn't want a divorce, according to the testimony of his wife, Mrs. Helen P. Bennett, who came into Superior Judge Fleming's court yesterday and got one.

PEPPERDINE EXPLAINS CAMPAIGN ACTIVITIES

George Pepperdine, automobile accessory house head, who is the only witness subpoenaed so far in the grand jury investigation of the campaign expenditures of Mayor Porter, last night issued a statement outlining his activities in behalf of the city's chief executive. The statement follows in full:

"In view of the large amount of publicity during the last few days in which my name has been used extensively in connection with the grand jury investigation of Mayor Porter's campaign expense, I feel that it is my duty to give to the press a statement of facts concerning my participation in that campaign so that the public may have a better understanding of it.

"During the campaign I was advised by attorneys that in a primary election there is no limitation as to the amount of money that may be expended by a candidate, or his committee, but in a final election there is a limitation as to the amount which may be expended by a candidate or with his knowledge.

SPENDS OWN MONEY

"At the beginning of the final campaign I was also advised by attorneys that I had a perfect legal right as a citizen to work outside the official committee and spend, or cause to be spent, any amount of money of my own, or money which I might solicit and receive from others, to aid in the election of Mr. Porter or any other candidate for any office.

"During the final campaign, I spent a substantial sum of my own money in behalf of the candidacy of Mr. Porter, but not the large amount heretofore rumored. In spending, or causing to be spent, my own money and that which I solicited and received from others, I worked independently and outside the official campaign committee, and I did not communicate to Mr. Porter any knowledge of money matters. During the campaign on more than one occasion, a number of the leading workers (including some of those who I understand are now working against the Mayor in promoting this investigation,) suggested the necessity of not informing Mr. Porter of our financial activities. I believe it is generally understood that independent organizations, or groups of friends or individuals, are at liberty to spend their money and efforts to elect the candidate of their choice.

REFERS TO DIVORCE

"I deplore the mud-slinging tactics of certain enemies of the Mayor in their efforts to discredit him by trying to show that he had some unwholesome connection with my personal affairs at the time of my divorce action against my wife nearly two years ago. The property settlement between my wife and myself was entirely equitable and was satisfactory to her, as evidenced by her statements later to certain of her relatives who are still available to testify accordingly if needed. I deplore the insinuation that I had any obligation to Mr. Porter or made any promise to him to help him in his election because of his alleged connection with my personal affairs, or for any other reason. I supported Mr. Porter in the election because I believed he was the best man for the office and because I believed that his election would be a great help and encouragement to the forces for righteousness and for the cause of law enforcement in this city, and a great factor in promoting its moral and economic welfare."

HEALTH AND FAME GAINED AS HIKER

Miss Ida S. Smith

HAYSTACK BED CHOICE OF HIKER

Woman Who Has Toured America Afoot Will Next See Sights of Hawaii

She thinks nothing of sleeping in a haystack when the thermometer is 40 below up in Montana; she's in Florida today and Alaska next week: and she wouldn't go back to the life of her cultured home in Indiana if they gave her the whole State!

That's Ida S. Smith, international hiker, who started tramping about the country ten years ago on doctor's orders following a siege of influenza and who, although she's hale and hearty again, has no intentions of resuming normal home life. Miss Smith sailed yesterday on the City of Los Angeles to spend some months hiking in the Hawaiian Islands.

When Miss Smith was sentenced to outdoor life by her physician, she mustered up her courage, shouldered a pack and set out for Montana. She cooked on dude ranches, worked on farms, hiked hither and yon, and sampled almost every sort of outdoor labor. She's been in virtually every western State; in Canada and Alaska; out to Hawaii, and down in Mexico.

On ships, the international hiker sleeps out on deck. Ashore, she prefers haystacks to hotels and as for baggage, it's all in a huge bundle on her back.

Building Being Projected for Drug Company

Erection of a five-story building at the southeast corner of Eighth and Flower streets for the Owl Drug Company was announced yesterday. The structure will cost approximately $100,000. Plans are now being prepared by Edwin Bergstrom, architect.

The Sawyer Business College will occupy the four upper floors of the structure and a number of store rooms will compose the ground floor. Plans for the building provide for a white stucco exterior of columnar appearance.

Retired Railroad Executive Dies

Edgar Van Etten, former vice-president of the New York Central Railroad, died at Sacramento yesterday, according to word received by his daughter, Mrs. Charles R. Riselay of Van Nuys. He was 87 years of age.

A native of Pennsylvania, Mr. Van Etten began his career as a dispatcher with the Erie Railroad. He advanced step by step, finally transferring to the New York Central, where he was elevated to a vice-presidency about thirty years ago. He was widely known in railroad circles.

He came to California five years ago and, after spending some time with Mrs. Riselay at Van Nuys, moved to Sacramento to make his home with another daughter, Mrs. Charles T. Slauson. The body will be sent to Port Jervis, N. Y., for burial.

OPEN GOLF PLAY LURES WRIGLEYS

Chicago Cubs Owner and Son Motor From Phoenix for Visit to Catalina

AVALON (Catalina Island) Nov. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley of Chicago and Miss Olive Atwater of New York, a sister of Mrs. Wrigley, arrived here on the noon steamer today. They had driven to Pasadena from Phoenix, Ariz., with Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley, Jr., parents of P. K. Wrigley, and Dr. Julia Strawn, where they had spent the week inspecting the new residences which both father and son are building in what is known as the Arizona Biltmore Estates.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley, Jr., are expected to arrive at the island tomorrow. The younger Mr. Wrigley, who is president of the William Wrigley, Jr., Company, expressed himself delighted to again be in California, and especially on Catalina Island.

Instead of being accompanied by his usual fleet of motor cars, Mr. Wrigley had a string of twenty-four beautiful Palmino horses from the plains of New Mexico shipped to the island with him. The Palmino which is known as the native California horse, a cross between an Arabian and a thoroughbred developed by the Spaniards, is a light cinnamon color with flowing silvery mane and tail. The animals which Mr. Wrigley has brought to Catalina are to stock his 1000-acre rancho in Cottonwood Valley at the foot of Mount Black Jack.

The P. K. Wrigleys have opened their island home, Casa del Monte, although they plan to remain at the island only a week at this time. They will return for a stay of several months in spring. Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley, Jr., are expected to extend their stay at the island until Easter, Mr. Wrigley being eager to see both the Catalina open golf championship tournament scheduled for December 11-14 on the island course and for which he has posted a purse of $7500, and to greet his Chicago Cubs who, with Manager Rogers Hornsby, are expected to arrive the middle of February.

Girl Disappears After Applying for Store Job

Police of the missing persons detail yesterday instituted search for Miss Lillian Sue Jordan, 21-year-old stenographer of 4428 Mettler street, following a report that she has been missing from her home since Saturday afternoon. Mrs. F. E. Tanner, with whom she resides, stated the young woman left the house to apply for a position in an oriental rug shop on Wilshire Boulevard and did not return.

The proprietor of the rug shop told police an applicant answering Miss Jordan's description had sought the position but left when she learned it had been filled. The missing young woman is five feet, six inches in height, weighs about 125 pounds and has black hair and brown eyes. She was attired in a blue georgette dress, black cloth coat with squirrel fur collar and cuffs, and black patent-leather shoes. She is said to be strikingly attractive.

After living with foster parents in Nashville, Tenn., since infancy, Miss Jordan came here two months ago to make her home with Mrs. Tanner, a friend.

Hundreds Visit Haven for Girls

Hundreds visited the open house of the Salvation Army's women's home and maternity hospital held yesterday at the Evangeline Hotel for Working Girls, Sixth street and Boylston avenue. The matron, Staff Captain Maude De Lee, announces that the affair will be continued today. A large group of society and club women of Los Angeles are acting as hostesses.

"Those who have not seen the work we are doing for the girls will be pleasantly surprised," Staff Captain Lee said last night. "The beautiful scarfs, kimonos, handkerchiefs and other Christmas gifts which they have made are on display. The money obtained thus goes back into new materials for the girls to use in training."

JEALOUSY IS AN ACTIVE EMOTION IN SMALL CHILDREN

Mothers refuse to admit that children can experience jealousy. "What does that child, that baby, know about jealousy?" they pooh-pooh, while to the discerning eye their children are exhibiting unmistakable evidences of this bitter and unwholesome emotion.

So long as the mother refuses to admit the possibility of jealousy, there is little chance of her preventing or correcting it. The much more helpful attitude is to keep one's eyes open, note the acts of children which are inexplicable, and relate them to some changes in the home situation which might be responsible for them.

Mrs. A. W. admits having had no experience with jealousy. But she likewise admits that she has made real efforts to prevent its arising. If all mothers foresaw this emotion and took preventive steps, it is more than possible that we would soon have no more. Mrs. A. W.'s letter follows:

PAVED WAY FOR NEWCOMER

"I read your article on jealousy recently, and was amused that mothers found their children so hard to handle. I have two children, a boy of 7½ and a girl of 6 months. As you suggested, I paved the way before baby arrived and my reward has been large. My boy loves and cares for his sister. He will come in from play any time I ask him to help with baby. When he is naughty I point out to him that he is a poor example for his sister and he says he wants her to be a nice girl and that he will try to do better. He is sincere about it.

"I do not believe in spanking and have had success in denying him things he likes very well, or depriving him of doing things that are enjoyable to him. I always read and enjoy your articles."

JEALOUSY IN EVERY FAMILY

Thank you for writing me of your success and your enjoyment of the articles. The evidences of jealousy crop up in most families and they are especially evident when children are more nearly of an age. Separated as widely as are your two children, the older and younger have such obviously different positions in the household that there is little cause for jealousy.

The older boy knows that he has privileges and garners favors that the baby cannot possibly enjoy; and, therefore, his love for the baby has no reason to be suffocated by any emotions of jealousy.

Children of like ages feel no such definite place in the home circle. The child of 2 or 3 who must suddenly divide the family's attention with a new baby is too young to be philosophical about this change in his status. He only knows that the attention he craves is no longer forthcoming and he heartily dislikes the newcomer who has snatched it from him. It is much easier to avoid these emotions if we prepare the child for the advent of the new baby, and assign him beforehand a new place in the home. Being the "big" boy, having new responsibilities and feeling somewhat the burden of the care of the new baby erase unwholesome emotions.

PETER SEES THE SINGER SING

Who doubts his eyes must doubt indeed!
You'll find most folks on this agreed.
—Old Mother Nature.

This is quite true. Few people doubt the evidence of their own eyes. If they see a thing, that is enough for them. What they have seen they have seen and so must be so. It seldom occurs to them that they may see what they expect to see instead of what actually is, or that it is a comparatively easy matter to deceive the eye, much easier than it is to fool the ear or the nose, though both of these may be fooled.

Peter Rabbit sat staring up at Whitefoot the Wood Mouse on the top of an old stump in the Green Forest and on Peter's face was the funniest look, a look of mingled suspicion and unbelief. Peter was beginning to suspect that the was the victim of a joke, yet he couldn't believe it. He actually doubted his own eyes. Yes, sir, he did so. He doubted if he really saw what he seemed to see.

What was it Peter saw? It was little Whitefoot the Wood Mouse sitting up above him on the edge of the top of the old stump and singing. Yes, sir, Whitefoot was singing. He was singing the very song that had so long puzzled Peter. Yet, because Peter had been so sure that the mysterious singer must be one of the feathered folk, he was having hard work to believe his eyes and ears now. Both told him that that song was coming from the pretty little throat of Whitefoot, but it just couldn't be so. It couldn't. He would as soon expect to sing himself as to hear a member of the Mouse family sing.

"Whitefoot," said Peter, "are you singing?"

"Of course," replied Whitefoot with a soft chuckle.

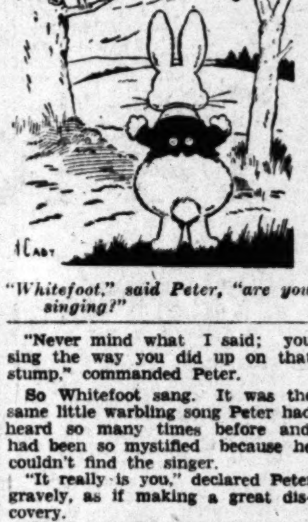
"I don't believe it," declared Peter. "You can't sing."

"That's queer," replied Whitefoot. "I don't see how I could have fooled myself so. You see, Peter, I have always supposed I could sing. Perhaps it isn't much of a song, but if you don't call it a song, what do you call it?"

Peter didn't reply to this. Instead he begged Whitefoot to come down from the top of the old stump and sit on a log close by. Whitefoot chuckled good-naturedly and came down from the old stump and sat on the end of the old log close to Peter.

"Now sing," commanded Peter.

"But you said I can't sing," replied Whitefoot mischievously.



"Whitefoot," said Peter, "are you singing?"

"Never mind what I said; you sing the way you did up on that stump," commanded Peter.

So Whitefoot sang. It was the same little warbling song Peter had heard so many times before and had been so mystified because he couldn't find the singer.

"It really is you," declared Peter gravely, as if making a great discovery.

"Yes," said Whitefoot, "it really is me."

"And you really are singing," continued Peter.

"And I really am singing," replied Whitefoot, and suited the action to the word.

"I've known you a long time, Whitefoot," said Peter.

"Quite a long time," replied Whitefoot, nodding his pretty little head.

"Then how comes it I haven't known you can sing?" demanded Peter.

"Perhaps because I don't sing very often," replied Whitefoot. "Perhaps because in the past you have fooled yourself just as you have been fooling yourself lately."

"What do you mean by fooling myself?" demanded Peter.

"Thinking that you heard a bird singing," retorted Whitefoot. "You may have heard my song in the past and thought it the song of a bird. Anyway, I cannot remember when I couldn't sing. Don't look so upset, Peter. You are not the only one; there are very few who know I can sing."

"Anyway, I can prove now that I didn't dream I heard that song," declared Peter.

"So you can. So you can, and I'll help you," replied Whitefoot.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

FIBROID TUMORS AND FASTING

We do not know yet just what is the cause of a small group of cells or a single cell locating in one place, and beginning a mysterious swelling called a tumor which grows where no growth was before. A tumor has no work to do in the body. It does not digest food for other tissues, as the stomach does, nor does it eliminate waste like the lungs, kidneys and bowels.

There are two kinds of tumors, the malignant kind, such as cancer, and the nonmalignant, of which fatty and fibroid tumors are two examples. The big difference between a cancer and a nonmalignant growth is that the cancer destroys the tissues around it and may be said to eat into it, whereas, a nonmalignant tumor does not destroy nearby tissue, but simply pushes it out of the way. It may affect such adjacent tissues by pressing on them, and may cause paint by pressing on nerves.

Fibroid and fatty tumors do not usually seriously threaten the life of the patient. In fact, these tumors may exist for years and cause no discomfort at all, especially if they are small and do not interfere with any important nerves or blood vessels. These tumors differ from cancerous ones because they do not grow again after being removed as a cancerous tumor may. Each nonmalignant growth, if several are present, forms its own starting point, while, when several cancerous growths are found, it is likely they all started from a parent growth.

Fibroid tumors are frequently found on the uterus. The size may vary from that of a pea or may increase until they weigh as much as thirty-five pounds. These enormous tumors may, of course, cause a great deal of trouble, both from pressure and from the heart being strained from the blocking of the blood circulation.

It is generally impossible for a patient to know whether she has a nonmalignant fibroid tumor by any examination she can make, herself, until the tumor has grown to considerable size. If she is examined by a physician and told she has a fibroid tumor of the uterus she will probably be told that an operation for the removal of the organ is necessary. However, I do not believe that surgical measures are always necessary or advisable in the treatment of fibroid tumors. There are several factors which must be considered in understanding the possible cure without surgery. In the first place, the immediate cause of these growths seems to be a chonic congestion. In many cases I have found that a long fast will absorb these enlarged and toughened growths, when the fasting regime is accompanied by exercises of the abdominal muscles, hot sitz baths and hot douches to bring about a greater blood supply through the affected region. It is necessary to continue on the fast of fruit juice for several weeks until the body has been reduced greatly in weight before much absorption of the fibroid takes place. I do not advise you to place yourself on a long fast unless under the care of a doctor who understands this method. Patients write to me saying they have had good results by taking short fasts at intervals of about a month apart and using the hot applications. This is probably the best plan if you cannot be under the care of a fasting expert.

Always when fasting it is a good plan to have daily treatments with a therapeutic light over the entire abdomen in addition to the hot sitz baths. Diathermy treatments are also helpful. This will increase the circulation and help carry away the accumlated material which has been deposited. After the fast it is advisable to take a large amount of physical exercise in order to keep the blood flowing through the affected parts at a natural rate.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CARROT PUDDING

Mix one cupful of grated peeled raw carrots with one cupful of grated peeled raw potatoes, mix one cupful of sugar with four tablespoonfuls of ground chocolate, half a cupful of chopped seeded raisins, half a cupful of finely chopped blanched almonds. Sift one cupful of flour with one teaspoonful of soda, a half a teaspoonful of nutmeg, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of mace and half a teaspoonful of salt. Mix well, stir in three tablespoonfuls of strained orange juice and four tablespoonfuls of melted butter, place the mixture in a buttered mold, filling three-quarters full, cover tightly and steam for three hours.

FISH SPANISH

Remove the skin from a three-pound center cut of firm fish, heat half a cupful of oil in a saucepan, add the fish and brown it on all sides, add two finaly chopped onions, one seeded and chopped green pepper, and one chopped clove of garlic, and cook until the onion is soft. Mix two cupfuls of strained tomatoes with one teaspoonful of chili powder, two tablespoonfuls of tomato ketchup, half a teaspoonful of sugar and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Pour this over the fish and cook slowly until the fish is tender. Lift the fish out carefully on to a hot platter, rub one tablespoonful of butter to a cream with two tablespoonfuls of flour, and stir into the pulp. Allow to boil up, then simmer for five minutes, add one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley and pour over the cooked fish.

PEAR TARTS

Rub one cupful of butter or shortening to a cream, sift four cupfuls of sifted flour with half a teaspoonful of salt and four tablespoonfuls of sugar, then add it to the butter mixture and mix until it is like coarse meal. Work until smooth, then add two slightly beaten eggs and about four tablespoonfuls of ice water, chill and roll out in a thin sheet, line tart molds with it, fill the tarts with peeled, thinly sliced pears and sprinkle over the top sugar that has been mixed with a little cinnamon. Rub enough cooked apricots through a sieve to make one and one-half cupfuls, mix with them one cupful of sugar, and cook for five minutes, stirring constantly. Bake the tarts that have been filled in a medium oven until the pastry is crisp, cool slightly, remove from the oven, and spread over the top with the apricot jam.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

ORANGE COUNTY LEADS ALL OTHERS IN NATION

This Year's Crops Bring a Return of $34,580,000; Per Capita Wealth Greatest

SANTA ANA, Nov. 17.—Orange county is perhaps a happy accident. No one dreamed fifty years ago of its potential wealth, much less of the phenomenal development that would be accomplished in five decades. In area Orange is one of the smaller Southern California counties but in per capita wealth, in man-made beauty and in agricultural and cultural development it is a leader.

Orange county is in the heart alike of the citrus belt and the mineral belt of California. On its 300 square miles of cultivated acres were produced this year surface crops valued at $44,000,000.

Its yield of oil and gas is approximated by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at $50,000,000.

The total value of the soil and the subsoil production for the agricultural year ending October 31 approximates $94,000,000.

GREATEST IN HISTORY

For Orange county 1930 has proved the most productive and profitable year in its history. While there was industrial and agricultural depression elsewhere, the sun shone and the rains fell on the broad acres of Orange county; and the citrus products, for which Orange county is famous, brought more returns to the growers than ever before.

Orange county this year fully justified its name. From 50,000 acres devoted to oranges and lemons a crop was harvested valued at $34,580,000. This is greater than the yield of any other county in the United States in any year of the nation's history.

As in other parts of the citrus belt, co-operative irrigation and co-operative marketing are the keys to success.

PER CAPITA WEALTH GREATEST

According to the latest banker's directory, the combined deposits of Orange county banks are greater than those of any other county of equal population in the United States.

In per capita wealth, Orange county leads the nation. Orange county has a motto: "It is no tragedy to fail, but it is a tragedy not to try." Orange county's rural population of 73,000 has reduced farming to an exact science.

Down in the citrus belt, orange culture has become a cult.

The acres are not permitted to loaf. The wealth of the soil is not permitted to go to waste. They make a practice of raising two and three different crops on the same acreage at the same time.

It has been demonstrated that a walnut grove and a lemon grove can be made to yield profitably on the same acreage. Between the wide rows of the walnut trees rows of lemon trees are planted and the yield of the one is not reduced by the yield of the other.

In the rows between the orange trees beans are cultivated profitably. Twenty-three thousand acres of beans yielded last year a crop valued at $3,000,000; and several thousand of these acres were in orange groves that yielded a crop averaging $700 an acre.

PROFITABLE OIL FIELDS

Some of the most profitable oil fields of Orange county are in the citrus belt. The oil derricks are scattered about among the orange and lemon groves; and the combined yield of the soil and the subsoil is producing a flourishing crop of country capitalists.

Probably nowhere else in the United States is there such a co-operation of the soil and subsoil production.

Orange county has been favored of the gods, alike in climate, soil and location. Santa Ana, the capital of Orange county, is only thirty-five miles from the heart of the city of Los Angeles, with its population of 1,250,000.

This proximity to a great market and distributing point cuts packing and transportation costs and insures a constant demand and top prices for dairy products, poultry, deciduous fruits and vegetables.

FINE LOCATION

The western border of Orange county is only about ten miles from Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors and the transportation distance from the heart of Orange county to the harbors is less than from the heart of Los Angeles. Orange county reaps equal benefit from these twin gateways to the Orient and shares none of the responsibility for their maintenance.

Only about one-fourth the cultivated acreage of Orange county is in the citrus belt; but a great diversity of crops is produced on the rest of the 170,218 acres, and most of them at handsome profits.

The country is using more peppers for salads and combination dishes than ever before and Orange county is producing most of them. In this county is the largest pimiento pepper acreage in the United States. About 80 per cent of the pimientos marketed in the country are packed in Orange county. Five thousand five hundred and ninety acres devoted to pepper culture produced this year a crop valued at $1,175,000.

CROP VALUES ENORMOUS

Nursery stock, seeds, bulbs and flowers in the county are valued at $580,800.

A grain-hay acreage of 27,206 acres yielded a crop valued at $307,592.

Sugar beets from 8406 acres sold for $507,048.

English walnuts made a favorable showing. The crop from 11,658 acres is valued at $1,337,955.

Four thousand three hundred and twenty-eight acres devoted to tomatoes produced a crop that sold for $445,177.

While the market-gardening acreage was small the average yield per acre was gratifying to the growers. The produce from 750 acres brought $375,000.

Miscellaneous field crops covered 24,443 acres, and the returns totaled $253,097.

Two thousand one hundred and forty-eight acres of alfalfa, with an average cutting of five crops, produced a revenue of $205,000.

The berry acreage was small, but the returns large. The crop sold for $153,835.

Avocado culture is making rapid strides. The average return per acre compares favorably with that of oranges and lemons. The returns from 324 acres devoted to avocados was slightly in excess of $200,000.

The cabbage fields of Orange county did exceptionally well. The crop from 529 acres sold for $127,694.

Miscellaneous vegetables from 950 acres produced $117,071.

Dairy products sold for $1,230,000. Returns from the lowly but industrious hen were $255,000. The cattle herds were valued at $250,000, swine at $57,000 and sheep at $10,000.

CITIES GROWING FAST

Orange county has a seacoast frontage of forty miles, and its bathing beaches are famous. The Orange county fishing fleet sold its catch made during the last year for $254,628.

By reason of its rapidly growing urban population agricultural acreage is sacrificed every year to town and city subdivisions. While thousands of acres are added to the agricultural area through the cultivation of arid lands, generally made possible by the extension of irrigation systems, other thousands are withdrawn for home and industrial sites. The vacillating is something like that between marriage and divorce.

Orange county residents are justly proud of their public-school system, which is one of the highest ranking in the United States. They are proud of their good roads—there are more than 1100 miles of paved highway in the county. They are proud of their well-builded, well-lighted and well-tended cities, and doubly proud of their beach resorts. They are proud of their prosperity, when most of the rest of the country is wearing a long face.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS

In a county of such profitable production there is always money for desired public improvements, for parks, boulevards, schools, churches, libraries, hospitals and municipal and county buildings.

In 1776, while the Declaration of Independence was being drafted in Philadelphia, Spanish priests and soldiers were founding the mission of Capistrano. Proceeding northward, they founded the town of Santa Ana. Four flags have floated over Santa Ana since that time, bit its real growth did not begin until California was admitted to the American Union as a sovereign State.

Orange county is the land of the fruit and the vine. It is the materialization of the dreams of Horace and Virgil. It is still more delightful than the magic isle of Calyo, the isle of eternal springtime.

Again it is demonstrated that truth is more romantic than fiction; that the imagination cannot equal the observation in dramatic interest.

Three-fourths of Orange county's water supply both for irrigation and domestic purposes is pumped from wells of from 100 to 300 feet, sunk into the great basin underlying most of the county's 200,000 acres of gently sloping plains land. The Santa Ana River, main artery of the extensive tricounty flood control and water storage project involving Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, is the main feeder for this basin. Smaller areas adjoining the Santa Ana Mountains, San Joaquin and Puente Hills, are supplied otherwise, while smaller basins in the regions watered by Aliso, Trabuco and San Juan creeks in the southern part of the county, are distinct from the major basin. Two canals, about twenty miles long, one extending in the direction of Anaheim and Fullerton and the other through the Orange and Santa Ana region and both co-operatively owned, have intakes in Santa Ana Canyon through which the Santa Ana River enters the county. In low water periods the river yields insufficient water for these canals so that a considerable part of the supply is pumped from the great underground reservoir.

REPLENISHMENT PLANS

To provide for the replenishment of all its underground storage, Orange county has been addressing itself to significant plans for the capture and subsoil infiltration of vagrant waters. An act passed in 1927 organized the Orange county flood-control district. Water conservation is a large part of flood-control obligation.

The importance of the tricounty project in this respect is indicated by the fact that the Santa Ana River drains an area of 1485 square miles and the flood waters borne by the stream are of too much volume and rate of flow to permit of their complete infiltration, so that much of it wastes into the ocean. For example, in 1916, a year of highest flood flow, some 45,000 cubic feet of water per second came tumbling down the Santa Ana at the crest period.

Favorable to plans to impound and sink vagrant waters are the absorptive stream beds. Wasteland areas in the county that in the past were available as percolating mediums, through their natural flooding in storm periods, are now all utilized as tillable lands, a situation that magnifies the importance of the tricounty plan which contemplates the use of extensive spreading areas nearer the source of the river for the replenishment of the subsoil reserves in the extensive area that comprises the three counties. Other replenishment projects in Orange county will supplement the enormous supply to be derived from the tricounty plan now well along in its development.

HOT FIGHT ON FROST PROMISED

More Elaborate Plans to Combat Citrus Foe Made, Floyd D. Young Says

REDLANDS, Nov. 17.—Floyd D. Young of Pomona, senior meteorologist for the fruit frost protection service of the United States Weath-Bureau, told citrus growers here today that more elaborate plans have been made to protect the citrus crops this year than ever before.

At the same time a demonstration was given of the most advanced types of the orchard heaters now in use. The meeting was held at the Redlands Co-operative Packing-house.

The heaters demonstrated included those that burn solid fuel and the oil-burning types. No other method of frost protection has proved so effective and economical as orchard heating, Young stated.

The Weather Bureau has made exhaustive tests of almost every suggestion, but has found nothing more practical than the placing of stoves in the orchards and lighting them when the temperature reaches the danger point. It is possible, under favorable conditions, to raise the temperature 12 deg. by heating, he said, and in any instance it should be possible to raise it 8 deg. Windjammers, irrigation, covering the trees, or heavy smoke, have not proved of practical value in frost protection, he stated.

Russell Type Parachute Wins British Sanction

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 17.—Advices that the British Air Ministry, presumably at the request of the Prince of Wales, officially has approved the Russell lobe-type parachute and that this type of aerial life preserver is now being used extensively by Royal Air Force flyers, were received from London today by H. R. McClintock. The Prince of Wales long has been an ardent champion of the parachute manufactured in Southern California.

McClintock further announced that the Russell Parachute Company will participate in the international parachute competition sponsored by the French Air Ministry, scheduled to be held at the famous Le Bourget flying field near Paris next February.

The local company maintains ten branch agencies at the principal flying centers in the United States, one of which is at the Grand Central Airport at Los Angeles.

Oil Production in Canyon Expected

SANTA PAULA, Nov. 17.—That Santa Paula Canyon may yet be the scene of the next real oil production area is indicated by the fact that the Superior Oil Company, one of the strongest financially in the production business, is drilling ahead in that area with good prospects.

The Superior now has a well down 4200 feet and plans to stay with it, with rotary equipment, until the field is proven.

EASTERN STAR WILL INSTALL OFFICERS

CHINO, Nov. 17.—Monday, December 8, has been set as the date for installation of newly elected officers for Chino chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. Officers to be installed are Mrs. Pearl E. Holmes, worthy matron; C. W. Thompson, worthy patron; Madieu Noggle, associate matron; B. R. Moody, associate patron; Bertha Frady, secretary; Frances LeClaire, treasurer; Ruth Henry, conductress; Ernestine Welch, associate conductress. Mrs. Nellie LaForge is retiring worthy matron.

CHINO GARDEN CLUB PLANS ITS ACTIVITIES

CHINO, Nov. 17.—Under direction of Mrs. George Perry, recently elected president, Chino Valley Garden Club will soon launch an extensive program of activity, it was declared today in announcement that the group will meet some time next week to make plans for the winter program. In the past the Garden Club has been one of the most active organizations in Chino. Other officers of the club are Mrs. Alice Benjamin, vice-president; Mrs. C. W. Hughes, secretary-treasurer.

PROSPERITY IN CITY, SANTA PAULAN SAYS

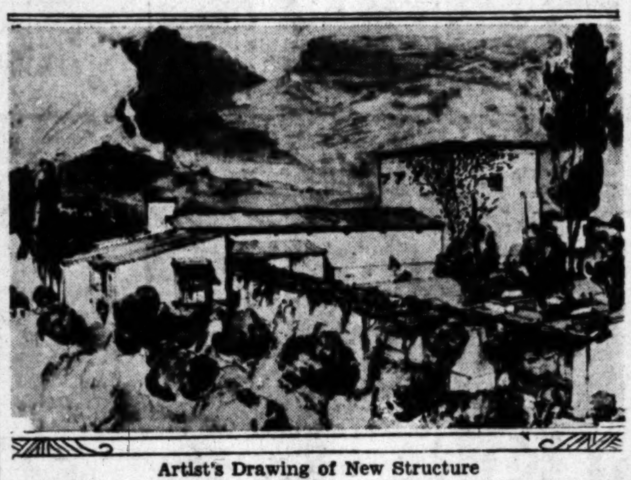
SANTA PAULA, Nov. 17.—That Santa Paula is prosperous was the statement made today at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club by Milton M. Teague, president of the Chamber of Commerce. He said that more members had been secured to the booster organization in the recent campaign than last year, and when final returns are all in it is believed the total receipts will be greater.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

MONTEBELLO, Nov. 17.—With Mrs. Walter F. Malone, president of the Montebello Woman's Club, as chairman of the Montebello chapter of American Red Cross, supervising, the annual roll call is under way and is expected to reach its quota within the time limit. The drive started on Armistice Day with six Junior Club members in Red Cross uniforms participating in the parade and program activities as well as taking memberships. Since then the drive has been continued and a tag day is scheduled for next week. Montebello's quota is $200.

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE BUILT

Claremont Amateurs to Have Theater



Artist's Drawing of New Structure

Above is artist's drawing of new Padua Hills (Claremont) Community Players' Theater and tea room. The building is located on a hillside that overlooks Claremont and the San Gabriel Valley. Dedication is set for December 2.

CLAREMONT, Nov. 17.—Celebration of the opening of one of the West's most beautiful and attractive theater homes of a community players' organization, has been set by the Claremont Community Players and Padua Hills, Inc., for Tuesday evening, December 2, when the organization will offer the first public presentation here of the stage play, "The Royal Family."

Rapidly nearing completion, the large concrete building located on a canyon hillside, four miles north of Claremont, is being erected by the Padua Hills organization, of which H. H. Garner of this city is president, in the center of a 2000-acre tract of wooded foothill land. In response to the needs of the players for a community building with a theater to be used at a nominal rental, this building, costing more than $70,000, is being erected.

Although the Claremont Community Players is a young organization, only two years of age, it has grown so rapidly that it now numbers more than 250 members. Although the group was born in Claremont, it now is a valley-wide organization offering to all who join at $3 a season the opportunity to act, direct, make scenery, sing, act as host or hostess at social intermissions which are a part of each members' meeting or be just a "creative listener."

The players hold monthly meetings, open to members only, as well as several public meetings. In addition to these meetings, there are groups interested in play-reading, play-writing, and making costumes, as well as other projects in connection with the little-theater movement.

Last year the players won first place in the Southern California tournament of one-act plays.

The first public presentation, "The Royal Family," will be given on the evening of December 2, and will continue through the week. The dining-room in the theater building will be open, under the direction of Mrs. Helen R. Dunn, formerly of the Claremont Inn.

Visitors are welcome at the playhouse. The theater proper seats 300, providing a large stage with a fly gallery, dressing-rooms, a green-room and a large workroom.

Officers of the players are: President, James M. Judy; vice-presidents, Mrs. Lee C. Mahoney and E. Percy Johnson; secretary, Miss Edna Lockridge, and treasurer, Mrs. Ada M. Lill. Directors are Mrs. H. H. Garner, Dr. R. D. Williams, William S. Ament, and Attilio Ricciardi. Fred R. Nohavec is business manager and James P. Blaisdell, dramatic director.

POLICE RADIO NETS BANDITS

Pair Identified as Robbers of Pasadena Store Caught Nine Minutes and Thirty Seconds Later

PASADENA, Nov. 17.—Success of the new police radio broadcasting system was further demonstrated today when two armed bandits who had just held-up the MacMarr grocery store at 60 North Lake avenue were captured nine minutes and thirty seconds after the bold crime was committed.

The suspects, Elvon Adamson and Joseph R. Jarred, are asserted to have driven away in their automobile at a high rate of speed after collecting $50 from three MacMarr clerks whom they forced into the meat department ice box at pistol point.

While the bandits were making an unsuccessful attempt to open the store safe, Fred Schwoerer of 1092 North Catalina avenue, one of the victims, seized the opportunity to peer out of the door and obtain a description of the robbers' automobile which they had parked in the rear of the building.

As the gunmen dashed for their machine Schwoerer telephoned a description of the men and the car to the police, paying no attention to threats of death if the employees moved from the ice box. The report of the robbery and the descriptions were immediately broadcast to patrol cars by D. R. Hamilton, police radio announcer.

Patrolmen H. D. Mallone and C. B. Lay were cruising about near the intersection of South El Molino avenue and Alpine street when they received orders through the patrol car's radio receiver to halt the bandits in the event they tried to escape toward Los Angeles via South Fair Oaks avenue.

At the intersection of Fair Oaks and Glenarm street, the officers saw a car speeding south which answered the description and succeeded in overtaking it after a half-mile chase.

One of the bandit suspects attempted to snatch his revolver from its holster, but Lay "beat him to the draw," and the prisoners were handcuffed after surrendering their revolvers.

They described themselves as Joseph R. Jarred, 25 years of age, 5868 San Pedro street, Los Angeles, and Elvon Adamson, 20, of 2661 South Strathmore street, Wilmar. They denied implication in the hold-up, but were identified by their victims.

Because of crowded conditions in the old jail, and to prevent them from communicating, the suspects won the doubtful honor of being the first orthodox inmates of the new $200,000 jail building on North Broadway which will be formally opened within a few days.

The arresting officers, both of whom are members of the police football team which meets the firemen in the Rose Bowl Friday night, were congratulated by Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley.

"The radio system, the first police broadcaster in the State, now promises to be our first line of defense against the underworld," Chief Kelley declared.

REDONDO BEACH, Nov. 17.—Petitions asking the recall of Mayor May B. Hopkins and City Councilman John Russell Shea were filed with City Clerk Amngold this morning.

The petitions, each bearing 850 signatures, assert failure to carry out the will of the people and inefficiency on the part of Mayor Hopkins.

The paper directed against Councilman Shea bears similar charges, citing also that he is unfitted by temperament to fill the office of Councilman. It bears his own signature, affixed during the early part of the campaign.

Both are filed under the name of the Taxpayers' League and ask an immediate election.

DEATH PACT OF LOVERS KEPT

Foster Patrick Shoots Down Sweetheart, Mrs. Romero

While Body Falls, He Fires Bullet Into Own Brain

Host, Hostess and Seven Others Hear Shots

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 17.—Murder and suicide, the result of a death pact, was the theory of the police today in connection with the shooting last night of Mrs. Verona Romero, 21 years of age, and the self-inflicted death of Foster Patrick, 26-year-old La Jolla mechanic.

Mrs. Romero was shot and killed by Patrick in a home at 3229 Chicago street. While Mrs. Romero's body was still falling to the floor, Patrick turned the gun against his own head and fired. His body fell beside that of his sweetheart.

The tragedy occurred within earshot of nine persons, two of them the host and hostess of the victims. Louis Bernard and his wife Grace, with whom Patrick and his sweetheart were visiting, were in the bedroom when the tragedy occurred. They were putting two children to bed who were in the house, police said.

The apparent murder and suicide, police and Coroner's officers say, following an investigation, was apparently premeditated and planned by both Patrick and Mrs. Romero. The tenor of several notes which the victims wrote indicated that the tragedy had been rehearsed and planned.

Prior to the shooting, Patrick took W. N. Maxson of 4065 Arizona street into the kitchen of the home and said: "I have a surprise for you a little later on," according to Maxson. Whereupon Patrick produced a .38-caliber gun and showed it to Maxson. "If anything happens, look in my overcoat pocket," Patrick said as he left Maxson.

Mrs. Romero, who had been chatting with friends while Patrick was in the kitchen with Maxson, called to Patrick and said: "Let's go places and do things."

With this admonition, Patrick got his coat and went to join Mrs. Romero, who had already obtained hers. When the couple were between the kitchen and dining-room, Patrick fired.

No Rain Fall at Presentation of Desert Play

PALM SPRINGS, Nov. 17.—By reason of the fact that rain throughout Southern California prevented large numbers from visiting the opening performances of the 1930 Desert Play, "Tahquitz," over the week-end here, festive preparations are being made to accommodate a record-breaking crowd for the final presentation this coming Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Despite storms prevailing elsewhere, delightful weather conditions at the desert resort attended the opening performance, which was enthusiastically received by the audience. Many persons who had viewed all nine previous presentations expressed the opinion that the 1930 Desert Play is by far the finest to be staged at the famed resort.

An outstanding feature of the opening presentation was the rendition by Wallace MacDonald, the hero, of a brand new song, "The Desert Rose," composed specially for the play, in one of the romantic scenes with Dolores Brown, the heroine. The Saturday and Sunday concluding performances each will start at 2:30 p.m., according to Phil Whiting, the director.

Phone Company Can Raise Rate

ONTARIO, Nov. 17.—Although users of telephones in the Ontario-Upland district bitterly opposed a proposal made by the Ontario-Upland Telephone Company to materially increase the rates on the service, the effort came to naught, according to word from San Francisco that the State Railroad Commission has authorized the increased rates.

According to the verdict of the railroad commission the rate increase will become effective December 1, with the gross revenue clause for a year's test.

Officials of the telephone company declared repeatedly at the hearings with the railroad commission that the company has been operating at a loss for years in the Ontario-Upland district.

The rate already charged in the district was considered higher than in other parts of the State, opponents to the proposal declared at the hearing. The increase allowed the utility company is $1.50 per month additional on resident telephones, and $2 monthly additional on business telephones, according to the railroad commission's ruling.

This increase will yield the telephone company a 7 per cent return on the investment, the commission stated in its announcement. The rate increase will bring a gross revenue of $186,000.

MISS MACKIE TO EXPLORE IN CONGO

British Woman Who Lives in Live Oak Canyon Near Redlands Plans Adventure

REDLANDS, Nov. 17.—The Hon. Alice Mackie, whose home is in Live Oak Canyon at the canyon goat ranch owned by the Misses Violet Kirby and Rose Saunders, but who is seldom at home, has just marked off Morocco on her map of explorations and has settled down in London for a short stay, according to word received today at the ranch.

Miss Mackie is now making plans to invade the African Congo. The Congo is one of the few parts of the world this adventurous British woman has not explored. She has hunted fossils in the wilds of Siberia, penetrated the jungles of East India, poked among the deserted ruins of Central American forests, and visited primitive Indian tribes in the interior of the continent to the south.

At intervals she returns to Live Oak Canyon, where the pastoral life of goat herding is varied once in a while by raiding wildcats and peevish rattlers.

Miss Mackie is a daughter of the distinguished Scottish baron, Sir James Mackie. A university professor, D. A. Cockrell, and Mrs. Cockrell often accompany her on trips into the far places of the world. They have planned to go on the journey into the Congo. After the Congo adventure Miss Mackie is expected again to visit the canyon goat ranch, there to remain until the roaming call is heard again. The proprietors of the goat ranch are members of families honored in British history.

Miss Kirby's father was Lawrence Kirby, a barrister who was in Egypt during the bombardment of Khartoum. Miss Kirby was born in Egypt. Miss Saunders is a daughter of the Hon. Herbert Clifford Saunders, who was King's Counsel.

The canyon goat ranch is known throughout the West for the quality of its stock.

Separation of Grade Projects Given Extension

GLENDALE, Nov. 17.—Six months' extension on grade separations at Brand Boulevard and Los Feliz Road and the Southern Pacific tracks was granted today by the State Railroad Commission, according to word received here by B. C. Brennan, City Attorney.

In addition to Glendale and the railroad company, the city and county of Los Angeles are also affected by the order, as a proportionate share of the cost of the two grade separations was allocated to them.

The new order extends the time for compliance with the original order of the commission from the 30th inst. to May 30, 1931, and permits completion of the two projects by May 30, 1932, in one instance, and December 30, 1932, for the second one, allowing one year's time for the construction of each separation.

CHARITY PLANS DISCUSSED

Salvation Army Sees Need for Greater Christmas Activity Here Than in Former Years

Plans for the annual Salvation Army Christmas activities among the needy and cheerless of the Southland were the subject of an all-day session yesterday of officers from army corps of the entire Los Angeles and south coast division. About fifty officers met with Brig. James C. Bell, commanding officer, at headquarters, 832 West Ninth street, to discuss calls for relief, which, it is said, will be more than 25 per cent greater than last year.

In accordance with its custom ever since the Salvation Army came here some fifty years ago, there will be Christmas trees programs and Christmas baskets in the twenty-five towns of Southern California where army corps are located. The principal effort in the relief work is directed toward the assembling and distribution of baskets containing all of the requirements for a real Christmas dinner, as well as candy, a toy or some article of wearing apparel where there are children in the family.

In order to meet the increased need this year, army workers will man their Christmas kettles on the streets in towns where this activity is permitted at an earlier date this year, it was decided at the meeting, and an appeal will be made to service clubs which have helped the army in years past with its Christmas program to increase their support to meet the greater need.

Each of the corps commanders of Southern California will begin organization work at once in his section and the efforts of most of the army members will be concentrated on the Christmas program from this time until the holidays.

THEATER MONEY RESTORED

Sum of $12,600 Stolen From United Artists Safe Year Ago Returned by Court

Asserted loot of the safe robbery of the United Artists Theater, totaling $12,600 yesterday was ordered restored to the theater organization, when Superior Judge Scott gave judgment for $7214.67, while the County Clerk turned over $5385. The judgment was directed against Edward Kavanaugh and Mary Kavanaugh, now serving terms in San Quentin prison for the safe robbery.

The $5383 turned over by the County Clerk had been held under attachment after being used as evidence in the criminal trial which resulted in the Kavanaughs' conviction.

Judge Scott awarded judgment to the United Artists Theater after Publix Theaters Corporation, which had been joined as plaintiff, waived any claim to the money. Kavanaugh was janitor of the theater on August 19, 1929, when the safe was looted after being opened by combination. On the following day, Mary Kavanaugh, his wife, deposited in two banks sums approximating the total amount of the theft. Theater officials testified that Kavanaugh copied the safe combination from the notebook of Horton Kahn, house manager.

At yesterday's session, Wilma Townsend, a bank employee, identified the currency deposited by Mrs. Kavanaugh. Mrs. Mary J. Hamilton testified to seeing Mrs. Kavanaugh deposit the money.

Reports at Luncheon May Put New Face on Drive

"Million-Dollar Committees" Believed Near Goal

Rain Fails to Dampen Ardor of Volunteer Workers

With the Los Angeles Community Chest total mounting steadily toward its goal, campaign leaders are urging the team workers to full speed in completing their canvass of prospective donors. Additional subscriptions obtained since last Friday will be reported at the luncheon meeting of the solicitors in the music room of the Biltmore at noon today. Principal interest of this meeting centers about the reports that are expected from the thirty vice-chairmen of the central division groups. These committees, according to Campaign Chairman Kerr, have in their possession a sufficient number of cards of previous donors among the wealthier class to boost the campaign total fully $500,000.

The Mayor's "million-dollar committee," with its two groups headed by Harry Chandler and Russell H. Ballard, are setting the pace for the rest of the organization. Chandler's committee, speeding along with 95 per cent of its quota in hand, is expected to go over the top today, and Ballard's contingent is working hard to reach the 100 per cent mark.

Appreciable gains in reports from the business, industrial and residential divisions are expected as a result of the midmonth pay day, which came over the week-end. Business and industrial divisions, campaign officials state, are trailing in their quotas. This condition, according to Chairman Dryer of the business teams, and Fred Seaver of the industrial group, will be corrected through the persistent determined efforts that are being put forth by team workers.

Mrs. Albert C. Crutcher, heading the residential districts, advises that all of her divisions are hard at work and will bring in substantial reports.

At campaign headquarters reports indicate that clearing skies, following the week-end rainstorm, served as a stimulus to the energy and determination of 15,000 public-spirited men and women of Los Angeles who have volunteered their services in raising the Community Chest fund. These reports show, it is said, that it requires more than rainstorms to dampen the ardor and enthusiasm of the vast army of volunteers, who are determined that sufficient funds shall be raised to take care of the poor and needy during the coming year.

Hospital Fund Slash Opposed

Opposition to a retrenchment of $6000 in the operation of the Receiving Hospital was voiced in the City Council yesterday when the Health and Sanitation Committee reported against the plan, asking that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee to take care of the increased expense.

The report was adopted. The retrenchment plan contemplated the elimination of two nurses and one surgeon.

"TAG ENDS" RULING SOUGHT

County Has $1,250,000 in Bond Issue Leftovers That Eaton Wants Included in Dam Suit

With a friendly suit being planned against the county to determine if the $21,000,000 balance of the $25,000,000 San Gabriel dam bond issue can be used to build three dams in the canyon to take the place of the abandoned one, E. C. Eaton, flood control engineer, yesterday requested the Board of Supervisors to include approximately $1,250,000 now in banks, left from other projects, some of them finished and forgotten.

The flood-control engineer's suggestion was made in the form of a communication sent to the board wherein he pointed out that the bond money is left over from twelve projects, some as far back as 1916. He declared the money can well be used, if permissible, under the law, to further other work in the flood-control department.

After hearing the letter read the Supervisors ordered that Engineer Eaton make his report more specific, and referred the matter to the County Counsel for an opinion as to whether the tag-end bond money from previous projects may be included in the San Gabriel bond issue suit.

NEED SET FORTH

Eaton declared that not only is the money badly needed for flood-control improvements, but if it could be released at the present time many projects could be started, thereby giving many men employment.

Some legal authorities hold that bond money can only be used for the exact project it was voted for. Others contend that if the same work, or purpose, is carried out with other projects it may be used.

However, the Board of Supervisors is unwilling to begin any new projects in San Gabriel Canyon until the courts have ruled on the question of whether the balance of the huge bond issue voted for the high dam can be used legally. The board also desires a ruling on whether the money left from other projects already finished may be used.

Eaton declares that in a number of projects for which bonds were voted in 1916 and 1924, large sums were left over, ranging from $10,000 to $50,000, because of construction economies. A number of projects including Eaton Canyon dam near Mt. Wilson were expressly provided in the 1924 issue and have not been built. The Eaton Canyon appropriation amounted to $500,000 and the flood-control engineer is of the belief that, if he can do so legally, he can spend this sum to greater advantage within the same watershed at a better location.

The engineer's comprehensive plan for flood control in Los Angeles county, made public several months ago, outlines far more strategic and beneficial flood-control work to which this money could be used than that for which it was originally voted.

Instead of filling the county with dams, many not needed, he proposes a series of spreading grounds in which flood waters can be made to seep underground into storage basins within the valleys to serve cities and ranches, instead of lying idle behind mountain dams.

COUNTY FUND SOUGHT FOR COLISEUM BORE

A suggestion that the county pay half cost of $16,000 for the construction of twin pedestrian tunnels under Figueroa street at Thirty-ninth street, the main entrance to the Coliseum, is made in a committee report adopted yesterday by the City Council and transmitted to the Board of Supervisors. It was pointed out that the county is interested in the Exposition Park-Coliseum development.

WORLD GROUP'S LIBRARY AIDED

Dr. Millikan, Dr. Rowe and Mrs. Winter Donors

Exhibit of Books Planned at Annual Institute

Gifts by three members of the board of advisers of the Institute of International Relations, which holds its 1930 session December 7-12, have recently enriched the library of the Los Angeles University of International Relations, affiliated with the University of Southern California, with Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid as chancellor.

Dr. Robert Millikan of Pasadena, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director-general of the Pan-American Union at Washington, and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Pasadena are the donors of the books which now bear the special bookplate of the L.A.U.I.R., bearing the inscription "Per Educationem Pax," or "Peace Through Education."

DR. MILLIKAN'S GIFT

Dr. Millikan, who is a member of the committee on intellectual co-operation of the League of Nations, has just given the library, housed in Bovard Hall, his file of the publications of the League of Nations, consisting largely of materials on intellectual co-operation. The collection includes back issues since the establishment of the League ten years ago.

Dr. Rowe has donated considerable material in connection with Latin-American republics.

Mrs. Winter has presented the special library with a number of books on world affairs.

"Communications with ministers and ambassadors of the countries of the world and the co-operation of the members of the Los Angeles Consular Corps and interested individuals have lined the walls of the library with hundreds of such volumes as German and British official documents, reports of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland; The Netherlands Orange-and-White Book; the Bulgarian Orange Book, the French Yellow Papers, the Red Archives of the Society for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries of the U.S.S.R., from Moscow, copies of bilateral treaties made by Japan up until 1928, books from Japan and Siam, and reports of the United States government on foreign relations since 1863," states Miss Lillian Getty, librarian.

"Because of proximity to the Pacific there is special emphasis placed upon Latin America and the Orient," she states. "Arrangements have been made also to receive regularly the reports of the United States Bureau of Domestic Commerce and press pulletins issued by the Secretary of State twice a week on foreign affairs."

Current books on international relations by authors who have had actual experience are included in the special library, which is open to all students of international relations on the Pacific Coast.

COMING INSTITUTE

At the seventh session of the Institute of International Relations, to meet at the Mission Inn, Riverside, December 7 to 12, a book exhibit including a variety of volumes dealing with world affairs will be in harmony with the program of the institute, to consist of round tables, conferences, and lectures on matters of sectional, national, and international interest, headed by educators, diplomatic leaders and authorities in the industrial, legal, political, religious, social and educational fields.

The Los Angeles University of International Relations was founded in 1924 and the yearly institute is under its auspices. Its aims, objective, and purpose are "education, understanding, respect, good will, friendship, unity and peace."

QUACK COOKS NEGRO'S GOOSE

Colored Man Caught Ducking With Duck Given Jail Term

Because a duck quacked at the wrong time Junius Green, colored, yesterday started serving a ninety-day jail sentence.

Junius pleaded guilty to petty theft before Municipal Judge Curtis, who imposed the jail sentence. Officers Brody, Garrott and Kimbrough reported that Mrs. Mary Kelsey, 1163 East Twenty-fifth street, called them and reported a duck missing from her chicken yard. With the woman, the officers started to search the vicinity, and sighted Junius at the corner of Twenty-fifth street and Central avenue. Then the duck got into action, as related by Junius.

"I thought I had that duck all quieted down, Judge," he said, "but he must have heered the law, cause he went 'quack, quack' and flopped his wings hard."

Junius fled, the officers declared, but was overtaken in an alley when he halted in a vain effort to quiet his prize.

WALK-BLOCKING BY AUTO HELD BASIS FOR DAMAGES

Injuries received in a fall while walking around an automobile blocking a sidewalk may constitute a cause for action, according to a decision handed down yesterday by Division One District Court of Appeal.

The court's ruling was on an action started by Louise Hartford against Sam and Louis Silverman. She complained that she slipped and suffered injuries while walking around an automobile in charge of one of the Silvermans, a minor. The woman recited that the machine was across the sidewalk and that the occupant refused to move it.

A demurrer to the action was sustained by the Municipal Court and that court's ruling was upheld by the Superior Court. The Appellate Court, however, ruled that although decisions by appellate courts of California with reference to the liability of defendants in circumstances analagous to those which obtained in this case are not harmonious or consistent, it believed that the weight of authority sustains the conclusion that a jury would be justified in returning a verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

The Appellate Court reversed the Superior Court's ruling.

Film Theft Case Again Delayed

Preliminary hearing for three men and a woman accused of conspiring to steal the script of the film, "The Dawn Patrol," from the Warner Brothers studio, was delayed again yesterday by Municipal Judge Ballard. It now is scheduled to be heard on the 24th inst.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts asked for the delay because a civil suit is pending regarding the case. In granting the delay Judge Ballard told the witnesses they need not return to court again unless resubpoenaed by the District Attorney's office. The case, pending since last August, has been delayed several times at the District Attorney's request. The defendants are Joseph Marsh, Forrest P. Easley and Edith Higgins.

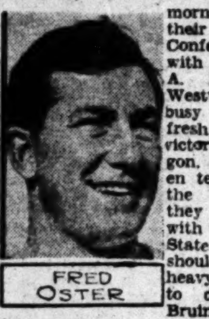
BEAVERS DUE HERE THURSDAY

Oregon State Football Team Battles Bruins at Coliseum Friday Night

BY FRANK ROCHE

Oregon State College football players, headed by Coach Paul Schissler, will arrive here Thursday morning for their Coast Conference clash with the U.C.L.A. Bruins of Westwood. The busy Beavers, fresh from a victory over Oregon, an unbeaten team up to the time that they tangled with the Oregon State squad, should rule heavy favorites to defeat the Bruins, who have not won a conference game this season.



FRED OSTER

The Bruins and Oregon State clash Friday night at the Coliseum. The Bruin officials wish it could be a Saturday afternoon affair, but the Beavers insisted on the night game because they are scheduled to leave Saturday night for Chicago, where they play West Virginia on the 27th inst. Figuring on the weather conditions as they are at present, a night game means a cool evening, especially in the box office. It's hard to get people out to a game when they can sit home in comfort and listen to it over the radio without getting their tootsies frozen.

Be that as it may, the Bruins are ready to make it hot enough for the Beavers. Spaulding worked his squad far into the night at Westwood last evening for the clash. "Big" Bill drilled his charges on

PRICE IN "LAST STAND"

California Golden Bears Meet Stanford Eleven in Annual "Big Game" Saturday

BERKELEY, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Stanford "big game" week introduced itself today for University of California varsity football players and under the illumination of a flock of floodlights Coach Price prepared for what is quite generally regarded as his "last stand."

Two encouraging factors have arisen since the first discussion occurred on the poor Golden Bear showing against the University of Southern California Trojans. One of these is the expression of devotion to Price by members of the team and the other is the apparent recovery of several outstanding players in time for the Stanford match.

Today Trainer Charlie Volz indicated that Rusty Gill, red-headed fullback, who might have done something in the Trojan contest if he had not been removed on account of injuries, is on the road to recovery. Gill is a pretty tough boy to permanently injure. His return for the Stanford game would be a big boost to California's chance for victory.

RAIN POSTPONES LOS ANGELES CITY WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY

SAGEHENS, OXY DRILL FOR BATTLE

Annual Grid Feud Listed for Rose Bowl Saturday Afternoon

A light workout to limber joints stiffened over the week-end was the bill of fare last night for Coach Eddie Kienholz's Tigers, who will dig into heavier sessions tonight and tomorrow to be in full strength for Saturday afternoon's game with Pomona in the Rose Bowl.

DICK GLOVER

Holding three victories out of the last four games played, Occidental looks forward to trouncing Eugene Nixon's Sagehens once more. On paper, the Bengal crew is superior to the Claremont aggregation, but dope is usually so much idle chatter when these traditional foes tangle on the gridiron.

The Blue and White gridsters will offer their usual array of off-tackle and end run repertory, mixed with forward passes, but this conventional style of attack, so often effective, does not present much of a threat this year. The Sagehen offense has not clicked yet this season and only the inspiration afforded by playing Occidental may be able to bring it out of the doldrums.

On the other hand, Oxy's battering apparatus has gone well in spurts. The University of Mexico, Whittier, Redlands and Santa Barbara fell beneath its efficient assaults, but San Diego State, Arizona and Caltech had no trouble stopping Tiger drives. Conservative play, featuring power thrusts with an occasional forward pass, constitutes the Bengal offensive scheme. However, the 1930 team operates under the difficulty of being just a bit light in weight.

Oxy has a trio of sweet backs in Glover, Reed and Johnston to lead the attack. Glover at full sparkles brilliantly with speed and elusiveness. Reed is heavy and fast, hammering at the line for consistent gains. Johnston, besides being a smart signal-caller, is developing a new role as a ball-packer himself. On fake reverses through

Trojans Ask Ousting of Bear Editor

BY RALPH HUSTON

A demand that Arthur Arlett, editor of the Daily Californian, either quit his tirades against the University of Southern California or be ousted from office was to be made in this morning's edition of the Daily Trojan, the official student newspaper of the local university.

Arlett, after making numerous veiled charges against the Trojans, yesterday definitely accused the Trojans of subsidizing athletes.

No sooner had news of the latest editorial been received on the Trojan campus, however, than Louis Gough, president of the S. C. Associated Student Body, received the telegram from L. Stern Altshuler, head of the California student group, declaring that the attitude taken by Arlett was not that of the California students, and praising the Trojan team.

TROJANS RIGHT

Ray Zeman, editor of the Daily Trojan, in his editorial, pointed out that the telegram definitely proved what Southern California students had generally believed, that Arlett was speaking for only a small group of students and that the Californians, as a whole, paid scant heed to his rantings.

"However," Zeman continued, "if this is the real representation of the sentiment at California, it is high time that

THOMPSON MAY BATTLE WALKER IN OLYMPIC GO

Young Jack Thompson may box Paulie Walker here in December. The Olympic began bidding for the bout yesterday on the arrival of Thompson back from Chicago. Thompson has abandoned the idea of getting a return fight with Tommy Freeman, who won his title at Cleveland a few months ago.

Thompson has announced his challenge to Walker. With Young Corbett shelved on account of an infected jaw and Sammy Jackson waiting for Corbett to recover Thompson is very likely to get the Walker bout.

Baby Joe Gans is also reported on his way home to Los Angeles. He may box for the Grand-avenue club some time next month.

Five Bouts of Six Rounds Each on Boxing Program in Olympic Ring This Even

YOUNG BOXERS FEATURE BILL

Pacho Faces Benny Pelz in Main Event

Reister Tackles Anderson in Semi-Wind-up

Doyle Seeks to Develop New Talent

Jack Doyle is showing the pick of Southern California's young "pro" boxers tonight at the Olympic on a card of five star bouts. All bouts will be six rounds.

BOBBY REISTER

The promoter figures to develop new cards to take the places of the fading veterans. Most of the boxers on the bill are 18 and 19-year-old boys.

The five bouts are: Bobby Pacho vs. Benny Pelz, Bobby Reister vs. Bert Anderson, Billy Papke, Jr., vs. Billy Wagner, Huerta Evans vs. Sammy Sesman, Chalky Wright vs. Ray Cervantes.

Pacho and Pelz draw the main-event spot on the bill due to their experience. Both have had over fifty bouts and have fought main events in other clubs.

Pelz came here, recently from Portland. He made a splendid impression in one fight at Hollywood. He defeated Joe Galvez, the Filipino who broke Young Papke's kayo string.

Pacho has boxed five or six times in the Olympic and has a clean record of wins. He is a Mexican boy from El Centro. Pelz is Jewish. The weight is 132 pounds.

Bobby Reister, who scored his thirteenth knockout when he stopped Don Burchard with a solar-plexus blow, comes back against Bert Anderson in the semi-wind-up six.

Young Reister—an 18-year-old German boy from Alhambra—has had but sixteen fights. His climb was halted only temporarily by Ignacio Fernandes and Bobby LaSalle, it seems. He showed no effects of being knocked out when he handled the hard-hitting Burchard.

If Reister whips the highly touted Anderson from Butte tonight he will box Baby Sal Sorio his next start, probably on the Cecil Payne-Eddie Mack card of the 25th inst.

Anderson has been the knockout king at Butte the last year. Wirt Ross saw him win sensationally recently in the Montana city and bought his contract.

Billy Wagner, hard-hitting boy foom San Fernando Valley, is paired with Billy Papke, Jr., in the special six. Papke has won four straight fights at Doyle's by knockouts. Wagner may break his kayo string.

An odd angle on Papke, Jr., is that his father is trying to teach him to fight like Stanley Ketchell instead of adopting his own style. The father and Ketchell staged three of the greatest middleweight title battle in the record book. They were bitter enemies.

Chalky Wright, known as the "Kid Chocolate of San Bernardino," and Ray Cervantes open the all-star card. The caliber of Cervantes was shown when he held Jimmy Mack to a draw his last bout.

Cervantes is a Mexican boy from the Vernon district and some believe he is as good a prospect as Reister.

IRISH FOOTBALL STAR EXPELLED

Gebert, last year's quarterback, was married. Being a Roman Catholic institution, however, the morals of the Catholic students are subject to the ecclesiastical law of that church, and Savoldi, a year or two ago, married a South Bend High School girl. The marriage was kept secret until ten days ago when it became known he had filed suit for a divorce.

BLOW TO TEAM

Savoldi, one of the greatest plunging fullbacks in Notre Dame's long list of gridiron luminaries in recent years was the bell wether of the high scoring backfield quartet, which has been riding rough-shod over all competition this fall. He was in his last year of competition, inasmuch as he had played a few minutes during the 1928 season, although he did not rise to stardom until last year.

His loss at this time is a distinct blow to the fortune of the "fightin' Irish," coming as it does just before their three biggest games — Northwestern, Army and Southern California.

When it became apparent last week that Savoldi might be ousted from school Knute Rockne made this comment:

"It will be a wallop to our backfield, of course, as Joe was the team's big punch. But I am not so much concerned with that. We have had our share of success and can afford to take a couple of bumps. But it is tough on Joe. He was ready to step into a good coaching job. Dismissal from school might wreck his future."

MULLINS HEADS LIST

Savoldi's disappearance means that the other fullback candidates will move up in their order. Larry Mullins heads the list. Behind him there is Dan Hanley from Butte, Fred Staab from Madison, Wis., Al Howard from Alhambra, Cal., and others. Hanley is a mere child of 6ft. 1in. in stature and 195 pounds in weight. He broke into the Drake game unexpectedly last week. When he was used it was taken as a reliable indication that Rockne felt Savoldi was doomed to go eventually.

It is not definitely known what Savoldi will do, but it is rumored in South Bend that he will sign with a team in the national professional football league, probably with the Green Bay Packers. Coach Curley Lambeau of the Packers attended the Drake game there last Saturday.

Hoover Greets Gael Gridders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP) Members of the St. Mary's College football team of California, en route home after their sensational victory over Fordham University Saturday in New York, today were greeted by President Hoover and were photographed with him on the south lawn of the White House. Harry Ebding, captain, sought to have the football used in the game autographed by President Hoover, but the Chief Executive was busy with a lengthy list of callers and unable to do so.

WYKOFF'S MARK IS RECOGNIZED

submitted by the A.A.U. to the International Amateur Athletic Federation for adoption as a new world record. In the light of the evidence and also the fact that Wykoff hit the same figures a few weeks later in winning the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship, it is expected the international body will add its okeh, giving future generations of the world's sprinters an almost impossible mark to shoot at.

Sharing interest with the world's fastest 100 were the performances of two phenomenal feminine athletes—Helen Madison of Seattle in swimming and Stella Walsh of Cleveland in sprinting. As a result of her sensational attack upon time and distance last spring, the youthful Miss Madison was granted twenty-six American records, the first that have ever been credited to her name. A dozen of Miss Walsh's performances were recognized.

Virtually all of the important record applications were granted, the list including the 169ft. 8 7-8in. discus throw made by Paul Jessup of Seattle last August, a world's record performance, and the 4m. 12 2-5s. mile turn in by Ralph Hill of the University of Oregon last spring.

Today's sessions attended by 200 delegates from all parts of the United States and Hawaii were mainly harmonious but heated debate broke out on the subject of constitutional amendments designed to go the limit in enforcing rigid amateurism.

Charges industrial concerns have recruited athletes to represent them shortly before important athletic events were made during the debate on an amendment which would compel an athlete to be a bona fide employee of a concern for ninety days before he would be eligible to represent it. The amendment, which was understood to be aimed at conditions existing in basketball, was referred finally to the industrial committee.

A second amendment barring from high office in the A.A.U., all those who accept remuneration for officiating in sports controlled by the union was badly beaten.

The formation of three new associations of the union was authorized by the convention, bringing the total number to twenty-nine and setting a new high mark in the expansion of the A.A.U.

One, to be known as the gulf association, will center around Houston, Tex. The others are the Northeastern Ohio Association with Cleveland as its principal city; and the Missouri Valley Association, which will take in Kansas City, Missouri, Kansas City, Kansas and Wichita.

Increasingly friendly relations between the A.A.U., and the National Collegiate Athletic Association were noted by Gustavus T. Kirby of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America.

Kirby praised Avery Brundage and Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, respective presidents of the organizations, for their efforts in this direction.

TROJAN EDITOR ANSWERS RIVAL

a stop was put to Arlett's ill-considered statements. If he continues his present methods and attacks, then the student body of California should remove him, if it is in their power to do so. If they cannot remove him, then it is the duty of the administration to oust him from office."

Other articles in the Daily Trojan definitely refuted a number of charges in the Oakland Tribune of yesterday. Among these was a statement of low scholarship at S.C. A list was to be published in the Trojan today showing the entrance units of the players on the first two Trojan teams. Every man on the squad had twelve or more recommended units, in addition to the principal's recommendation.

NOT ILLEGAL

The Tribune also stated that it was a policy at Southern California to allow students without a sufficient number of the required recommended credits to enter, becoming eligible for the varsity after a year of ineligibility as a freshman, provided they had maintained a better than C average in their first year.

The Trojan was to point out today that this privilege is extended to all schools in the Pacific Coast Conference, but that Southern California does not take advantage of this permission. The paper also was to declare that the University of California has done this in the past and will continue to do it until January 1, 1931. The Daily Trojan will point out, however, that this in no way violated the conference rule and that the Bears were not doing anything the Trojans could not do, if they so desired.

NO GAME SLATED

CLAREMONT, Nov. 17.—Rumors of a Thanksgiving Day football game between Pomona College and La Verne, which have been circulating in this section, were declared false today by Graduate Manager Glen Turner. Turner said such a contest was not even contemplated, in view of the full schedules of each team.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

PEACE AND QUIET

UNDER cover of other excitement in the football world the Tournament of Roses Association seems to be having the most peaceful year since it invented New Year's Day classics.

Washington State made it easy for the Pasadena folks by coming through undefeated in the Pacific Coast Conference.

It is the only western choice by virtue of its record.

Alabama has only Georgia to beat on Thanksgiving Day. It has won from all other foes.

But in other years the situation has brought sleepless nights and wrinkled brows to the Pasadena gentlemen.

There have been grievances to air, injured feelings to soothe, slighted teams to pacify.

But the hardest game of all to sew up was the Harvard-Oregon tilt of January 1, 1920.

That was the year of the fuel famine, and the game was on and off at least a half-dozen times.

The game marked the first sell-out at old Tournament Park, and it was thrilling enough to make the Pasadena folks forget all about the tough time they had in cinching it.

Manerud and Bill Steers each drop-kicked goals for Oregon, and Freddy Church slipped around an Oregon end for Harvard's touchdown. Harvard kicked goal, and the final tally was 7 to 6.

THE CHURCH RUN

EDDIE CASEY, present Crimson backfield coach, was Harvard's All-American that year, but it was long-legged Church who stole the scoring glory against Oregon.

Church's run went into the archives of Harvard as one of the finest feats ever perpetrated by a Crimson athlete.

A remarkably fine potograph of his sparkling run was secured by a Times camera man.

W. D. Sullivan, editor of the Boston Globe at the time, one of the several newspaper men attached to the Harvard party, thought so highly of it that he moved heaven and earth to secure it.

He finally carted the negative East with him, promising to return same after several prints had been distributed in the historical vault of his alma mater.

It is not recorded that Mr. Sullivan ever let the negative get away from dear old Harvard.

THE "FASTEST HUMAN"

ANOTHER world record for a Southern California boy.

Frank Wykoff has his 9 2-5s. record for the 100-yard dash officially accepted by the national A.A.U. as the world's best "without starting blocks or a favoring wind."

This is the United States official stamp.

To receive international recognition the mark must be accepted by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

That seems to be just a formality.

The Southern California flyer duplicated his figures a few weeks later after beating Les Hables and others on the Occidental track in the A.A.U. meet last May.

Although the May performance was the one accepted by the A.A.U. Wykoff's feat in running in the same time at the national intercollegiates at Chicago was even more noteworthy.

There he beat the best men in the country—George Simpson, Eddie Tolan, Cy Leland, Topping, Bracey.

BILL WRIGLEY'S BACK

BILL WRIGLEY is back in Southern California again for his annual stay until spring.

He hasn't much to say about the Joe McCarthy matter. Only the best for Joe. "Joe quit. I didn't fire him. He's one of the best managers in the game."

Mr. Wrigley says there will be help for his Angels from the Cubs next year, and that his Cubs are going places.

OXY, SAGEHENS DRILL FOR TILT

the line he turns in yardage consistently. Johnston is also the key man in the Bengal aerial game.

Capt. Al Putnam, quarter, is leading man in the Sagehen cast, passing and carrying the leather with equal merit. He is ably supported by Don Murdy, fullback, who not only smacks with considerable gusto, but punts nicely enough to stand off Jimmy Meeks, the Tigers' versatile end.

Snedden and Schurch, Oxy's demon tackles, no doubt will be important factors in checking any undue efforts on the part of the Pomona backs. These linemen have played dependable games all season and look to smear many a Sagehen formation.

Kienholz is blessed with a wide selection of guards. Hilliard and Epinette will probably get the first call, but will not do all the work. About on a par with the starters, are Waddell, Hibbits, Marsh and Freeman, all of whom will get into action. The first pair are scrappers all the way and are valuable whenever the Oxy team is forced back on defensive play.

Line Coach "Beefy" Heath has plenty of veterans along with a handy crop of big and capable sophomores to fill the places in the Blue and White forward wall. With the exception of Whittier, no conference eleven has tallied more than one touchdown on Pomona, and Occidental will have to work hard to put over any tallies at all.

PRICE MAKES "FINAL STAND"

covering more slowly from his hurts. There is some chance of his being in trim for the contest, but not as much hope as in Gill's case. Ray East is evidently rarin' to go. Bill McCutcheon and Joe Hickinbotham, halfbacks, are in good shape.

The real concern in the injury situation centers upon Hank Schaldach, small but versatile halfback. Hank has a bad knee. It is hurt in such a way that he cannot pivot on his foot. There are many California prayers for his recovery, but Volz today could only offer hope, no definite assurance.

Another man who would give California a fighting chance against the Cardinals, Ed Kirwan, has loose cartilage in the region of the ribs. Kirwan, who went out in the St. Mary's game, as did many other Bears, would be a great asset at quarterback. He is the best safety man of the entire California squad.

In order to save his men for the Cardinal scrap, Price did not have any scrimmage last week, and informed the press there would be no rough scrimmage behind the closed practice field gates this week.

Cougars Play Kris Kringle Role in East

PULLMAN (Wash.) Nov. 17. (AP)—The first eastern invasion of Washington State College's Cougar football team, champion of the Pacific Coast Conference this year, will be dedicated to charity.

Earl Foster, graduate manager, said arrangements were completed today to turn over to the needy all receipts above expenses in the game with Villanova at Philadelphia, the 29th inst.

Graduate Manager Foster said the game originally was to be played in the Philadelphia Civic Stadium, but will be played on Franklin Field, the University of Pennsylvania gridiron.

Under arrangements completed today with Philadelphia civic authorities, who sponsored the charity game, W.S.C., will be given $6000 to be used for charitable purposes in Pullman.

The champion Cougars returned from Seattle yesterday after a bruising contest with the University of Washington Huskies for the title. Nearly every player suffered minor injuries, Coach O. E. Hollingbery said, but they will be ready to entrain for Philadelphia on the 24th inst. A few days of rest was ordered, then an intensive practice schedule will be followed while here. The team will stop daily en route east for workouts.

WHITEHEAD COPS BOUT AT CULVER CITY CLUB

Vearl Whitehead, high-school boxer, defeated Howard Fritz last night at Culver City in a six-round bout. John Willis won from John Arciniega in a four-round semi-wind-up. Raymond Nazarro and Milton Wilkins fought a draw. Lawrence Nazarro scored a one-round knockout over Luke Skid. Johnny Uzcudun won a four-rounder curtain raiser from Jack Grande.

In between it al lthe Firemen and the Marines will attempt to settle their athletic differences on the football field.

LIONS DRILLING FOR BRONC TILT

ball of late and for that reason are given a good chance of upsetting the powerful Cronco eleven. In its last three encounters the Del Rey team has won one game, lost one and tied one. The lost game was the 14-to-0 contest against St. Ignatius, while the tied one was with the Olympic Club.

Denying all reports that Ted Sargent had broke his leg in the California Aggie tilt Saturday, the Loyola management yesterday announced that all three Sargent brothers will be in the starting line-up on Saturday afternoon. It will be the last game of football for two of them, Ted and Bill.

Lieb paid particular attention to Bud Brubaker's kicking in the scrimmage at the Del Rey Field yesterday. Bud got off a 95-yard kick at Sacramento Saturday. Of course, he was helped considerably by the wind, but Bud generally boots the ball 60 yards, anyway. He will be one of the outstanding factors in the Lion-Bronco tilt.

Mettler, Stockton, and Storm are the three spark plugs in the Bronco machine. Mettler and Stockton take turns at bucking the line, while Storm runs the ends. All three will be seen in action Saturday and may cause Tom Lieb and his Lions a few heartbreaks.

The Santa Clara eleven will spend the week at San Diego and arrive in Los Angeles Friday afternoon. They played the San Diego Marines Sunday and are remaining in the bay city for a short rest. Clipper Smith has a squad of thirty-five men with him.

OREGON STATE HERE THURSDAY

new plays before sending them into scrimmage against the all-Americans. For the first time this season the Bruins are going to use a lateral pass attack. Spaulding uncorked a lot of new offensive plays in the drills last night, which are likely to be uncovered Friday night for the fans.

The Bruins are fairly well satisfied that they made a good showing against Oregon and St. Mary's. At this stage of their schedule last year, incidentally, the Bruins had 184 points scored against them. This year the total to date is 100 points. Fifty-two of these were scored by U.S.C. in the opening game.

A tentative Oregon State line-up was sent down yesterday to Westwood. The team that will start against the Bruins is as follows:

McGilvray, P. Miller, Thompson, Hammer, Cox, Kent, McKalip, Buerke, Moe, Sherwood and Little.

Little, McKalip, Buerke and Moe distinguished themselves in the game against the Webfooters. Little scored the touchdown in the last quarter that decided the issue beyond a doubt. The first touchdown came after McKalip had blocked a punt on the Oregon 15-yard line. A pass, Buerke to Moe, and a buck by Moe, put the ball over. McKalip blocked another punt later to give the Staters a safety. Los Angeles fans will no doubt remember that it was the Oregon State team that broke the New York University balloon two years ago. Last season they beat the undefeated Detroit team.

Bruin hopes were hit a blow yesterday when Howard Willoughby was reported lost for the game Friday night. Willoughby, a 200-pound tackle, has a bad right knee that does not seem to respond to treatment. His place will be taken by Lloyd McMillan.

Fred Oster, freshman coach, and a former star under Spaulding at Minnesota, did his bit last evening on the All-Americans. Oster, Cecil Hollingsworth and Cliff Simpson were in the backfield that used Oregon State plays against the varsity. The rest of the team was made of freshmen and second stringers.

Steve Cunningham, general manager, took time out yesterday from his other duties, to announce that there is no ill feeling at U.C.L.A., with U.S.C. over anything of any chance, so far as he knew, of a break in athletic relations.

"If we can't arrange our schedule next season satisfactorily I am sure we will do it the following year without breaking off relations," Cunningham stated.

From that it seems as though the dove of peace is soaring around the local institutions without anyone taking a potshot at him as yet.

MICKEY WALKER TO TAKE ON CHRISTNER

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, campaigning now for heavyweight honors, was matched tonight for a ten-round contest with K. O. Christner of Akron, O., at the Coliseum the 28th inst. It will be Walker's second fight in his heavyweight campaign, having beaten Johnny Risko in Detroit recently.

LEWIS, DE GLANE SIGNED

Strangler and Greco-Roman Mat King to Hook Up in Daro's Next Olympic Wrestling Show

Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former world's wrestling champion, who has just returned from a six months mat tour of the Orient and Australia, will meet Henri De Glane, world's Greco-Roman grappling king, in the second bout of the all-star wrestling card being planned for the Olympic on the 26th inst.

This match will be for one fall, one hour time limit. Promoter Lou Daro had planned to make this card a double main event, with Don George and Dan Koloff clashing in the final finish bout, and he had hoped to get De Glane and Lewis to meet in another three-fall battle.

Lewis, however, refused to meet De Glane in a finish bout. Although he is known to be in better physical condition than he has been is known to be in better physical condition than he has been at any time in the last ten years, Lewis stated that he would want at least three or four tough matches in this country at this time before he would consent to get into the same ring with the French mat sensation for a three-fall bout.

De Glane held Lewis to a two-hour draw shortly before the head-lock artist lost his title to Gus Sonnenberg. De Glane had been in this country but a short time, then, and was not as expert with the catch-as-catch-can holds as he is at the present time. Lewis and De Glane have not met since.

The Frenchman had hoped to settle his argument with Lewis here but when the former champion stated he would not go into the ring unless the match had a one-hour time limit, De Glane took the match. With another week of heavy training under his belt he believes he can beat Lewis that one fall in less than an hour's time.

George will go into heavy training work today at the Commercial Club.

S.C. PREXY IN FOOTBALL WAR

featured in the newspapers, despite the irresponsibility of the spokesman, the situation is becoming embarrassing to the University of Southern California, which takes the standpoint that mud-slinging should not be met in like manner.

"The continued publicity given to the thinly veiled insinuations and slanders directed at Southern California is not only proving a persecution of the university, but is also bound to hurt the great game of football and the institutions that play it.

"Those who analyze the situation can readily see that a thoroughly unsportsmanlike and underhanded attitude is behind the rumors and insinuations that poor losers are causing to be spread concerning the University of Southern California.

"For those who have honest convictions regarding allegations of professionalism there are well-known methods provided by the Pacific Coast Conference for the hearing and adjudicating of such charges. The time after losing a football game is hardly a fitting one for persons who backed the defeated to make insinuations, never daring and powerless as a matter of fact to make specific charges.

"The University of Southern California has endeavored to control the mud-thrower, and it would seem that it is about time that this attitude toward irresponsible, unsportsmanlike writings and utterances should be taken by other institutions.

"The University of Southern California enjoys its athletic relations with California and Stanford and believes them to be founded upon mutual trust and understanding. There has been nothing from those in authority at either institution that would lead us to believe that this mutual confidence has been changed. However, it is unfortunate that the editor of California's student paper by making false and ridiculous insinuations about academic standing and alleged professionalism should be permitted to jeopardize this relationship.

"Anyone may start wild rumors and it is unfortunate that newspapers should make a Roman holiday out of them as they have done.

"Pacific Coast Conference rules and the triangular agreement under which Southern California, California and Stanford conduct their athletic policy are strict and unmistakable in respect to entrance requirements and amateur status.

"These rules must be adhered to throughout. A very definite check may be made by any conference member of the high-school records of athletes before entering college and of their records following matriculation.

"Questions regarding eligibility are handled by the conference representatives, who are faculty men, of the institutions involved. In case they are unable to settle the question, they may submit it to the president of the conference or to the conference as a whole.

"This statement is a denial of nothing as there is nothing to deny. Our boys are a fine, clean group, which can be said of similar groups at their institutions where athletes have entered from reputable high schools.

"It is too bad that our boys, one of the finest groups in point of character any university ever had, should have to put up with such underhanded insinuations from disgruntled, unsportsmanlike individuals whose utterances are given widespread publicity."

DAILY CALIFORNIAN URGES TROJAN BREAK

BERKELEY, Nov. 17. (AP)—Making further charges of professionalism against the University of Southern California, the Daily Californian, University of California student publication, in an editorial today urged a break in gridiron relations with the Trojan institution.

W. W. Monohan, graduate manager of the University of California, said the editorial represented nothing but the editor's opinion and had no official significance whatever. Mr. Monohan said he did not care to comment further.

At the same time Professor W. B. Owens of Stanford, president of the Pacific Coast Conference, denied that a prospect of severance of athletic relations between California and Stanford on the one hand and U.S.C. on the other, is in prospect.

"If California or Stanford back down before Trojan demands for apologies they are showing regrettable weakness," said the Daily Californian editorial, "if any relations are to be broken it is for us to break them.

"Southern California can deny from now until doomsday, but it can't explain away its scholastic irregularities. And until these are corrected, Stanford and California will be justified in taking the southerners off their schedule."

OFFICIAL COGNIZANCE OF ROW TAKEN

BERKELEY (Cal.) Nov. 17. (AP)—The University of California apparently took official cognizance today of the football row which has stormed through California student circles since the University of Southern California trounced the Bears, 74 to 0.

After an afternoon in conference with President Robert G. Sproul and other California authorities, Dean T. E. Putnam, University of California representative on the Pacific Coast Conference, sent a telegram to the dean of men at U.S.C.

He refused to reveal the contents of his message.

STANFORD BONFIRE BURNS PREMATURELY

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 17. (AP)—What was to have been the nucleus of Stanford University's pre big game rally bonfire next Wednesday night was burned today. "Preignition due to non-local persons" said Richard Oddie, chairman of the bonfire committee. The committee will investigate the vandalism. The pyre consisted of a twenty-five-foot stack of fence posts donated by Palo Alto citizens. It will be done over and a sixty-foot woodpile will be built. Twenty-five freshmen will guard it. Some took "non-local persons" to mean individuals from another seat of learning in the East Bay region.

Football's Honor Roll

THE honor roll in football this season includes Michigan and Chicago, who will donate the entire receipts of their game to the unemployment fund; Army and Navy, who will turn over $600,000 or more to the Salvation Army for the same cause; N.Y.U. and Colgate, two fine teams, willing to meet in a post-season game; Temple, that offered to meet any picked team for this cause; Rockne's old team, including the Four Horsemen, and the New York Giants. There are others, but these are in the van.

This has been one of football's biggest years in one of the toughest of the nation's economic spots. There is no reason why every team should not contribute at least a part of the remaining gate receipts to this fund in every section of the country. Football has taken in more than its full share, considering conditions.

Those teams that don't care for the idea of a post-season game can at least help in some way through some big game still remaining on the schedule. This is about ten times as important as any unbeaten record or high standing, which in most respects is not important at all when the vital details of existence are to be considered.

This may sound like high treason. But does anyone think that the average performance, later on, of Princeton, Navy, Georgia Tech, Columbia, Harvard and Cornell football men will be lower than that of Notre Dame, Alabama, Northwestern and Southern California?

Football Form

Some one might start an argument as to whether football or golf form can shift to a greater degree. Dartmouth beats Columbia, 52 to 0, or thereabouts, and Columbia beats Cornell. Then Cornell leads Dartmouth to the last minute or so in an even fight. California beats St. Mary's, Southern California beats California, 74 to 0, and then St. Mary's is the team that breaks up Fordham's great two-year record.

Princeton can't get anywhere to speak of against Chicago and Navy, who have had rough going, but the Tigers' attack against a strong Yale defense was one of the best exhibitions of the year. Injuries and lack of reserves can make a killing difference. Only a few squads can throw in able substitutes when something happens to a regular. Those that can't are sure to suffer heavily in the course of a campaign.

The Decisive Battle

The most decisive battle left for Saturday will be the meeting of Notre Dame and Northwestern. Both have been strong enough to win under partial wraps. Northwestern began a big season by beating Tulane; one of the best teams in the South.

Since that date Northwestern has slashed her way through all opposition in the Western Conference. It now remains to be seen what Hanley's Wildcats can do against Notre Dame, the squad that so far has looked to be the most powerful array in the country. One of the game's two strongest teams must fall unless both move into the tie division.

Notre Dame now has Northwestern, Army and Southern California left. These three teams alone would make up a hard season's schedule, but they come on top of five or six big games already played.

Rockne has no chance to key his team up and hope to keep it keyed up through the Southern California game and if Northwestern can put on her keenest mental attitude there should be a contest worth looking at, one of the best games of the year. Any defense that can roll back Carideo, Brill, Schwartz and Mullins will have to show more than any defense has shown all fall.

"But," as Maj. Sasse of the Army remarked, "this same bunch, plus Jack Elder, didn't gallop up and down the field against West Point last year, barring Elder's one run on a captured forward pass." The bare facts are that on certain days any attack can be stopped.

Harvard is now in Princeton's fix. After moving through five Saturdays without a victory the Crimson can recover most of its setbacks by stopping Yale. Harvard has been another example of what injuries, minus reserves, can do to a squad that in late September looked to be one of the best. Harvard still has her full share of potential strength on any day the full combination happens to click.

lide in the feature game on the Roman field. The Tigers, Manual Arts, Hollywood and Fremont are all tied for top spot in the standings.

The Romans are liable to knock over Lincoln, while Clark De Groot's Roosevelt Rough Riders have a good chance to put Hollywood out of the running.

Fremont and Manual Arts are cinches to win their games, the Pathfinders taking on Fairfax, while the Toilers will take it easy with Garfield.

MONARCH PUCKSTERS TRIM MAPLE LEAFS

The Hollywood Monarchs trimmed the Maple Leafs, 4 to 2, last night at the Palais de Glace to go into a tie with the vanquished Leafs for first place in the Southern California Senior Ice Hockey League. The game was fifteen minutes late in getting started because the Maple Leafs protested the eligibility of Buster Smith, forward, for the Monarchs. Jim Hooker scored two goals for the winners, while Lorin McGrath duplicated this feat for the losers. Vince Millen, Monarch forward, was carried from the ice in a serious condition after he had collided with one of the players coming out of the bullpen.

Reichow and Vitt Depart for Montreal

Bound for the national minor-league convention at Montreal, Oscar Vitt, peppery manager of the champion Hollywood Stars, and Oscar Reichow ,business manager of the Angels, accompanied by their families, departed from Los Angeles Harbor yesterday morning on the S.S. Virginia.

The two local baseball officials, who expect to buy and sell a few athletes while in the East, are taking the trip as a vacation and expect to enjoy themselves thoroughly on the jaunt that will take them through the Panama Canal and to Cuba before they reach their business destination in Canada.

Before leaving, Vitt denied rumors that there is a possibility of his being named manager of the Boston Red Sox. Oscar, who has a host of followers throughout the Coast League and is responsible for the popularity of the Stars in Los Angeles, is manager of major-league capabilities without a doubt but believes that he will be better off remaining as pilot of the Sheiks than taking over the tail-end Red Sox. Managerial careers with a tail-end club in the big show are short-lived, so Vitt prefers to remain a big fish in a little puddle until he is offered an opportunity of a major-league outfit that has a chance of going some place.

Vitt announced that the Sheiks plan to sell Outfielder Johnny Jones, Pitcher Hank Hulvey and possibly one or two other players. The Star skipper also hopes to land another outfielder. Bill Rumler, who broke an ankle late in the season, will not be with the Sheiks next spring.

Reichow announced that the Cherubs also have several players on their roster whom they will try to dispose of at the Montreal meeting. Jack Lelivelt, manager of the Angels, will meet Reichow at the Canadian confab.

KNOCKOUT EXPECTED IN PICO BOWL SCRAP

East side fight fans are predicting that the main event tomorrow night at the Pico Bowl does not go the limit. The scrap brings together a pair of hard-hitting heavyweights, Rube Ellis and Johnny Magrina, who are rated as stiff enough punchers to settle their dispute inside the six-round distance. Ellis, a Whittier 190-pounder, is making his first professional start. He has won a string of victories as a simon pure, but will be rated a short-ender against the more experienced Magrina. Down for the semifinal of six rounds are John Todd, the "Terrible Swede" of the small-club circuit, and Kayo Becker. They are middleweights. Four other bouts are listed.

SUN FREEZE BEARS WIN THRILLING GAME

The Sun Freeze Bears ice hockey squad nosed out the Gilmore Lions pucksters, 7 to 6, in an exciting game at the Winter Garden last night. When the first period ended the Bears were leading, 6 to 1. The Lions, however, staged a great comeback and had tied the score at 6 to 6 when the second session ended. The Bears won the game in the final period when Roy made a perfect shot into the net for the deciding margin. The victory gave the Sun Freeze team undisputed possession of first place in the Southern California Major Ice Hockey League.

JUNIOR TENNIS ENTRIES CLOSE

Flashy Field to Take Part in Four Divisions

With several nationally prominent junior tennis stars already entered, entries in the first annual Beverly Hills Tennis Club open junior net tournament will close tonight. Entries may be made either with Fred Alexander, former world's doubles champion who is now the club professional, or with Dick Charnock at A. G. Spalding and Brothers. Play in the four events, boys' and girls' singles in the 18 and 15-years-and-under divisions, will start Saturday morning on the club courts, with the finals scheduled to be run off Thanksgiving morning. Play during the week days will be arranged so that matches may be scheduled after school whenever possible. Players are allowed to enter only one event.

Plenty of class is assured in the junior boys' singles 18 years and under with such stars as Billy Doeg, brother of Johnny Doeg and present Pacific-Southwest junior title-holder; Jimmy Bobbitt, Southern California junior champ and runner-up in the national junior boys' singles finals; Leonard Patterson, Hollywood High celebrity, and Harold Steiner, runner-up to Bobbitt in Southern California juniors, already entered in the tournament.

The girls' division also boasts several players who have gained national prominence, including such feminine luminaries as Dorothy Workman, Southern California junior girls' singles titlist; Caroline Babcock, winner of several local junior titles; Ruby Bishop, Pasadena star, and possibly Helen Marlowe, Trojan ace, who this year won the national girls' doubles crown with her sister, Mercedes, and was runner-up to Sarah Palfrey in the national girls' finals.

The junior boys' singles in the 15-years-and-under class is equally as spectacular. The field is topped by Jay Cohn, two times national junior boys' champion in the 15-years-and-under division, who is expected to receive sufficient opposition from young Frankie Parker, who holds several hard-earned victories over Cohn, and Constantino Gene Mako, Glendale high star and this year's Southern California junior titlist in his class.

In the girls' division, members of several prominent tennis families top the field. Among them are May Doeg, sister of Johnny Doeg; Dorothy Bundy, daughter of May Sutton Bundy; Peggy Henry, whose mother, Mrs. William Henry, is known by many tennis fans, and Bonnie Miller, the find of "Pop" Fuller of San Francisco.

GOLFING KING QUITS THRONE

ing competition of a serious nature," after fourteen years of intense tournament play in this country and abroad.

In short, business has taken the place of pleasure and recreation, so far as the Jones golf is concerned. King Bobby, after a year in which he made a record-breaking clean sweep of all the championships of Great Britain and the United States, has decided the opportunity to repair the family fortunes is not to be overlooked.

He intended to retire from title tournaments, anyway, he revealed, but had intended to "drop out quietly by neglecting to send in my entry to the open championship next spring." Now, however, and in view of the business venture he has undertaken, he felt it necessary that a "clear understanding" be had by the golfing public that has made the great Georgian its idol since as a youth of 14 he first crashed the barriers of national championship attention in 1916 at Philadelphia.

"Of course, the matter of monetary compensation enters into the discussion," his statement said. "And it is for numerous reasons that I wish to be perfectly understood on this score. The amateur status problem is one of the most serious with which the United States Golf Association has to deal for the good of the game as a whole.

"I am not certain that the step I am taking is in a strict sense a violation of the amateur rule. I think a lot might be said on either side, but I am so far convinced that it is contrary to the spirit of amateurism that I am prepared to accept and even indorse a ruling that it is an infringement.

NO LONGER COMPETITIVE

"I have chosen to play as an amateur not because I have regarded an honest professionalism as discreditable, but simply because I have had other ambitions in life. So long as I played as an amateur, there could be no question of subterfuge or concealment. The rules of the game, whatever they were, I have respected, sometimes even beyond the letter. I certainly shall never become a professional golfer, but since I am no longer a competitor, I feel free to act entirely outside the amateur rule as my judgment and conscience may decide.

"When these pictures have been made I expect to return to the practice of my profession unhampered by the necessity of keeping "my golf up to championship requirements."

The financial side of the motion-picture contract was not disclosed, either by Jones or Warner Brothers. It was understood the champion will receive a flat guarantee as well as a percentage of the profits. The estimates of what the return may mean to the Georgian range as high as $250,000.

The twelve "one-reelers" will be talking pictures entitled "How I Play Golf." They will demonstrate all the shots in the famous Jones repertoire, from his powerful driving swing to the delicately accurate putting touch that has ben so conspicuous in the Georgian's march to a grand total of thirteen national championships over a period of eight years. This will perpetuate the ability of "Calamity Jane," the champion's internationally famous putting blade.

WILL DISCUSS SHOTS

Bobby will discuss the shots as he makes them for the screen. Slow motion will be used to accentuate features of his shot-making ability.

The champion will be the only character in the films, unless his caddy figures in the background, in which event he may take with him to Hollywood, Cal., his favorite club-carrier at his home court of East Lake, Atlanta.

Jones is expected to go to California in March to begni the motion-picture work. Warner Brothers announced the films will be released at two-week intervals after April 15, 1931.

"These pictures," Jones explained in his statement, "are to be purely educational in character and it is the ardent hope of both parties that they will be of some some value, first by improving the play and thereby increasing the enjoyment of the vast number of people already interested in the game, and, second, by creating an interest where none exists now among the many who may find enjoyment and beneficial exercise on the golf course."

Jones, who for years has been known as "interview shy," was not on hand personally when his detailed statement of retirement was made public by Herbert H. Ramsay, president-elect of the United States Golf Association and a long-time friend of the world's champion. The Georgian, after witnessing the Georgia Tech-Pennsylvania football game Saturday at Philadelphia, left for his home in Atlanta.

JONES PAID TRIBUTE

Mr. Ramsay, however, paid him this tribute:

"He has unquestionably during his career made the greatest competitive record in the history of the game. Aside from that, though, his character and prsonality are such that he has become a popular world figure. His withdrawal from competition will be greatly regretted by everyone."

The golfing world at large, abroad and at home, was not altogether unprepared for some such decision by Jones. It has been known for months he contemplated retirement, partly at least, following his unprecedented clean sweep of all the available national championships this year. Nevertheless, the actual news of the Georgian's retirement at the very height of his astonishing career came as a sensation to sportsmen everywhere.

Not since Gene Tunney renounced the world's heavyweight boxing championship in 1928, has the action of any title-holder aroused such widespread interest.

Seldom, if ever in the history of any sport, and never before in all the annals of golf, has any one man, such as Jones, held so completely dominating a position. In a game conspicuous for its lack, rather than any abundance of consistency, Bobby has been the one "sure thing," the one outstanding favorite to weather the rigors of the galloping galleries and repeatedly justify the confidence placed in his prowess.

A "child prodigy" from the time he was first able to swing a club under the tutelage of the Scotch pro, Stewart Maiden, in Atlanta, Jones passed successfully through the stages of hot-headed youth, disappointment, then swift success, and, finally world recognition as the greatest of all golfers.

From the time he first won national open championship honors in 1923, at the Inwood Club, Long Island, Jones has never been without the possession of at least one of the four major crowns of golf—the American amateur and open, the British amateur and open. This year he capped the climax by winning all four of them, besides leading to victory the American Walker Cup team in the matches with the British.

UNUSUAL ACHIEVEMENT

His achievement in winning thirteen national titles in eight years, his scoring records, his coolness under the fiercest competitive fire, stands alone. He won the British open three times, the British amateur once. He captured the American open four times and the American amateur five times, more than any other man.

Against a background of marvelous mechanical achievement, earning him classification as a "golfing machine," Jones has erected a reputation for modesty and good sportsmanship such as few of America's athletic demigods ever have enjoyed.

Great Britain has hailed his accomplishments with as much fervor as his life-long friends in Georgia. Millionaires have fought their way through the galleries to see him drive, pitch and putt. Royal princes have sought his companionship on the links. New York has welcomed him with an enthusiasm of popular acclaim, following triumphs abroad, such as no other figure in sports has ever enjoyed nor perhaps any other youthful hero, except Col. Charles Lindbergh been accorded.

The life story and achievements of this young man of 28 will still brighten pages of sports history when the youth of today is grap-headed. They may never be equaled.

AMATEUR BOXERS MIX

One Hundred and Eight Simon-Pures Entered in Tournament at Olympic Tomorrow

One hundred and eight amateur boxers perform for Los Angeles fans tomorrow night and Thursday in a two-day show sponsored by the Los Angeles A. C., which will be staged at the Olympic Auditorium.

The show is by far the biggest ever staged here. Charley Keppen, director of athletics at the Mercury Club, insists that only the national championships at Boston, present a bigger entry list than that which will be run off here.

The officials in charge of the show intend to start the boys going at 8 o'clock sharp tomorrow night. The boxers must report at 5 o'clock at the Olympic for an examination by State physicians.

In the past the Los Angeles Athletic Club has always produced the cream of the nation's stars. Two years ago the game was sidetracked here but recently the Mercury Club decided to step back in the picture in order to build up material for the Olympics.

There is spirited action promised in every class from flyweights to heavyweights. While most of the boxers will be more or less of an unknown quantity to the fans that is no indication that fights will not be closely contested.

Keppen announces that Lieutenant-Commander Duke Kenworthy and Lieut. Jack Kennedy will referee. Snowy Baker and Ernie Clark will act as judges. Keppen will do the announcing.

San Diego, Imperial county, champions have been entered by San Diego Athletic Club officials. The Navy will be well represented, judging from the list sent up by the fleet.

The winning boxers will be sent to the far western championships at San Francisco.

Following the conference session, the recreation leaders were given a demonstration of the type of puppet shows which are becoming a favored activity at Los Angeles municipal playgrounds.

Grand Jury in Surprise Move

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Delving into charges that Max Baer, heavyweight boxer, "carried" Tiny Abbott in their second ring battle in Oakland several months ago, the grand jury tonight laid handwriting specimens of Baer and Louis Lippi, a former friend of the fighter, before two expert investigators, E. O. Heinrich, criminologist, and Chauncey McGovern, handwriting authority, to determine the authenticity of a $500 promissory note purported by Lippi to have been given to him by Baer as reimbursement for betting losses on the Baer-Abbott fight.

Lippi has testified Baer gave him the note as "hush money" after admitting he allowed Abbott to "stay" until the sixth round of the bout.

Specimens of Lippi's handwriting were given to the experts in a surprise move by the jury.

Your feet are in mid-air in the middle

THE bare fact about your feet in ordinary shoes is that they haven't anything to stand on in the middle.

Nature thought you were going to walk on grass, dirt and leaves—which would fill up the space under your arches.

Then men put heels under your heels. Now you walk on your heels and on the balls of your feet. Your arches have no floor under them.

The leather under your arches looks like support, but it isn't. Shoe men figure that in a day you put eight tons of pressure on those arches.

What you need there—to equal Nature—is a steel shank platform such as you get (hidden) in Arch Preserver shoes (made by E. T. Wright & Company.)

Normal feet need them to stay normal.

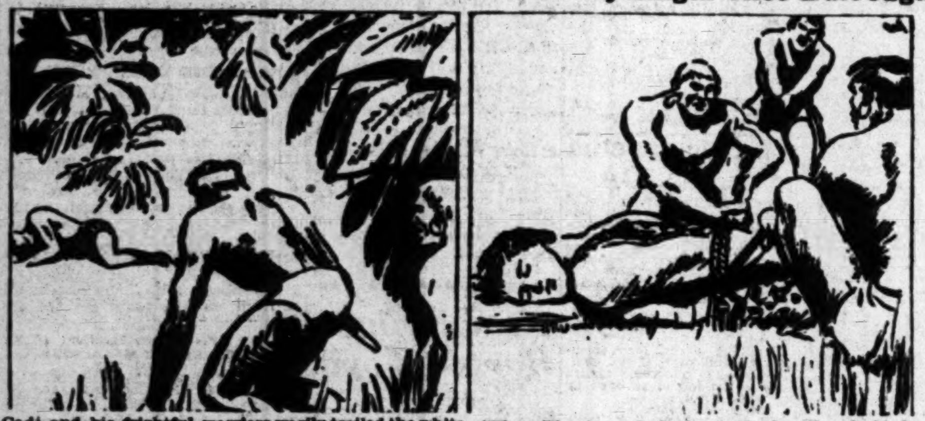
A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

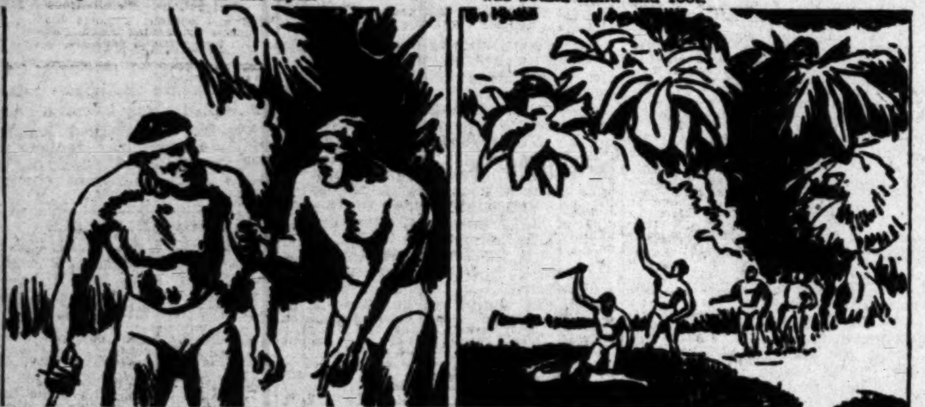
TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Cadj and his frightful warriors warily trailed the white man and his blacks. Armed with great clubs and knives they made no haste, preferring to attack at night. About noon they halted suddenly, having discovered a thorn boma recently constructed in a clearing ahead of them. A spy returned saying the camp was empty. Entering, beside a dying fire they came upon the figure of a man, lying huddled upon the ground. With utmost caution they crawled close and Cadj, the High Priest, saw before him the apparently lifeless figure of Tarzan of the Apes.

"The Flaming God has at length decided to avenge his desecrated altar," cried Cadj exultantly, his eyes flaming with fanaticism. Another priest knelt beside the figure of the ape-man and placed his ear against the latter's heart. "He is not dead," he whispered, "perhaps he only sleeps." "Seize him then—quickly!" cried Cadj. An instant later Tarzan's body was covered with as many hairy forms as could pile themselves upon him. He offered no resistance—did not even open his eyes. In a trice he was bound hand and foot.



"Drag him forth where the eye of the Flaming God may rest upon him," cried Cadj. Into the full light of the sun they brought Tarzan. The High Priest drew his kife and stood over the prostrate form of his intended victim. His followers appeared uneasy, casting furtive glances at the sun riding high in a cloud-mottled sky. Then one priest, braver than the others, spoke: "Cadj!" he said, "who are you to offer a sacrifice to the Flaming God? It is the privilege alone of La, the High Priestess and our Queen. Great will be her wrath when she learns what you have done."

"Silence, Dooth!" commanded Cadj. "I, Cadj, am High Priest. My word, too, is law in Opar." Kneeling beside the ape-man he poised his sharp blade high above Tarzan's heart. As the downward stroke was about to fall, a shadow fell on all about. A murmur rose straightway from the surrounding priests. That instant a cloud had passed before the face of the sun, and the shadow rested upon them, growing darker and darker. The men shivered and drew back from the unconscious ape-man and his would-be slayer. "Look!" cried Dooth, "the Flaming God is angry. He has hidden his face from Opar!"

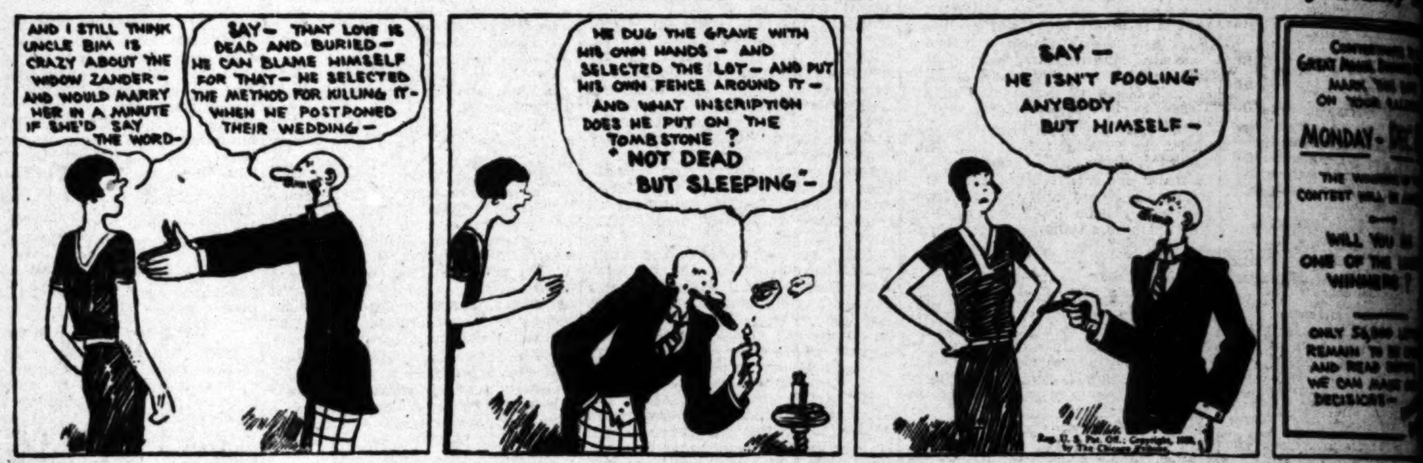
Who Killed Cock Robin?

By Sidney



AND I STILL THINK UNCLE BIM IS CRAZY ABOUT THE WIDOW ZANDER— AND WOULD MARRY HER IN A MINUTE IF SHE'D SAY THE WORD—
SAY— THAT LOVE IS DEAD AND BURIED— HE CAN BLAME HIMSELF FOR THAT— HE SELECTED THE METHOD FOR KILLING IT— WHEN HE POSTPONED THEIR WEDDING—
HE DUG THE GRAVE WITH HIS OWN HANDS — AND SELECTED THE LOT— AND PUT HIS OWN FENCE AROUND IT — AND WHAT INSCRIPTION DOES HE PUT ON THE TOMBSTONE ? "NOT DEAD BUT SLEEPING"— SAY — HE ISN'T FOOLING ANYBODY BUT HIMSELF—
MONDAY-
WILL YOU BE ONE OF THE WINNERS?

Ancient Gobi Women Left Milkman Notes

Milkmen, who manage to receive more letters without benefit of stamp tax than probably any other group, have been calling at milk-bottle mail boxes for quite a number of years now—500,000 to be exact. This momentous discovery, made in the Gobi Desert by members of an expedition which includes Robert Benchley, well-known humorist, (and not-so-well-known anthropologist) is announced by Mr. Benchley in Liberty Magazine.

"We do not want to get the public too excited, and then have to let them down, but we think we've found somthing in the Gobi Desert," writes Mr. Benchley. "By 'we' I mean our little anthropological expedition which set out eight years ago to hunt for relics of ancient man, got stuck for seven years in Paris what with one thing and another, and now have, at last, reached our destination and goal. We arrived at the Gobi Desert last night. Early this morning we found something.

"It was Lieut. Raffus, the cameraman, who came upon the first 'find.' Owing to his inability to thing of the word 'Eureka!' it was quite some time before he could make his discovery known, but when he did, you may be sure that each and every one of us dropped his pick and ran over to Lieut. Raffus's excavation.

"The object which he held up (and dropped almost immediately, saying 'Ugh!') seemed to be a sort of mat, or perhaps I should say muff, or perhaps I might even better say nothing. It was about a foot square, if you can call anything which is rather rounded 'square,' and was in a state of fossilization which would have made you laugh. 'It is a part of the Pliocene stratum (circa 500,000 years B. C.') I was the first, and only one to cry.

"'Don't be so sure,' replied Dr. Reeby. 'You haven't looked on the other side yet.' Dr. Reeby is the careful one in our little party. I will bust his nose in some day. However, we turned it over gingerly and there, on the other side, was embroidered some sort of inscription.

"'Pleistocene that somewhere before,' said the sound man, who is always getting off comical cracks, and the laughter at this one was s o general that the inscription was forgotten for the time being.

"Dr. Reeby has just come in nd says thta our hieroglyphic expert says that the inscription reads: 'Deliver no more milk until further notice.' Just think! Five hundred thousand years B. C. people were going away on vacations and leaving notes to milkmen! It hardly seems possible, does it? Well, I guess that means possible, does it? Well, I guess that means that we don't have to dig any more. So it's off to Home and Hurrah for Science!"

Police and Fire Department Examinations Favored

Physical and Mental Tests Each Year Proposed

Commissions, in Conference, Voice Their Approval

By a unanimous vote the Police, Fire, Health and Civil Service commissions, at a conference yesterday, adopted the recommendation of Chief of Police Steckel providing for regular physical and mental examinations for all members of the fire and police departments.

The motion, made by Civil Service Commissioner Ellis and seconded by Fire Commissioner Cox, provides that each commission shall appoint a representative on a committee which will devise ways and means for the physical examination, how often it will be held, obtain the necessary legal information from the City Attorney and report to the various commissions, which in turn will ask the City Council for the proper action.

BENEFITS CITED

Steckel pointed out that the absence of compulsory physical examination has resulted in unnecessary retirements for physical disability. If examinations had been held individuals could have been treated in time to restore their health, he said.

He pointed out that one man now on the department is considered by all who have come in contact with him to be insane, and that it would be dangerous for anybody to cross him, but that nothing can be done about it without a compulsory physical and mental test.

SCOTT TELLS CASES

Chief Scott, who said there are a couple of mental cases in his department, approved the proposed physical and mental tests, although he explained that the department already has conducted tests of the ability of many of the old-timers to perform the work. One man, he said, had been found unable to climb on a hose wagon without assistance and had been given some clerical work.

Dr. Parrish, when questioned, estimated that the 4200 men in the police and fire departments can be given annual physical examination under a charge of $2 each. This, he said, would provide for physicians and a laboratory assistant.

"Regular physical examinations would help the men, the department and the pension fund," Pension Commissioner Conway declared.

Theft Charge Just Mistake, Accused Aver

It was all a mistake on the part of her girl friend, Louise Patton, 19 years of age, told Deputy City Public Defender Flora Nelson, who entered a plea of not guilty for her and the friend, Mary Jane Hamner, 22, and the latter's husband, Dana Hamner, to petty-theft charges in Municipal Judge Eagan's court yesterday. Their bail was set at $100 each by Judge Eagan pending trial tomorrow.

LOUISE PATTON

"I was living at 5187 Willoughby street with Mary Jane and her husband," Miss Patton said, "when we decided to move to another apartment. I was working and Mary Jane moved my things. She got some linen and silverware by mistake that belonged to the apartment, but I sent most of it back and was about to return the rest when I was arrested."

MARY JANE HAMNER

They are charged with stealing linen and silverware from Mrs. R. M. Mitchell, landlady.

Frankie Fisher Case Dropped

Vagrancy charges against Frankie Fisher, asserted Chicago gangster, were dismissed yesterday and Fisher's $2000 bail was exonerated by Municipal Judge Willis.

The dismissal was granted at the request of Deputy City Prosecutor Hamilton, who told the court that after a careful investigation he was unable to produce sufficient evidence to warrant trial. Fisher was taken with Frankie Foster, Chicago racketeer, arrested here in connection with the Jake Lingle murder on June 30, last.

RECKLESS MOTORIST SENTENCED TO JAIL

Police officers who captured Thomas W. Findlay, 23 years of age, had to shoot holes in three of his tires before he stopped, they testified yesterday in Municipal Judge Bogue's court. A jury convicted Findlay of reckless driving and he was sentenced to jail for ten days.

DEATH OF C. M. KNOX ASCRIBED TO SUICIDE

Death of C. M. Knox, 60 years of age, of 9814 Washington Boulevard, yesterday was ascribed to suicide from a gunshot wound. The body of Knox was found last Sunday morning by a passing motorist in the Baldwin Hills. No inquest will be conducted.

LOYALTY AND BACKBONE URGED

Hotel Personnel Trainer Gives Recipe

Miss Laetitia McNamara

LOYALTY and backbone!

Miss Laetitia McNamara, who has supervised the training of more than 4000 men and women, gave these yesterday as the chief qualities to be sought in an employee.

"There can be no question, I'm sure, as to the necessity of loyalty," said Miss McNamara at the Alexandria. "And by backbone I mean grit, the ability to withstand the many trying moments that enter into the life of every worker."

Training, however, must supplement loyalty and backbone; at least, in the hotel business, according to Miss McNamara, who is particularly interested in hotel affairs through her work as personnel director of the Eppley chain of hotels, made up of some nineteen hostelries through the Middle West and East.

"No longer," said Miss McNamara, "may employees learn from old employees or from their mistakes. That system often resulted in inconvenience to hotel guests, for one thing. Under our present plan, every employee participates in a period of training lasting about eight weeks, in which he is told how to act and what to say, how to perform all the duties awaiting hotel employees, with leeway permitted for the worker's own personality and warmth."

Miss McNamara explained the workings of the personnel department to Senator Charles B. Hamilton and Fay R. Smalley, vice-president and general manager, and assistant manager, respectively. The Alexandria is affiliated with the Eppley chain and Senator Hamilton said that he will adopt the system in other hotels of the chain.

The visitor came to Los Angeles on a vacation and expects to remain about two weeks.

Indian Denies Agent's Murder

Clarence Hyde, 19-year-old Indian, pleaded not guilty yesterday before United States District Judge Hazel to a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Oscar Olson, government Indian agent, on October 26, last, on the Morongo Indian reservation.

The Indian is said to have shot the agent who, with others, was investigating the source of supply of liquor for Indians on the reservation.

The case was continued until December 15 to be set for trial.

NEWMARK'S FRIENDS AT LAST RITES

Private Service Closes Career of Widely Known Los Angeles Merchant

With the chapel banked with floral offerings and only members of his family and a few old friends present, private rites were conducted yesterday morning in the Los Angeles Crematory for Maurice A. Newmark, who for sixty-five years had aided in the molding of Southern California's commercial structure.

Mr. Newmark, 80 years of age, died last Friday night in Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, following a month's illness in which he suffered two attacks of lobar pneumonia.

Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin officiated at yesterday's services, relating how Mr. Newmark, through industry and foresight, became president of M. A. Newmark & Co., wholesale grocers.

Mr. Newmark built one of the early homes of Los Angeles on Spring street, near Sixth street. When the section became more valuable as business property Mr. Newmark had the structure moved to a site on South Vermont avenue, near Exposition Park, where it still stands.

He had made his home, however, since 1905 in the residence at 880 West Adams street, where his daughter Edna resides. He also leaves three sons, Robert, William and Alfred, all of Los Angeles.

STINGINESS CHARGE WINS DIVORCE SUIT

Stinginess was charged by George Bosomworth, watch repairer, yesterday in winning a divorce from Mary Bosomworth, whom he married in England thirty-six years ago. "She would spend a whole evening criticising me and our grown daughter for spending 5 or 10 cents more than she thought we should, for some necessity," asserted Bosomworth. "And she wouldn't let us go to places of amusement because she said it cost too much."

Superior Judge Craig granted Bosomworth a decree. The Bosomworths married in Helmsley, Yorkshire, Eng., December 17, 1894, and separated October 20, last.

INDIA VISITORS SHOCKED BY ANTI-ENGLISH FEELING

"Somebody here must be spreading a lot of bad propaganda against England in India. Why, we found it all over the United States—a lot of misinformation," said Charles Saker, a native of India, on arrival in Los Angeles yesterday.

"Without England's control, India would have a hard time competing in the world now so dominated by occidental ideals," he said, "and our people are not educated enough to be able to operate a democracy. What would happen if India were 'freed' from England is that educated cliques would keep the country in turmoil trying to gain control over each other. The great mass of people would not know what were the right things to do."

Natives of his country who selfishly might profit by ousting of India and American commercial interests who hope to benefit by a break between India and England are, in Saker's opinion, probably behind the propaganda which he believes has misled many intelligent persons.

Saker and his English wife have just completed a 13,000-mile automobile tour of the United States begun here four months ago. They are at the Hotel Clark. They will leave for Japan Monday.

"I am surprised at the prevalence of civilization in this country," Saker said. "Even in the little places away out from your cities I find the same state of civilization as in the cities. They have everything there, too, and are the same kind of people."

"You don't seem to make so much over the home," Mrs. Saker said. "We have been guests of many very wonderful persons and they meet us, take us out for entertainment and we have dinner in some public place. It is strange to one from a place where all this would be done in the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saker

"It is very expensive to travel and live here," Mrs. Saker added. "Three years ago we made a trip of this kind over Europe and I believe one can do much more and have a better time on much less money than here."

Saker is a civil engineer with Bengal-Napur Railroad. There is much rail development yet to come in India, he predicts.

JOHNSON IN COURT HERE AS LAWYER

Senator Fights Action to Set Aside Divorce Granted Herman Helbush

United States Senator Johnson yesterday made his first appearance in a local court in about twenty-five years when he appeared before United States District Judge Cosgrave in the divorce action between Gwyneth Helbush of San Francisco and Herman Helbush, wealthy business man of Los Angeles.

Senator Johnson appeared as attorney for Helbush to resist a motion to set aside a final decree of divorce granted to the husband April 10, 1929, based on an interlocutory decree previously granted the wife in 1924, but later condoned by the wife returning to live with her husband in the same year and until 1929.

Mrs. Helbush is seeking to set aside an assertedly ex parte final decree of divorce granted her husband in the Superior Court of San Francisco in 1929. The question involves about $500,000 in property. It was asserted by George Clark, attorney for Mrs. Helbush, that the decree violated the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution in that it deprived the wife of property without "due process of law."

The contention was resisted by Senator Johnson, who stated that the matter was once decided in favor of the husband by the State Supreme Court and should be brought only in the United States Supreme Court, not the United States District Court. The case was submitted on the constitutional question and was taken under submission.

ADVERTISING OVERCOMES DEPRESSION

Gilfillan's Increased Use of Printers' Ink Gives Factories Banner Pay Rolls

S. W. Gilfillan, president of Gilfillan Brothers, Inc., radio manufacturers, yesterday made public results of an experiment undertaken by the company to determine to what extent business depression and unemployment can be overcome by intensified advertising and sales effort.

S. W. GILFILLAN

On September 16, last, the company decided on an enlarged newspaper campaign including the doubling of its advertising on the Pacific Coast.

A careful check was kept on resulting effect on production and employment.

Yesterday Mr. Gilfillan gave out the figures compiled by R. J. McNeely, salesmanager of the company. They show the sales of the organization actually doubled since the beginning of the drive, and that more than 1100 operatives are working at top speed in the Gilfillan factories, the largest number of employees in the company's history.

"The increase was steady from the start of the expanded advertising and sales campaign," Mr. Gilfillan said. "Every week for the past eight weeks the number of employees has been increased, until now there are nearly three times as many people working in our factories as a year ago, when conditions presumably were much more favorable than they are now."

Court Appoints Attorney for Fitts Accuser

Trial of Charles (Cholo) Johnson, former Los Angeles police officer, charged with perjury as a result of testimony he gave against Dist.-Atty. Fitts during the trial of Frederick Girnau, accused of criminal libel, was deferred by Superior Judge Schauer yesterday when it was found that the defendant could not decide whom he wanted to represent him in court.

Judge Schauer appointed W. J. Ford as counsel for Johnson.

Williams, who flew from Maine to Spain in thirty-one hours and thirty-one minutes without stopping. Oscar Tripett of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, Cliff Henderson, manager of the National Air Races, and Harry Karst, special traffic representative of T. and W. A., also will be on the program, which includes entertainment. The dinner is open to the public.

COST ACCOUNTANTS TO HEAR OIL OFFICIAL

The Los Angeles Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Alexandria Hotel tonight. The meeting will take form of a dinner followed by a technical session. The speaker of the evening will be Merrill R. Lott of the Richfield Oil Company of California, who will discuss "Standards for Waste Elimination and Incentive for Performance."

WIFE TELLS NEW VERSION OF SHOOTING

Mrs. Tarlazzi Repudiates Asserted Confession on Death of Husband

Mrs. Frank Tarlazzi yesterday repudiated the confession in which police say she admitted having shot her husband five times during a family quarrel Sunday at their home, 1145 Los Palos street. Tarlazzi died later in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The grand jury will be asked to sift the case in an effort to determine the facts, police announced yesterday.

Mrs. Tarlazzi stated yesterday she was fighting with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Tarlazzi, for possession of a revolver, when it was discharged accidentally, the bullet entering Tarlazzi's abdomen.

The mother-in-law and Joe Lena, 66 years of age, a friend of the family, were booked yesterday as material witnesses. The wife is held on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

According to police, considerable drinking by members of the Tarlazzi family last Sunday preceded the breaking out of a quarrel and the fatal shooting.

FILM KIDNAP PLOT "ABSURD"

So Says Beverly Hills Police Chief of Rumors About Pickford and Lloyd Families

Rumors which gained some currency yesterday that the Beverly Hills police department had information concerning a supposed plot of gangsters to kidnap children of wealthy screen stars were dismissed as absurd by Chief Blair of the Beverly Hills police.

Mary Pickford's ward, Gwynne Pickford, and Harold Lloyd's two daughters, Mildred Gloria and Marjorie Elizabeth, were identified in the rumors as the first prizes to be sought by the mysterious gangsters. Spokesmen for both these families, however, asserted that they had received no threats of any sort which would indicate that the children were in any danger.

Chief Blair said the probable cause of the rumors is the fact that within the past week he has supplied watchmen from his department for the Pickford and Lloyd estates. He added that this was in no way unusual, as all of the large estates in Beverly Hills employ watchmen and many of the citizens ask him to obtain the watchmen for them. After receiving such a request, he said, he generally sends one of his own men to do the work until he has been able to find a private watchman whom he considers satisfactory.

That is what happened, he said, in the present instances and the policemen he had on temporary duty at the Pickford and Lloyd homes has in each case been replaced by a private watchman.

The spokesman for Miss Pickford said the necessity of hiring a new watchman arose only because a man who had been doing the work had been dismissed, and he ridiculed the suggestion that the new watchman is an extra guard.

While the spokesman for the Lloyds asserted that the family has no basis for any fear, he said it is true that Mrs. Lloyd has become worried by the great amount of news about kidnapers which has been appearing in the local papers recently and told her husband, who is in New York, about these newspaper stories during a telephone conversation last week.

He advised her that it would probably be best for her peace of mind to hire an additional watchman for their home and she followed his advice, the family spokesman said. In a telegram which Lloyd sent his wife several days later, he asked jestingly whether she had heard anything more about kidnapers, and it is thought that someone who saw that telegram may have been responsible for the rumors concerning a "plot."
